CREDO OF SPRING HILL

SPRING HILL COLLEGE refuses to subscribe to the doctrine that "academic freedom" may be used as a pretext to teach systems which destroy all freedom. We proudly boast that it has always taught and always will teach the following creed:

We believe in God

We believe in the personal dignity of man

We believe that man has certain rights which come from God and not from the State

We therefore are opposed to all forms of dictatorships which hold that the "total man" (totalitarianism) belongs to the State

We believe in the sanctity of the home—the basic unit of Society

We believe in the natural right of private property, but likewise that private property has its social obligations

We believe that Labor has not only rights but obligations

We believe that Capital has not only rights but obligations

We are vigorously opposed to all forms of racism—persecution or intolerance because of race

We believe that liberty is a sacred thing, but that law, which regulates liberty, is a sacred obligation

We believe in inculcating all the essential liberties of American Democracy and take open and frank issue with all brands of spurious "democracy."

We believe, briefly, in the teachings of Christ, who held that morality must regulate the personal, family, economic, political and international life of men if civilization is to endure.

GENERAL INFORMATION AND REGULATIONS

GENERAL INFORMATION

HISTORICAL SKETCH

The first bishop of Mobile, the Right Reverend Michael Portier, D.D., laid the corner stone of the first building of Spring Hill College on July 4, 1830. It stood on the site of the present Administration Building and was opened for classes in November, 1831. Five years later, the Governor of Alabama signed the legislative bill which chartered the Bishop's seminary-college and gave it "full power to grant or confer such degree or degrees in the arts and sciences, or in any art or science . . . as are usually granted or conferred by other seminaries of learning in the United States." This power was used in the following year, 1837, when four graduates received their degrees. Spring Hill thus takes its place among the three oldest colleges in the South, while of Jesuit Boarding Colleges, it is the oldest after Georgetown.

As the years went on and the college enrollment rose from thirty to more than a hundred, the Bishop found it more and more difficult to provide from the limited personnel of his missionary clergy the necessary minimum of priest-teachers and administrators. The first two Presidents of Spring Hill were called away to be Bishops, one to Dubuque (Bishop Loras), the other to Vincennes (Bishop Bazin), and the third, Father Mauvernay died after a very brief term of office. Reluctantly, Bishop Portier was compelled to transfer his college to a newly arrived French Congregation, the Fathers of Mercy. With little or no experience in teaching, these zealous missionaries found the direction of Spring Hill a thankless task and gave it up after two years. A similar experiment with the Eudists succeeded no better, and in 1845 the College suspended operations, pending some new arrangement.

In this crisis the Lyons province of the Society of Jesus was persuaded to take over Spring Hill, and the new regime was inaugurated with Father Francis Gautrelet, S.J., as President, in September, 1847. Since that time through many vicissitudes, the Jesuit Fathers have directed the policies of the college and endeavored to make it a center of liberal culture. During the Civil War, studies continued without interruption, but a costly fire in 1869 destroyed the main building and required the removal of students and faculty to St. Charles College, Grand Coteau, Louisiana. Through the generous aid of many friends, particularly Bishop Quinlan, "the second founder," a new building rose on the site of the old, and the new Spring Hill opened its doors.

GROUNDS AND BUILDINGS

THE COLLEGE CAMPUS occupies some 700 acres of the elevation which gives its name to this residential suburb of Mobile. The city and bay are both visible from the hill and easily accessible either by bus or by the famous Old Shell Road, which passes the college gates. The village of Spring Hill has a post office, but no railroad station. The prospective student or visitor

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS AND EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

GENERAL ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Admission to the various programs of study at Spring Hill College is open to qualified men and women, but living accommodations on the campus are restricted to men.

The College requires for admission the satisfactory completion of a four year course in a secondary school approved by a recognized accrediting agency. All candidates for admission to Freshman year must present sixteen units in acceptable subjects. A unit represents a year's study in any subject, constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work. This definition of a unit takes the four-year high school as a basis and assumes that the length of the school year is from thirty-six to forty weeks, that a period is from forty-five to sixty minutes in length, and that the study is pursued for four or five periods a week. Candidates are admitted either by certificate or by examination.

Students from countries where the English language is not the vernacular are required to have a sufficient mastery of the English language to enable them to follow class lectures without difficulty. No special classes in English will be provided by the college for these students.

Blank forms of entrance certificates which are to be used in every case may be had on application to the Registrar. Certificates must be made out and signed by the Principal, or other recognized officer of the secondary school, and sent by him directly to the Registrar. Such certificates upon submission become the property of the College, whether the applicant is accepted or not.

ADMISSION BY CERTIFICATE

Admission unconditionally by certificate is granted applicants graduating from approved secondary schools provided: (1) their 16 high school units include 12 of strictly academic nature (i.e., English, Mathematics, Languages, History, Natural Science, Social Science), and specifically such as correlate in the opinion of the Board of Admission with the course which the candidate intends to pursue; (2) that the student's rank in his high school class be better than that of the lowest quartile, or that his general average in academic courses be the equivalent of C or better; and (3) that there is satisfactory evidence of personal character and other qualities deemed requisite by the College for desirable students.

ADMISSION ON PROBATION

Upon special recommendation of their Principal, graduates of four year non-accredited high schools will be admitted without examination on probation for their first semester, provided they fully satisfy the quantitative and qualitative entrance requirements enumerated above. Admission on probation, but with a limited schedule, may also be granted by the Board of Admissions to students who though otherwise acceptable are ranked in the lowest quartile of their high school class, provided there is additional evidence of seriousness of purpose and reasonable prospect of success in college. Students on probation are liable to dismissal for poor scholarship at the end of the semester unless they restore themselves to academic good standing (see ACADEMIC STANDING).

ADMISSION BY EXAMINATION

Applicants, who are not entitled to admission by certificate, may with permission of the Board of Admission take examinations for admission. Arrangements for these examinations must be made not later than two weeks before the beginning of a semester. Applicants who are rejected for reasons of character or academic ranking are not eligible for these examinations.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Students applying for admission from other institutions of collegiate rank will be given advanced standing provided the courses taken are considered comparable to those given at Spring Hill. In the evaluation of previous work, no credit will be accepted for courses in which a grade of less than C has been received. The transfer student must also present an honorable dismissal from the last institution attended.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

Mature and earnest students who are lacking in the required units or persons who wish to pursue particular studies without reference to graduation or students matriculated at another college who wish to pursue courses at Spring Hill with the approval of their Dean, may be admitted by the permission of the Dean to such courses of their own choice as they seem qualified to take.

STATEMENT OF THE OBJECTIVES

Ultimate Objectives

As a Jesuit Liberal Art College, Spring Hill has the same primary purpose at the Catholic educational system taken in its entirety. This is best expressed in the words of Pope Pius XI: "The proper and immediate end of Christian education is to cooperate with divine grace in forming the true and perfect Christian, that is, to form Christ Himself in those regenerated by baptism . . . The true Christian, product of Christian education, is the supernatural man who thinks, judges and acts constantly and consistently in accordance with right reason, illuminated by the supernatural light of the example and teaching of Christ; in other words, to use the current term, the true and finished men of character."

Immediate Objectives

It is in terms of this end that the Jesuit College of Liberal Arts conceives its special function in contemporary American life. Obviously, then, it will not neglect the field of religion. Instruction in Catholic faith and morals will always be a part of its task. But it is not the whole. The Jesuit college by its traditions can never be content with simply presenting Catholicism as a creed, a code or a cult. It must strive to communicate the riches of Catholicism as a culture, thus giving the modern man a coign of vantage whence to view with understanding not merely the facts in the natural order, but those in the supernatural order also, those facts which give meaning and coherence to the whole life.

Jesuit education regards the college of liberal arts as the heart of its system. It is through the instrumentality of such colleges that Catholic leaders will be formed, men and women who have been trained spiritually and intellectually in the Catholic sense, who have intelligent and appreciative contact with Catholicism as a culture, who through their general education in the college of arts have so developed their powers of mind and heart and will that they can take an active part in the service of Church and society.

The Jesuit college in its teaching aims at reaching the whole man, his intellect, his will, his emotions, his senses, his imagination, his aesthetic sensibilities, his memory, and his powers of expression. It seeks to lift up man's whole being to that broad, spiritual outlook on life whereby he not only understands and appreciates the fact that our entire social heritage is bound up with the Truth, Goodness and Beauty of God as seen in Revelation, Nature, Art and Language, but is likewise willing and ready to become identified with those activities, individual as well as collective, that make for the sanctification of the individual and the betterment of society.

The Jesuit college strives to provide a broad foundation in general education, upon which advanced study in a special field may be built.

Vocational Objectives

In addition to these objectives held in common with all Jesuit colleges, Spring Hill aims by proper direction in the choice of elective studies to prepare her graduates for successful work in professional schools, in business, and in teaching.

Specific Objectives of the Various Academic Degrees

The objective of the Arts (A.B.) degree or curriculum is to give a balanced cultural education as a foundation for full living. This objective is to be attained through the humanistic and philosophic disciplines, supplemented by training in scientific and mathematical thinking, the entire curriculum to be integrated by acquaintance with the social and religious factors that have entered into the making of Western civilization, and that contribute to the solution of contemporary problems.

The objective of the Science (B.S.) degree or curriculum is to give by means of natural or social sciences, a thorough training in the scientific method as a basis of sound scientific thinking, balanced by cultural training in language, literature and history, and the fine arts, and correlated as intimately as possible with scholastic philosophy.

The objective of the Commerce (B.S.C.) degree or curriculum is to give a systematic and balanced training in the problems and principles of business administration with specialization in one of three fields related to the world of commerce, supplemented by cultural work in language, history and scholastic philosophy.

Objectives of Pre-professional Curricula

The PRE-LEGAL COURSE prepares the student for admission to various recognized Law Schools of the United States by three years of degree work, with emphasis on the social sciences.

The PRE-MEDICAL COURSE enables the student to fulfill the entrance requirements of the various Class A Medical Schools taking three years of degree work with emphasis on the pre-medical sciences.

The PRE-DENTAL COURSE in three years qualifies the student for admission to various Class A Dental Schools. The curriculum is much the same as that of the pre-medical course.

The ENGINEERING COURSE supplies the mathematical deficiencies of the beginning engineering student and gives him at least the first year of basic engineering, common to all engineering curricula. To finish his course the student must transfer after one or two years to a fully accredited Engineering School.

The NURSING COURSE, while preparing the nursing students of the City Hospital and Providence Hospital of Mobile for their diplomas as Registered Nurses, gives them two years of accredited courses towards a Bachelors' degree in Nursing Education.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE WELFARE OF THE STUDENTS

THE DISCIPLINE

Spring Hill is committed to the belief that a system of education which discounts the formation of character is pernicious. For this reason opportunity is given to learn the important lesson of obedience to salutary laws and restraints. Everywhere necessary for ordered living, discipline is imperative when restless youths are forming a community of their own, as they do in a boarding school. Whatever the age of the students, and their opinion of their abilities to shape their own lives, the authorities of the school feel for their charges the responsibility of a parent. Rules are therefore made governing the out-of-class life of the students, particularly their social activities and absences from the campus. These rules and the sanctions for their observance are made known to the student from the beginning. Their enforcement, while considerate, is unflinchingly firm. Campus discipline is administered through the office of the Dean of Men.

DISCIPLINARY PENALTIES

Naturally, in addition to minor breaches of college discipline, there occur at times serious offenses which require drastic punishment, even suspension or dismissal from college. Such are: serious insubordination, repeated violation of regulations, neglect of studies, possession or use of intoxicating liquors; habitual use of obscene or profane language, and in general any serious forms of immorality. In cases of the suspension or dismissal of a student for such reason the tuition fee is not refunded.

Without committing any overt act of the kind described in the preceding paragraph, a student may at times by constant and ill-founded criticism, or an habitual attitude of opposition to the college government become an undesirable member of the community. For such cases the college reserves the right to request any student to withdraw from school, with, however, an honorable dismissal, and the refund of such fees as may be refundable by the treasurer's regulations.

RELIGIOUS LIFE OF STUDENTS

The College is a Catholic institution intended primarily for Catholic students, but it does not exclude those of other religious beliefs who may wish to take advantage of its system of education. As a rule about 25 per cent of the whole student body, and about 5 per cent of the boarding students are non-Catholic. Special courses in religion are provided for non-Catholics to replace the required courses in Catholic religion. They are permitted and encouraged to attend their own religious obligations on Sunday. By exception they are expected and required to assist as a part of the student body at the collegiate chapel services listed in the annual College Calendar.

The Catholic students are given every opportunity to learn their religion in theory and in practice. A graded course in Religion is offered, running through four years, and all Catholics are obliged to register for these courses. Credits are given for the courses and required for graduation.

Week-day Mass is required of all Catholic boarding students. Frequent, even daily, Communion is encouraged and quite generally practiced. Special devotions are practiced towards the Sacred Heart on the first Friday of the month, and towards the Blessed Virgin Mary during the months of October and May. A wonderful occasion of grace for many is the annual three-day Retreat given in the first semester and obligatory on all Catholic students, boarders and day scholars alike. The day scholars will be charged a nominal fee for board and lodging during the three days of the exercises.

One of the Fathers on the faculty is appointed as counsellor or advisor of the students. His principal duty is to direct the spiritual activities of the college and the various religious societies and sodalities, in regard to which he exercises much the same supervision as the Dean of Men exercises in his department.

VETERANS' EDUCATION

The College is approved for the education of veterans under Public Laws 346, 16 and 550, covering veterans of World War II and the Korean war. Accordingly it is the policy of the school to afford these men every opportunity for study compatible with their educational background and the scope of the institution.

Full credit will be given for courses and training completed in military service. In this matter the college will be guided by the American Council on Education in its publication entitled, Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services.

Special guidance is provided for the veterans and special facilities are offered for their admission by examination when their high school course was interrupted by war service.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

As college education is accomplished not only during the hours of class but also in no small degree during the students' interchange of ideas at other periods, the College heartily encourages all student organizations which help to develop in the student initiative, self-reliance and leadership in organized religious and social movements, qualities which are expected of college men generally.

PRINCIPAL STUDENT GROUPS

Student Council

This is the co-ordinating group for all the campus organizations. Representation on the council is enjoyed by all the recognized clubs. The President of the Council is elected by the student body and represents them in all petitions to the faculty.

RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

Sodality

The Sodality began its work at Spring Hill in 1847 and has never ceased to represent the loyalty of the students to the Mother of God. Regular meetings are held, and various works of zeal had charity undertaken under the sponsorship of this organization.

Apostleship of Prayer and League of the Sacred Heart

This organization fosters among Spring Hill students the ideal of reparation and devotion to the Sacred Heart.

St. John Berchmans Sanctuary Society

The Sanctuary Society is an association of those Catholic men students who serve at the altar during the various liturgical functions.

ACADEMIC SOCIETIES

Alpha Sigma Nu

This is the Jesuit Honor Fraternity open to those holding highest academic rank in the Senior class.

Alpha Psi Omega

The College chapter of the national honorary dramatic fraternity, Eta Epsilon Cast, was established in 1938. It aims to promote interest in college dramatics and to provide a wide fellowship for those interested in college productions. Membership is open to qualified Yenni players actively engaged in dramatics.

Beta Beta Beta

This national fraternity in biology has a very active chapter at Spring Hill. Meetings are held twice a month, with guest speakers a frequent attraction. The Mendelian is published monthly by the group.

Chemical Society

This organization, a chapter of Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society, whose membership is restricted to chemistry majors, engages in such activities as are calculated to foster a professional attitude toward and pride in chemistry.

International Relations Club

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace approved in 1940 the opening of this campus club at Spring Hill. The purpose of its monthly meetings is to enlighten student opinion on world affairs. A special library is maintained.

Philomelic Academy

This youngest organization on the Spring Hill campus is devoted to the study and appreciation of classical as well as modern music masters. Its meetings and auditions are open to the public.

Pi Kappa Delta

The College chapter of the national honorary forensenic fraternity was installed in 1947 to promote the interests of intercollegiate oratory, debate and public speaking. The membership is recruited by nomination from the Portier Debating Academy.

Portier Debating Academy

The purpose of this organization, named for the founder of the College, is to foster forensics. From its ranks the intercollegiate debating team is usually chosen. The Academy sponsors the annual Azalea Debate Tournament, which draws competing intercollegiate teams from many parts of the nation.

Yenni Dramatic Society

This society, an offshoot of the Portier in 1935, aims to develop a practical interest in the drama. It promotes this interest by encouraging playwriting, acting, directing and stage designing in all phases of dramatic art.

SOCIAL GROUPS

In addition to the organizations previously listed there are also those, such as state clubs and social fraternities, whose object is to contribute to the social activities of the student body.

The S-Club, with membership limited to major athletic winners, has as its objective the promotion of greater student interest in intercollegiate athletics. It also sponsors social activities to a limited degree.

ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

In the intercollegiate athletic competition, Spring Hill is a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, and its athletic teams engage those of other colleges in basketball, baseball, tennis and golf.

Intramural sports play an adequate part in the extra-curricular life of the student body at Spring Hill. Facilities for various seasonal intramural sports are available on the campus. With participation optional, teams are formed under the guidance of the intramural director for competition in touch-football, basketball and softball. Off-campus intramural athletics include among others, a bowling league. Trophies are provided for the winners in the various intramural sports.

Tennis courts, an eighteen-hole golf course and a large spring-fed lake are other facilities offered for student participation in athletic activity.

ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

SESSIONS

The school year begins in the middle of September and ends in the beginning of June. The year is divided into two semesters or sessions of eighteen weeks each. The first semester ends during the last week of January. The second begins immediately thereafter.

ATTENDANCE

Since the purpose of college education is not only to impart information and develop the mental faculties, but also, if not chiefly, to train the student in habits of punctuality and fidelity to duty, prompt attendance at all class meetings is constantly stressed, and the co-operation of parents and guardians in this important matter is earnestly requested. The date of registration and the limits of the various holiday periods are clearly stated in this catalog, and will be strictly adhered to.

Although for grave reasons the Dean may grant an excuse from class attendance, the responsibility for seeing to it that unauthorized absences from class meetings do not exceed the tolerated maximum rests directly on the individual student (the tolerated maximum within a limit of six equals twice the number of class meetings per week of the course). The penalty for excessive absence in any course is enforced withdrawal from that course, and accordingly no credit will be given for the course. In special cases the delinquent may be reinstated by the Committee on Appeals upon written petition of the student. An absence in any course from the last class immediately preceding or from the first class immediately following holiday periods counts triple.

Failure in prompt attendance is regarded as a partial absence or total absence, if in excess of ten minutes. Two partial absences will be equivalent to one absence. No absences from laboratory periods are excused and missed laboratory work must be done at the convenience of the instructor. These extra laboratory periods are subject to special fee (see FEES AND EXPENSES).

AMOUNT OF WORK

The unit for computing the amount of a student's work is the semester hour, which is defined as approximately one hour of class lecture, recitation or demonstration per week for a semester. Two hours of preparation by the student for each class hour is presumed. Laboratory periods are double. In general, one semester hour represents for the average student ordinarily about three hours of actual work each week throughout one semester, divided appropriately between lecture or laboratory periods and out-of-class preparation. A normal student load is about seventeen semester hours per week and no boarding student will be allowed to register in any semester for fewer than twelve hours; to receive financial assistance under Public Law 550, veterans must schedule a minimum of fourteen hours. Unusual programs need special approval of the Dean for completion of registration.

EXAMINATIONS AND GRADES

Final examinations are held in all courses at the end of each semester, student grades in various courses are determined by these examinations together with all intra-semester recitations, quizzes and tests. Missed examinations, with or without justifying excuse, must be taken eventually.

The following system of grading is used. Each semester hour of credit is valued as follows:

- A excellent, with 4 quality points per hour of credit.
- B good, with 3 quality points per hour of credit.
- C fair, with 2 quality points per hour of credit.
- D deficient, but passed with 1 quality point per hour of credit.
- E not passed, but entitled to re-examination for passing grade.
- F failed, without right to re-examination.

The student should note that the grade D, although passing, indicates unsatisfactory work.

A grade of E may be incurred for deficiency in recitations, quizzes, examinations or other assigned work. Deficiency in examinations is removable by supplementary examination, subject to fee payable in advance, to be administered on dates set by the Dean; failing to register for these supplementary examinations upon official publication of schedule by the Dean's office the student waives his right to re-examination. Successful completion of supplementary examination entitles the student to a grade of D only. Deficiency due to failure to complete assigned work may be removed by making up the required work within the time limit set by the Dean. This ordinarily entails a fine of two dollars and, where laboratory work is required, the additional fees for make-up laboratory periods.

The grade E may be improved only while the student is still enrolled at the College; hence the grade E given in any semester at the end of which the student withdraws from the College automatically becomes an F on his permanent record.

ACADEMIC STANDING

In order that a student maintain the required academic standing and continue in course, he must meet the following minimum standards: at the end of the first semester of Freshman year, he must have a quality quotient of 1.5; second semester, 1.6; first semester of Sophomore year, 1.7; second semester, 1.8; first semester of Junior year, 1.9; at the end of each subsequent semester, 2.0. The quality quotient is obtained by dividing the number of credit hours attempted into the number of quality points earned. For example, a student who has attempted 90 credit hours and earned 180 quality points would have a 2.0 quality quotient.

Students failing to meet the quality requirements specified above will be placed on probation for one semester. Low grades and neglect of work within the semester will also render the student liable to probation; failure to improve will entail reduction of schedule with a permanent record of failure in the subject cancelled.

If the student is unable to raise his quality of work to the required minimum after one semester on probation he will be subject to suspension from the college. Only rarely and for very grave reasons will the probation of a student be extended beyond one semester. Students on scholastic probation may be excluded from participation in extra-curricular activities and will schedule no more than fourteen and no less than twelve semester hours.

STUDENT RANK

A student is ranked as a Sophomore who enjoys good standing academically and who has at least thirty credit hours; as a Junior, who has been received into a program of concentration; as a Senior, who has been recommended by his department chairman as a candidate for graduation.

REPORTS

At least four times a year, i.e., in November, January, April and July detailed reports of scholarship and conduct are issued from the Dean's office. At other times also similar reports will be furnished to interested parents or guardians upon request.

WITHDRAWAL

Students who for any reason withdraw from college during the semester must give previous notice to the Registrar. Failure to do this within reasonable time will incur forfeiture of right to an honorable dismissal.

TRANSCRIPT OF RECORD

Students wishing transcript of records in order to transfer from this college to another, or for any other purpose, should make early and seasonable application for the same. No statements will be made out during the busy periods of examinations and registrations. The first transcript of record is furnished free. For each additional copy there is a charge of one dollar.

PROGRAMS OF CURRICULA

Although there are students who, when they enter college, have not made up their minds with any degree of certainty as to the career that they intend to follow, this does not mean that even their program cannot be constructive. In any instance the directing principle of a well-planned program of studies should not be chiefly vocational. A student who intends to study medicine will naturally see that he includes all those subjects which the medical school require for admission, but in addition he should not forget that a good doctor must also be a good human being and that he needs besides his specialized medical knowledge a wide range of interests and cultivated tastes. The best medical schools prefer candidates who have not had a narrowly specialized training in college. Similarly, a student who is planning to go into law or engineering should not try to limit himself in college to subjects which appear to be immediately contributory to legal or engineering studies. A student, when making his choice of program, must realize that presumably he has before himself a lifetime of necessary specialization, but only three or four years of freedom in which to study the interrelation of ideas and knowledge, to broaden his intellectual interest and human sympathies, to fit himself to take his part as an intelligent man in the social, economic, political and religious order that lies ahead of him.

The ideal college education should prepare a man to live — physically, mentally and spiritually — up to his fullest capacity, to cooperate with and understand other men while still preserving the integrity of his own individual character, to establish for himself the standards of thinking and conduct which shall give direction to all his activities, to see new possibilities in existing conditions of life and to adapt himself to other conditions in which he may find himself in the future. An education so conceived is what is called a liberal education as opposed to an education restricted to vocational training. In a liberal education mathematics and the sciences, literature and the other arts, history, philosophy and religion are studied as means to liberalizing the human spirit, to freeing a man from the narrowing restrictions of a single environment and the single age in which he lives. An adequate knowledge of the past is our only means of acquiring the necessary experience with which to meet the future. Such an education as is described here can prepare a man adequately for the privileges and the responsibilities of citizenship in the world of today.

The programs of curricula listed below are designed to assist the student in the achievement of the goals outlined above. For convenience of reference these programs of curricular are listed in some detail. Special attention is called to the following requirement, applicable in all instances where modern language study is part of the curriculum.

Those who take an Elementary Modern Language in Freshman year are obliged to continue the same language in Sophomore year; the degree requirement is successful passing of a reading test given at the end of the Intermediate course.

ACADEMIC CURRICULA

Liberal Arts (A.B.) Page 32

This course builds upon a foundation in classical and modern language and provides concentration in English, French, German, Greek, or Spanish literature, History or Philosophy in preparation for the degree Bachelor of Arts.

Fine Arts (B.S.) Page 33

This course offers a general program of studies with concentration in dramatic art, or painting in preparation for the degree Bachelor of Science.

Natural Science (B.S.) Page 36

This course builds upon a foundation in mathematics and natural science and provides intensive concentration in biology, chemistry, mathematics or physics in preparation for the degree Bachelor of Science.

Social Science Page 39

This course provides a foundation in language, literature, philosophy and the social sciences, and offers concentration in economics, education, English, French, German, or Spanish literature, history, philosophy, political science, or sociology in preparation for the degree Bachelor of Science.

Commercial Science (B.S.C.) Page 45

This course provides a foundation in accounting, commerce and economics and offers concentration in accounting, business administration, secretarial and office management, or commercial education in preparation for the degree Bachelor of Science in Commerce.

Non-degree Courses Page 49

These courses are based upon the first two or three years of programs allied to the professional fields for which the student may be preparing. Special basic courses suitable to this preparation are offered to supplement these programs and to meet requirements for admission to accredited professional schools of dentistry, engineering, law, and medicine.

Education

Students who wish to prepare for teaching careers in high school may fulfill all requirements for necessary teaching certificates while working on their degree programs. Those desiring to meet certification requirements for states other than Alabama should obtain from the Dean a special program. The requirements for such certification in the State of Alabama are outlined below.

CLASS B SECONDARY TEMPORARY PROFESSIONAY CERTIFICATE

A Class B Secondary Temporary Professional Certificate may be issued to a person who presents credentials showing:

1. That he has graduated with a bachelor's or master's degree from a standard institution and has met requirements as prescribed by the State Board of Education for the training of secondary teachers (Spring Hill is such an institution);
2. That he has earned prescribed semester hours credits as follows: Education (18), including Psychology (3-8), Principles and Philosophy (2-6), Electives in the fields of Secondary Education (4-12), English (12), Social Studies (12), including courses, each of which has a credit value from 2 to 4 hours in 2 of the following fields: History, Economics, Political Science, Sociology, or Geography; Science (6).
3. That he has to his credit an academic Major of (18) hours in an approved subject;
4. That he has to his credit an academic Minor of (12) hours in an approved subject.

A Class B Secondary Temporary Professional Certificate is valid for a period of three years and is the authority of the holder to teach the subjects named in its face and other high school subjects as conditions may require. This certificate cannot be continued or reinstated.

If the holder of this certificate expects to continue to teach after it expires, he must meet requirements for a Class B Secondary Professional Certificate or a Class A Secondary Professional Certificate.

CLASS B SECONDARY PROFESSIONAL CERTIFICATE

To the requirements for the Class B Secondary Temporary Professional Certificate the following must be added to obtain a Class B Secondary Professional Certificate:

1. Education (6), including Psychology (3), Principles and Philosophy (2), Materials and Methods of Teaching Major or Minor Subjects in High School (2-6), Directed Teaching of Major or Minor Subject in High School (2-8), Electives in the field of Secondary Education (0-19);
2. The academic Major in approved subjects must be 24 semester hours;
3. The academic Minor in approved subject must be 18 semester hours.

A Class B Secondary Professional Certificate is a conditional permanent certificate which is valid in periods of eight years and is the authority of the holder to teach the subjects named in its face and other high school subjects as conditions may require.

The program outlined below is recommended to students who wish to meet Alabama requirements. This program leads to the degree B.S. in Social Science as well as the Class B Secondary Professional Teaching Certificate granted by the State of Alabama. The program provides academic major and minor concentration in English, Political Science or Sociology and a professional minor in Education. Other academic fields of concentration in the Liberal Arts and Natural Sciences may be substituted by special approval of the Dean in place of those named above. A similar program in Commercial Education is presented on page 48.

NATIONAL TEACHER EXAMINATION

Students enrolled in the Department of Education must take the National Teacher Examination sometime during their course, and make the results of these examinations a part of their permanent record. The National Teacher Examinations are administered annually at SPRING HILL COLLEGE. The special student rate given by the National Office will be charged to the student. This rate for the Common and Optional Examinations is $4.50.

OBSERVATION AND PRACTICE TEACHING

In order to supplement its instruction in educational principles, aims, methods, curricula and procedure, and to cultivate professional skill in teaching, SPRING HILL COLLEGE has secured the cooperation of the McGill Institute and the Convent of Mercy Academy of Mobile. Through the courtesy of their administration and teachers, these schools thus become the proving ground for the professional students of the Department of Education, who have free access to their classrooms for observation of the methods practiced therein and for supervised practice teaching. Cooperating with the State Department of Education, SPRING HILL COLLEGE requires that its candidates for degree with a major in education present a minimum of 4 semester hours in observation and practice teaching with a minimum of 45 full periods of class teaching and 45 hours of observation.

Reserve Officers Training Corps

SPRING HILL COLLEGE has a Transportation Unit of the U. S. Army Reserve Officers Training Corps to provide instruction in Military Science and Tactics. The general object of the ROTC is to qualify students for positions of leadership in time of national emergency.

The immediate objective of the four year course of instruction in military science and tactics is to produce junior officers with required qualities of leadership. Upon successful completion of this course and having also fulfilled requirements for an academic degree the student is commissioned a Second Lieutenant, Officers Reserve Corps, United States Army. All regularly enrolled undergraduate students, who are physically qualified and citizens of the United States between the ages of 14 and 23 are eligible for enrollment. The course is optional and is divided into a two-year basic course and a two-year advanced course. Further details of the program will be furnished upon inquiry.

THE THOMAS BYRNE
MEMORIAL LIBRARY
SPRING HILL COLLEGE
SPRING HILL, ALA.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

The conditions to be satisfied in order that a baccalaureate degree be earned may be classified under the following headings.

1. COURSE REQUIREMENT

The required subjects for various degrees are as follows:

Prescribed for the A.B. Degree

Latin (12), Greek or Modern Language (6-12), English (12), Science (6), Mathematics (3), History (6), Religion (16), Logic (3), Metaphysics (6), Psychology (3), Ethics (6), Sociology (6), Public Speaking (2), Art or Music (4).

Prescribed for the B.S. Degree (Natural Sciences)

Biology (8) and Chemistry (8), or Chemistry (8) and Physics (8), Mathematics (6), English (12), Modern Language (6-12), History (6), Logic (3), Metaphysics (6), Ethics (6), Psychology (3), Religion (16).

Prescribed for the B.S. Degree (Social Sciences)

Modern Language (12), English (12), Science (6), Mathematics (3), History (12), Political Science, Sociology or Economics (6), Religion (16), Logic (3), Metaphysics (6), Ethics (6), Public Speaking (2), Psychology (3).

Prescribed for the B.S.C. Degree (Commerce)

Mathematics (6), Business Law (6), English (12), History (6), Public Speaking (2), Religion (16), Logic (3), Metaphysics (6), Psychology (3), Ethics (6).

2. QUANTITATIVE REQUIREMENT

In order to qualify for a baccalaureate degree the student must present a program of studies consisting of not less than 132 semester hours of work, including the courses listed in the preceding section appropriate to the degree he seeks.

3. QUALITATIVE REQUIREMENT

A candidate for a degree must obtain not only the number of credits required, but his work must reach a certain standard of excellence. In addition to the 132 hours credit necessary for graduation, each student must have an average grade of C or better. No student will be advanced to candidacy for any collegiate degree unless he is in academic good standing at the beginning of his last semester. Courses in which a student is given a grade lower than C may be repeated and the student's permanent record will include grades of both attempts. For purposes of computing quality quotient the average of the two grades is used.

4. LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

All candidates for academic degrees must pass satisfactorily a reading test in French, German or Spanish to be administered after they have completed the intermediate course. Furthermore, a test in proficiency in English is given to all Sophomores; successful completion of this test by the beginning of the semester in which the student plans to graduate is a prerequisite to graduation for all candidates.

5. CONCENTRATION REQUIREMENT

Toward the end of his sophomore year each student is to elect a subject for his major concentration. This election, however, is to be made only after consultation with the academic adviser. Students may be admitted to any program of concentration that they desire, provided they have completed with a C grade or better all the prerequisites to their chosen department of concentration.

There must be completed a major sequence in some subject (or at the discretion of the department concerned and with the approval of the Dean, in some closely related group of subjects) and a minor sequence in another subject. The uniform requirement for a major sequence in any department is a program of eighteen hours of upper division courses; for a minor sequence, a program of twelve hours of upper division courses. A major may be changed only by the consent of the Dean and the heads of the departments concerned, and such changes will be permitted only upon the distinct understanding that all the courses prescribed in the major finally chosen shall be completed before graduation.

6. COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION

At the end of his senior year the candidate for a degree must pass a comprehensive examination on the various courses offered as a major. Candidates for honors at graduation (see below) must also present an acceptable thesis for the approval of the Dean.

7. RESIDENCE REQUIREMENT

The senior year (or 24 of the last 30 semester hours of work), together with fifty per cent of the course work required in each area of the field of concentration, must be made at Spring Hill College.

8. APPLICATION FOR DEGREE

All applicants for a degree must file their applications and present their credits and the evidence of having met all requirements listed above on or before the first of March preceding commencement.

Students taking any of the last six hours at another institution must complete this work before they may file their application for a degree. The degree will be granted at the next commencement exercises after the session in which the final work was completed.

9. GRADUATION FEE

A graduation fee of fifteen dollars is payable in advance and a settlement of all indebtedness to the College must be made.

SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS

GRADUATION HONORS

The honors at graduation to be inscribed on the diplomas, read at commencement and published in the lists of graduates are granted on the basis of quality points in their ratio to the total number of credit hours carried and are awarded according to the following scale: maxima cum laude for a quality quotient of 3.9; magna cum laude for a quality quotient of 3.7; cum laude for a quality quotient of 3.5.

PRIZES AND TROPHIES

To encourage the students of SPRING HILL COLLEGE in the development of initiative, self-reliance and leadership in various phases of college life the following prizes and trophies are awarded in recognition of outstanding achievement. In most instances the awards are made annually.

The balance is returned to the parents when the student withdraws from the College. In case a student fails to occupy a room after reservation, the deposit will not be returned, unless notice of withdrawal is received one month before scheduled occupancy of room.

REGULATIONS OF THE TREASURER

All checks should be made payable to SPRING HILL COLLEGE and addressed directly to the Treasurer's Office. Those desiring to send Postal Money Orders should have them drawn on the Mobile Post Office. Payments made from countries outside continental United States should be made payable in New York or New Orleans exchange.

All minor expenses, for books, stationery, etc., are on a strictly cash basis. Money for the personal accounts should be sent directly to the student, who alone will be responsible to the parents or guardians for an itemized statement of expenditures. This money may be deposited for safe keeping with the Treasurer, but in this case parents must state in writing a definite amount for weekly withdrawals by the student. No advance of money will ever be made at any time for any purpose whatever. In case of emergency, students should have money wired to them.

Should a student leave before the end of the semester, a deduction for board and room rental will be made for the remainder of the semester, beginning with the first of the following month. No adjustment will be made for tuition and fees after the first six weeks. The date on which notice is received by the Treasurer from the Registrar's Office is considered the date of withdrawal.

No student may have an honorable dismissal nor will he be given credit for his studies or be admitted to the examination in January or May until all indebtedness to the College has been settled.

PLAN OF PAYMENTS

The general regulation calls for payments at beginning of each semester. Any other arrangement for payment must be made in advance with the Treasurer; details for such arrangements may be secured from the Treasurer.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND STUDENT AID

Scholarships

Realizing the importance of substantial aid in the encouragement of deserving students, far-seeing friends of the College have from time to time set aside funds for the establishment of scholarships. A perpetual scholarship is established by the gift of funds whose interest will yield a sum sufficient to pay tuition at least in part. To cover the entire yearly cost of tuition an endowment of $5,000 is required. An annual scholarship is provided by the yearly donation of $350.

The LITTLE FLOWER SCHOLARSHIP. This scholarship is worth $200 annually.

The SAINT IGNATUS SCHOLARSHIP.

The CHARLES P. MILLER GOLD STAR SCHOLARSHIP, founded by his mother in memory of this member of the class of 1938, who gave his life for his country in World War II.

The BISHOP TOOLEN SCHOLARSHIP, donated by the Most Reverend T. J. Toolen, D.D., Bishop of Mobile, carry remittance of tuition fees.

The PROHASKA MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIPS, founded by a bequest under the will of Frank Prohaska, of the class of 1913, for the establishment of scholarships for the benefit of students needing financial assistance.

The AMERICAN LEGION-VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP. This scholarship is awarded by the Robert L. Bullard Post No. 49 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Lamar Y. McLeod Post No. 3 of the American Legion to a graduate of the schools of Mobile County. This scholarship is a memorial to those Americans who made the supreme sacrifice in the defence of their country.

The MCGILL SCHOLARSHIP (formerly the Spring Hill High School Scholarship) is awarded annually to the graduate of McGill Institute, Mobile, who wins the highest honors of his class. It carries remittance of tuition fees for the student's course.

The CHRISTIAN BROTHERS SCHOLARSHIP is awarded under the same conditions as the preceding one to the honor graduate of Christian Brothers' College, Memphis, Tennessee.

The JESUIT HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIPS are granted to the honor graduate of each of the High Schools of the New Orleans Province of the Society of Jesus, namely, Jesuit High School of New Orleans, Jesuit High School of Dallals, Jesuit High School of Tampa, St. John's High School of Shreveport.

Finally, a restricted number of SPRING HILL COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS will be granted by the college annually. Applications for these scholarships must be made to the Dean before August 1st. These scholarships are awarded on the basis of proven need and high academic standing.

Self Aid

A certain number of student assistantships and clerical positions are open annually to deserving students. Students wishing to profit by such financial aid should apply to the Dean before May 15th.

Conditions of Tenure

A student receiving assistance through scholarship or college employment is expected to maintain a scholastic standing which in the judgment of the college authorities given evidence that he is making the most of his abilities and opportunities. A mediocre, though passing, record in any semester raises for consideration the question of continuance of financial assistance. It is clear that the student receiving aid must be regular in attendance at his college exercises and also must maintain a record of good conduct.

GIFTS AND BEQUESTS

As a private institution of higher learning, SPRING HILL COLLEGE must look to its friends and benefactors and to all whose bounty is on occasion devoted to the cause of education for the generous contributions which will enable the College to carry on its work of education, to provide an increase in the aid to deserving students, and to extend its contribution to the spread of knowledge and truth. Gifts to the College may take the form of funds for the establishment of scholarships or professorships, of additions to the material equipment of library collections, of contributions to the general endowment fund, or may be undesignated. Those desiring to make a bequest to SPRING HILL in their wills may be helped by the following suggested form:

LEGAL FORM FOR BEQUEST

I give (devise) and bequeath to Spring Hill College, an institution incorporated under the laws of the State of Alabama, and located at Spring Hill, Mobile County, Alabama, its successors forever, the sum of _____ Dollars (or otherwise describe the gift) for its general corporate purpose (or name a particular corporate purpose).

REGISTER OF STUDENTS

INTRODUCTORY NOTES

The courses of instruction listed below are numbered according to a unified plan. Lower division courses (usually taken by freshmen and sophomores) are numbered 1 to 99. Within the lower division numbers, the numbers 30 to 99 frequently indicate that the course is reserved for sophomores. Upper division courses (usually taken by juniors and seniors and supposing previous preparation) are numbered from 100 to 199. Courses given in the first semester are usually designated by an odd number and those given in the second semester by an even number. Double numbers (e.g. 141-142) frequently indicate that the first semester course is prerequisite for the second semester course and that both must be satisfactorily completed to obtain credit for either course. In most departments the courses are grouped into decades according to sequence, content, or some other plan of subdivision.

ADMINISTRATIVE DIVISION

That they may function more efficiently under present circumstances the various departments of instruction have been combined into the following administrative departments. Unless otherwise indicated the area of administration is what is evidently implied by its name.

BIOLOGY: P. H. YANCEY, S.J., PH.D., Chairman.

COMMERCE: J. A. CRONIN, S.J., A.M., Chairman; embracing courses in accounting, business administration and economics.

CHEMISTRY: J. V. DEIGNAN, S.J., PH.D., Chairman.

EDUCATION: BRO. CLAVER THOMAS, S.C., PH.D., Acting Chairman; embracing courses in education and physical education.

ENGLISH AND FINE ARTS: J. F. MURRY, S.J., A.M., Chairman; embracing courses in art, English, expression and music.

LANGUAGES: F. L. JANSSEN, S.J., A.M., Chairman; embracing courses in classical and modern foreign languages.

MATHEMATICS AND PHYSICS: E. H. LARGUIER, S.J., PH.D., Chairman; embracing courses in engineering, mathematics, physics and science (general).

MILITARY SCIENCE AND TACTICS: E. P. MOORE, LT. COL., U.S.A., Chairman.

PHILOSOPHY: A. J. BENEDETTO, S.J., PH.D., Chairman.

RELIGION: C. C. GOETZ, S.J., S.T.L., Chairman.

SOCIAL SCIENCES: R. W. VOLLENWEIDER, S.J., A.M., Chairman; embracing courses in history, political science and sociology.

KEY SYMBOL

The following is a list of the key letters used to indicate the different departments of instruction. For convenience the pages on which the courses of the various departments are to be found is also listed.

Of the courses listed below under the various department headings as many as may seem necessary will be given each term; the College, however, reserves the right to make such changes or variations as circumstances require, including restriction of the number of students to be admitted to any course.

ART (Ar)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11. History of Art I

Introductory study of the architecture, sculpture, and painting of the prehistoric, ancient and medieval periods. Two hours credit.

12. History of Art II

Continuation of Ar 11; art of the periods from the Renaissance to the present. Two hours credit.

13. Elementary Design I

Introduction to line, tone, color, form, and composition; use of various media including tempera and wash; blockprinting methods. Two hours credit.

14. Elementary Design II

Continuation of Ar 13 with emphasis on development of graphic expression. Two hours credit.

15. Freehand Drawing I

Introduction to theories and methods of drawing in various media; drawing of still life and figure objects; outdoor sketching. Two hours credit.

16. Freehand Drawing II

Continuation of Ar 15 with emphasis on creative drawing of objects observed from standpoint of form and content. Two hours credit.

51. Elementary Painting I

Painting in oil of still life, models, and outdoor objects. Two hours credit.

52. Elementary Painting II

Continuation of the study of pictorial composition using the oil medium. Two hours credit.

53. Elementary Commercial Art I

Basic problems in layout and design in advertising; various techniques and methods of reproduction. Two hours credit.

54. Elementary Commercial Art II

Continuation of Ar 53 with concentration on media used in commercial illustration. Two hours credit.

55. Intermediate Design I

Problems of design using textures, materials, and media related to both painting and commercial design. Two hours credit.

56. Intermediate Design II

Continuation of Ar 55 with further exploration into potentialities of design. Two hours credit.

57. Lettering

Creative lettering with pen and brush; principles of calligraphy. Two hours credit.

58. Functional Drawing

A study of problems in creative drawing with emphasis on artistic anatomy. Two hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101. Painting I

Painting in oil from still life and models; introduction to portrait painting. Two hours credit.

102. Painting II

Continuation of Art 101; color, texture, and dynamic contrast; observation of nature. Two hours credit.

184. Independent Study

Designed for students desiring special work not covered in required courses. Selection of topics, such as accounting for specific industries, controllership problems, etc., rests wholly on students' interests under the guidance and approval of the staff. Periodic conferences, bibliography, report and final examination required. This course may be substituted for certain required courses in the program; elective for accounting majors ordinarily. Credit based on work coverage. Two to six hours credit.

191. C.P.A. Examination Review

Preparation for theory and practice section of C.P.A. examination; topics include preparation of statements, accounting theory, funds and reserves, partnerships, corporations, consolidated statements, fiduciary accounting, governmental accounting, cost problems, etc. Usually offered through Evening Division on the basis of four 2½ hour meetings per week for six weeks preceding semi-annual examination dates. Offered on demand. Prerequisites: Senior standing, Ac 133, 144 and 171. Elective for accounting majors only. Four hours credit.

BIOLOGY (BI)

To major in biology a student must include in his program Bl 191 or its equivalent and at least sixteen additional upper division hours in biology, as approved by the chairman of the department. Students who plan to major in biology should confer with the department chairman as soon as possible after this decision is reached.

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

2. Philosophical Problems in Biology

The presentation of problems in biology which have philosophical significance. May be substituted for Bl 191. Three lectures per week. Three hours credit.

11. General Zoology I

This course is designed primarily for pre-medical and pre-dental students in as much as it stresses the human implications of biology. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

12. General Zoology II

A continuation of Bl 11 which is a prerequisite. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

13. Botany

An elementary study of the plant kingdom. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

14. Zoology

An elementary study of the animal kingdom; this course may not be substituted for Bl 11-12 by pre-medical and pre-dental students. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

15. Anatomy and Physiology

This course is intended primarily for nurses; it consists of lectures and demonstrations in gross and microscopic human anatomy and physiology. Prerequisite: Bl 14 or equivalent. Lectures three hours per week; laboratory six hours per week. Six hours credit.

16. Microbiology

This course is also intended primarily for nurses, consisting of the study of the characteristics and activities of microorganisms related to disease. Prerequisite: Bl 14 or equivalent. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory two hours per week. Three hours credit.

17. Elementary Genetics

A survey course of the facts and theories of heredity and variation. Lectures two hours per week. Two hours credit.

51. Field Botany

Collection and classification of specimens of major plant groups. Prerequisite: Bl 13. Two hours credit.

54. Comparative Anatomy of the Vertebrates

A comparative study of type forms with special attention to homology. Prerequisite: Bl 11-12 or equivalent. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101. Genetics

A study of problems in heredity and variation. Prerequisite: Bl 11-12 or equivalent. Lectures two hours per week. Two hours credit.

102. Genetics Laboratory

A practical course in methods of genetics investigation. Prerequisite: Bl 101, at least concurrent. Two hours credit.

111. Mammalian Anatomy

A laboratory study of the cat. Prerequisite: Bl 54. Four hours per week. Two hours credit.

121. Histology

A study of cells, tissues, and organ structure. Prerequisites: Bl 11-12 or equivalent and one other biology course. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

122. Vertebrate Embryology

A study of gametogenesis, fertilization, cleavage, gastrulation and organ formation in typical vertebrate forms. Prerequisites: Bl 11-12 or equivalent and one other biology course. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

150. Microscopic Technique

A laboratory course in methods of preparing tissues for microscopic study. Prerequisite: Bl 11-12 or equivalent. Two hours credit.

162. General Physiology

The study of the fundamental life processes of organisms. Prerequisites: Bl 11-12 or equivalent and Ch 140-145. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

191. History and Philosophy of Biology

A discussion of the historical development and philosophical implications of biology. Required of all majors. Prerequisites: Bl 11-12 or equivalent. Lectures two hours per week. Two hours credit.

199. Introduction to Research

Special work for advanced students and preparation for thesis. Admission only with approval of head of department. Two hours credit.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (Ba)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

1-2. Typing for Beginners

Students learn keyboard control and business letter writing. Four hours credit.

3-4. Advanced Typing

Emphasis on speed building through improvement of basic technique, special letter writing problems, special typing problems. Prerequisites: Ba 1-2 or equivalent. Four hours credit.

5-6. Elementary Shorthand

A study of the theory of Gregg shorthand, development of skill in reading and writing from printed shorthand and beginning dictation. Four hours credit.

7-8. Advanced Shorthand

Rapid dictation and transcription training for secretarial positions in business and professional offices. Prerequisites: Ba 1-2, 5-6, or equivalent. Four hours credit.

11-12. Mathematics of Business

The principles and methods of arithmetic and algebra with their applications to common business problems; the use of logarithms in statistical and business problems, graphs, series, annuities, and the essentials of the theory of probability. Required of all commerce students. Six hours credit.

21. Introduction to Business

This is a survey course offered for commerce certificate candidates to acquaint them with general business practices and the different fields of business activity. Offered only in the Evening Division. Certificate credit only.

51-52. Business Law

A general course covering contracts, agency, corporation, negotiable instruments, sales, bailments and carriers, unfair competition. Six hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101. Secretarial Duties

Fundamentals of indexing, filing, etc., business psychology, handling of mail, specialized secretarial duties, etc. Two hours credit.

102. Office Management

Principles and methods of planning, organization and controlling office forces; employing, training, promoting and compensating office personnel; office procedures, layout, etc., are studied. Two hours credit.

115. Corporation Finance

A study of the problems of financial management of a business; some of the topics considered are: promotion, stocks, bonds, notes, accounts, source of fixed capital, distribution of earnings, expansion, reorganization. Three hours credit.

117. Introduction to Industrial Management

A survey course in management principles and methods; the student is given a comprehensive view of modern practices of planning, organizing, and controlling various functional activities in business. Three hours credit.

124. Investments

A study of the nature and principles of investment with their application to the types of securities and an analysis of the channels of distribution. Three hours credit.

132. Marketing

A presentation of the fundamental principles and methods of marketing functions with an analysis of consumer buying habits and motives. Three hours credit.

133. Retailing Problems

A course including the intensive study of retail store management and operations. Buying operations, stock control and merchandise planning are also included. Open to merchandising seniors, others with permission of the instructor. Three hours credit.

136. Purchasing

The study of the principles of purchasing and types of actual problems confronting a purchasing agent in the performance of his duties. Three hours credit.

138. Credit Management

This course includes the study of the work of the credit manager in the various types of marketing agencies, and credit from the mercantile credit manager's viewpoint. Three hours credit.

143. Advertising

A study of the practices and policies of advertising in the main type of advertising media. Three hours credit.

144. Salesmanship

The underlying economic and psychological laws which govern selling. Three hours credit.

145. Sales Management

A study of the following problems: product, market and distribution research, recruiting, selecting, contrasting, training and equipping salesmen, compensation plans, sales territories, quotas, sales promotion and sales policies. Three hours credit.

152. Insurance

The principles and practices underlying the more important types of insurance as factors in private and business life. Three hours credit.

161. Transportation

A study of the economics of transportation and the problems of operation, management and regulation of all important transport agencies. Three hours credit.

174. Real Estate

A course embracing a study of the economic, legal, and administrative principles of real property. Three hours credit.

183. Industrial Management Problems

This course includes a study of problems involving planning, layout, operation, administration, wage incentive plans, industrial safety in the manufacturing plant; also included is a study of economic factors of production and the structure of industrial organization. Open to industrial management majors, others with permission of instructor. Three hours credit.

186. Personnel Problems

An analysis of the principles of selection, training, care, and administration of personnel, considered in the light of current attempts to solve employer-employee differences. Three hours credit.

192. Business Problems

This course is designed to train the student to solve varied business problems by drawing on his survey courses and research in the business library and current periodicals. Required of all business administration majors. Prerequisite: Senior standing. Three hours credit.

CHEMISTRY (Ch)

1. Survey of General Chemistry

A general introduction to the fundamental laws and theories of chemical science. Laboratory by demonstration only. Four hours credit.

2. Philosophical Problems in Chemistry

Presentation of problems in chemistry which have philosophical significance. First semester. Three hours credit.

3. Hospital Chemistry

An introductory survey for nurses, including principles of general chemistry, and the elements of organic and physiological chemistry. Three hours credit.

11. General Chemistry I

A course in the fundamental laws and theories, together with a systematic study of the elements. Offered in fall and spring semesters. Three lectures weekly. Three hours credit.

12. General Chemistry II

A continuation of Ch II, emphasizing the laws of chemical equilibria and the common metallic and acid-forming elements. Offered in spring semesters and summer sessions. Three lectures weekly. Three hours credit.

13. General Chemistry Laboratory

The laboratory course for Ch II which must be taken simultaneously with it. Four hours laboratory and demonstration weekly. One hour credit.

14. Elementary Qualitative Analysis

A laboratory course giving the principles and practices involved in the isolation and identification of the common metallic and acid-forming elements; the course must be taken simultaneously with Ch 12. Offered in spring semesters and summer sessions. Four hours of laboratory weekly. One hour credit.

31. Qualitative Analysis

A thorough study of the principles and practices employed in isolating and identifying the metallic and acid-forming elements. Offered on demand. Two lectures weekly; four hours of laboratory weekly. Four hours credit.

51. Elementary Quantitative Analysis

A course intended to familiarize the student with the techniques and physical measurements characteristic of quantitative analysis; in this course emphasis is placed on volumetric and colorimetric methods of analysis. Obligatory for pre-medical and pre-dental students and chemistry majors. Two hours lecture; laboratory, six hours per week. Four hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

131-132. Organic Chemistry I-II

In this course a selected body of factual material is presented and the underlying principles of organic reactions are given in terms of electronic theory. Obligatory for chemistry and biology majors. Lecture three hours per week; four hours laboratory. Eight hours credit.

135. Elementary Physical Chemistry I

This course is designed for biology and pre-medical majors, and does not require calculus. Three hours credit.

136. Elementary Physical Chemistry Laboratory

Experiments selected for the requirements of biology and pre-medical majors. Prerequisites: Quantitative Analysis 32, Organic Chemistry. Ch 135 may be taken concurrently. One hour credit.

141-142. Physical Chemistry I-II

This course is intended to acquaint the student with the fundamentals of chemical theory, the states and properties of matter thermodynamics, thermochemistry, solutions, equilibrium, conductance, electromotive force, phase equilibria, surface chemistry, kinetics and photochemistry majors. Prerequisites: Mt 13-14, 101-102; electricity and magnetism I, quantitative analysis, and four hours advanced physics. Six hours credit.

143-144. Physical Chemistry Laboratory

This course is designed to teach exact measurements on chemical substances and processes, a determination of sources and magnitude of error; also gives familiarity with the classical and current literature of the field. Obligatory for all chemistry majors. Prerequisites: Mt 13-14; 101-102; Electricity and Magnetism I, and four hours advanced physics. One hour lecture; one period of three hours laboratory. Four hours credit.

154. Quantitative Analysis

A course in gravimetric analysis; includes also electro-deposition methods and many determinations involving physico-chemical methods. Obligatory for chemistry majors. Two hours lecture per week and six hours laboratory. Four hours credit.

161-162. Physiological Chemistry

An elementary course dealing with the chemistry of the carbohydrates, fats, and proteins; the chemical basis underlying the phenomena of metabolism, enzymes, absorption and digestion are discussed. Lectures two hours per week. Four hours credit.

163-164. Physiological Chemistry Laboratory

A laboratory course to accompany 161-162. Four hours per week. Four hours credit.

171. Qualitative Organic Analysis

Purification and identification of organic compounds; special emphasis is placed upon the practical analysis of compounds of organic origin. Lecture one hour per week; laboratory six hours. Three hours credit.

172. Organic Preparations

A one-semester course for seniors majoring in chemistry. Lecture one hour, laboratory six hours. Three hours credit.

181-182. Advanced Inorganic Chemistry

A course for seniors majoring in chemistry. Prerequisite: Ch 141-142. Three periods of lecture per week. Six hours credit.

183-184. Inorganic Preparations

A course for seniors majoring in chemistry. Two periods of laboratory per week. Four hours credit.

199. Advanced Seminar

For seniors majoring in chemistry. Credits to be arranged.

ECONOMICS (Ec)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11-12. Principles of Economics

This course is intended to give a thorough explanation of the laws and principles underlying the economic system; it embraces a detailed analysis of production, distribution, exchange and consumption. A prerequisite for all upper division courses in economics. Six hours credit.

21. Introduction to Economics

A brief analysis of economic principles designed for non-economic majors. Three hours credit.

51. Statistics

An introductory consideration of statistical theory; collection, presentation, analysis and interpretation of data; frequency distribution; time; measures of central tendency and dispersion; index numbers, correlation; forecasting. Three hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

106. Money and Banking

Designed to give the students a firm grasp of the economic principles and theories underlying money, and the functions and operation of investment, commercial, and central banking. Three hours credit.

107. Monetary Theory

An elementary investigation of the leading contributions of classical and contemporary monetary theories. Three hours credit.

110. Economics of Public Finance

This course is directed to a practical knowledge of the principles and methods of governmental fiscal operations and policies. Three hours credit.

112. Land Economics

A survey of the principles of land utilization and the major problems arising therefrom. Three hours credit.

122. Labor Economics

Reviews social, economic, historical, and political factors significant to orientation in industrial relations; analysis of main phases of industrial conflict with proposed solutions. Three hours credit.

123. Labor Law

Study of modern labor legislation which so deeply and so continuously affects the problems of industrial relations. Three hours credit.

124. Industrial Relations

This course is designed to give the student a practical demonstration of union-management relationships; the student is required to participate in actual bargaining conferences under the guidance of representative union and management leaders. Three hours credit.

126. Economic History of the United States

The economy of colonial America; commerce, agriculture and finance after 1789; the industrial revolution; the westward movement; development of banking, transportation and labor; rise of the corporation; growth of foreign trade; the United States as a world economic power. Three hours credit.

134. International Economics

This is designated to give the student a foundation in the theories and operation of international commercial policy and practice, foreign investment and foreign exchange. Three hours credit.

138-139. Economic Analysis

A two semester course in intermediate economics embracing studies in demand and supply, marginal analysis. Six hours credit.

145. Business Cycles

Economic organization in its relation to the business fluctuations; indexes of business conditions, timing duration and amplitudes of cycles; international aspects; the problems of forecasting and control. Three hours credit.

153. History of Economic Thought

An historical analysis of the development of Economic Theory; a study of the chief contributions of the Physiocrats, Adam Smith, Malthus, Ricardo, Say, Mill, Cairnes, Carey, Bastiat, Marx, Bohm Bawerk, J. B. Clark, Marshall, and Veblen. Three hours credit.

155. Contemporary Economic Problems

The economic principles involved in the existing maladjustments will be considered in the light of current attempts to secure a solution. Three hours credit.

156. Contemporary Economic Thought

A survey of contemporary economic literature considering present school of economic thought, their points of difference and theoretical tendencies. Three hours credit.

EDUCATION (Ed)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11. History of Education

A survey of educational theory, institutions and practice during ancient and modern times with special emphasis on the European system which influenced the more recent educational movements in Europe and America. Three hours credit.

12. Principles of High School Teaching

Among the topics considered are the aims in instruction; the class exercise; the essentials of good questioning; the modes of instruction; the importance of study; the prelection or assignment; the repetition or recitation; standards and measurements; the individual and social elements in secondary instruction. Three hours credit.

51. Philosophy of Education

A study of the philosophical principles underlying the different systems of education with a special emphasis on the Jesuit system. Three hours credit.

52. Educational Psychology

The student is directed in the study of the laws of learning, the learning curve, the efficiency and permanence of learning, transfer of training, the result of exercise, the measurement of achievement, the use of tests, the new types of examinations. Three hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

112. Adolescent Psychology

The application of the laws and principles of psychology to the process of guiding the development of the individual from early adolescence to maturity. Three hours credit.

121. Statistical Methods in Education

The purpose of the course is to acquaint teachers and prospective teachers with those statistical techniques which are most important from the viewpoint of education. Three hours credit.

136. Co-operative Study of Secondary Schools

A course designed to acquaint the student with the work accomplished by the Committee set up for the Co-operative Study of Secondary School Standards in order to establish the ground work for an appreciation and critical evaluation of the standards that should govern secondary schools. Three hours credit.

161. Materials and Methods of Teaching English

The organization of a balanced curriculum in English; integration of High School English with college requirements. Three hours credit.

166. Materials and Methods of Teaching History

The object of this course is to give the student an intimate knowledge of the aim, methods, and contents of the history course in the high school. Three hours credit.

171. Materials and Methods of Teaching Science

The course purports to evaluate the place of the natural sciences in the high school curriculum and study in survey the material that makes up the science courses along with the methods best suited to achieve the aims of the science courses. Three hours credit.

176. Materials and Methods of Teaching Language

A study of the contents and modern methods of presentation of the various modern languages as well as the classical languages; special emphasis is laid on the more recent methods of teaching Spanish and French. Three hours credit.

181. Materials and Methods of Teaching Mathematics

Current trends and problems in the teaching of mathematics in secondary schools, methods of selecting and organizing teaching materials, effective teaching procedures, diagnostic and remedial techniques. Three hours credit.

183. Materials and Methods of Teaching Commercial Subjects

A study and evaluation of the contents of various commercial courses as found in different school systems; a survey of the more advanced methods in the presentation of commercial subjects; the place of the commercial subjects in modern high school. Three hours credit.

195-196. Observation and Practice Teaching

Schedule to be arranged by each student individually with the chairman of the department of education. Candidates for degrees with a major in education must present a minimum of four semester hours in observation and practice teaching with a minimum of 45 full periods of class teaching and 15 hours of observation. Four hours credit.

ENGINEERING (Eg)

11-12. Engineering Drawing

Lettering, geometrical construction, orthographic projection, dimensions. Four hours credit.

14. Introductory Engineering Problems

Designed to determine the student's abilities, desires and short comings in work of an engineering nature. Two hours credit.

ENGLISH (En)

11. English Composition I

Placement tests given at the beginning of the Freshman year will determine the level of study of composition. Students who score low will be placed in sections concentrating on grammar and remedial exercises; extra clinical classes will be held twice weekly. 181-182. Greek Fathers

This course will offer the student extensive reading in the writings of the numerous Fathers of the Church from the early ages of Christianity. Prerequisites: Gk 11-12; Gk 51-52; Gk 101-102. Six hours credit.

HISTORY (Hs)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11-12. Western Civilization

A brief survey of the development of European Civilization. Six hours credit.

51-52. American History

A survey of United States History from colonial times to the present. Six hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

100. Methodology and Geopolitics

A study of the meaning of history and historical method; an introduction to the general principles of geopolitics and a study of the relation of geography to history; this course is required of all history majors. Two hours credit.

101-102. Ancient History

A study of the political, economic, social, and cultural history of the ancient Near East, Greece, and Rome. Four hours credit.

111-112. Medieval History

A study of medieval civilization from the decline of the Roman Empire to the Renaissance. Four hours credit.

113. Renaissance and Reformation

A study of the intellectual and religious developments of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries as a prelude to the study of modern history. Three hours credit.

121-122. Absolutism and the Revolutionary Era

A study of the rise of absolute monarchy of the eighteenth century and of the French and Liberal Revolutions. Four hours credit.

123. The Nineteenth Century

A study of the century of capitalism, liberalism, nationalism, and secularism growing out of the Napoleonic Era and extending into the twentieth century. Three hours credit.

131-132. English History

A survey of English history from pre-historic times to the present. Six hours credit.

141. American Colonial History

A study of the foundation of the English colonies in America and the development of the same through the American Revolution. Two hours credit.

142. The United States from 1789-1850

A study of Federalism and Nationalism in the first half of the nineteenth century. Two hours credit.

143. The United States from 1850-1900

A study of secession, reconstruction, and industrialism. Two hours credit.

144. The United States since 1900

A study of the rise of the United States to the position of world power in the twentieth century with emphasis on international rather than on domestic problems. Two hours credit.

161-162. Latin American History

A survey of Latin-American history from colonial times to the present. Six hours credit.

171. Russia

A study of Russian civilization and its relationship with Western Europe and the rest of the world. Three hours credit.

172. The Far East

MATHEMATICS (Mt)

1. Fundamental Concepts in Mathematics

An introduction to the structure of mathematics through a study of fundamental concepts of number systems and their relation to geometry. Offered annually in second semester. Three hours credit.

2. Philosophical Problems in Mathematics

Presentation of mathematical problems which have philosophical significance. Offered annually. Two hours credit.

11. Fundamental Algebra

This course is to be elected by students with deficient training. Offered annually in fall semesters and summer sessions. Three hours credit.

12. Trigonometry

Elements of plane trigonometry; this course together with the preceding will satisfy the minimum mathematics requirements for introductory science courses. Offered annually in Spring semesters and summer sessions. Three hours credit.

13. Algebra and Trigonometry

A course in algebra and trigonometry designed primarily for science majors and engineering students. Offered annually in fall semesters. Three hours credit.

14. Analytic Geometry and Calculus

A study of the usual topics of analytic geometry with an introduction to calculus. Offered annually in spring semesters. Three hours credit.

51-52. Calculus I-II

Differentiation of transcendental functions with applications; formulas, methods and applications of integration; series; space coordinates and vectors; partial differentiation; multiple integration; applications. Offered annually. Six hours credit.

NOTE: Courses Mt 13, 14, 51 and 52, or their substantial equivalent are prerequisites for all upper division mathematics.

53. Differential and Integral Calculus

An abbreviated course covering the substantial parts of Mt 51-52. Offered only in summer session and registration must have the approval of the department chairman. Three hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

111. Differential Equations

An elementary treatment of ordinary differential equations; linear differential equations; and simultaneous systems; applications. Offered annually in fall semesters and summer sessions. Three hours credit.

121-122. Linear Algebra and Matrices I-II

An introduction to vector spaces, matrices and linear algebra. Offered annually. Six hours credit.

131. Solid Analytic Geometry

An exposition of the basic topics of solid analytic geometry coordinated with the theory of vectors and matrices. Offered annually in spring semesters. Three hours credit.

132. College Geometry

A study of modern concepts of pure geometry; designed particularly for the prospective high school teacher. Offered occasionally on demand. Three hours credit.

141. Applied Mathematics

Special topics: Laplace transformation and Fourier methods; numerical solutions; boundary value problems. Offered occasionally on demand. Three hours credit.

142. Vector Analysis

An introduction to the algebra and calculus of vectors with some applications. Offered annually in spring semesters. Three hours credit.

161-162. Advanced Calculus I-II

An introductory study of fundamental theorems on continuous functions, differentiation, integration, implicit functions, series and sequences, and special functions. Offered annually. Six hours credit.

191-192. Mathematics Seminar

Weekly meetings to discuss topics not covered by usual courses. Required for graduation with honors in mathematics. Offered annually. Two hours credit.

MILITARY SCIENCE AND TACTICS (Ms)

1-2. Basic Course I

Fundamentals of military discipline, drill and exercise of command, military organization; military policy of the United States; evolution of warfare; maps and aerial photographs; first aid and hygiene; individual weapons and rifle marksmanship; military problems of the United States. Two class periods and one drill period per week for two semesters. Two hours credit.

3-4. Basic Course II

Leadership, drill and exercise of command; and technique of the Transportation Corps which includes introduction to Transportation Corps; economics of military transportation; military highway transport and highway organization and operation. Two class periods and one drill period per week for two semesters. Two hours credit.

5-6. Advanced Course I

Leadership, drill and exercise of command; 120 hours of tactics and technique of Transportation Corps to include individual weapons and marksmanship. Four class periods and one drill period per week during two semesters and attendance at a summer camp for six weeks following the Junior Year. Six hours credit.

7-8. Advanced Course I

Leadership, drill and exercise of command; military administration; military law; military teaching methods; psychological warfare; geographical foundations of national power; and 80 hours of Transportation Corps branch tactics and technique. Four class periods and one drill period per week for two semesters. Six hours credit.

MUSIC (Mu)

11. History of Music

A general survey of the evolution of occidental music from its historical beginnings through Renaissance music. Two hours credit.

12. History of Music

A continuation of the history of music from the development of Italian opera to the present. Two hours credit.

PHILOSOPHY (PI)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11. Introduction to Philosophy

The nature of philosophy and its relationship with other fields; motives for studying philosophy; suggestions on how to study philosophy. One hour credit.

12. Dialectics

The nature and aim of logic; idea and term; judgment and proposition; a detailed study of reasoning and the syllogism, with exercises both in criticising and in constructing the various types; fallacies; methodology. Two hours credit.

51. Logic and Critics

A rapid survey of dialectics with, however, a detailed study of reasoning, and exercises both in criticising and constructing the various types; truth and certitude; the sources of cognition; Integral Realism vs. Relativism, Idealism, etc. Three hours credit.

52. General Metaphysics

A study of the most general aspects of reality; in particular, the study of being as such and of the causes and principal categories of beings. Three hours credit.

53. Epistemology

A specialized study of truth and certitude; Scepticism, Idealism, Relativism; the problem of universals; induction and first principles; deduction and the syllogism; basic scientific procedure; the criterion or truth; error. Four hours credit.

54. Ontology

A more detailed study of the matter described above under General Metaphysics. Diverging opinions on the various questions are considered to the extent possible. Four hours credit.

55-56. Cosmology I-II

A study of the nature of mobile being; including a discussion of quantity, place and space; qualitative change; motion and time; and the essential constitution of natural bodies. Six hours credit.

61. Psychology

A study of the ultimate nature of living things; vegetative life, sensation, intellectual knowledge; the sense and intellectual appetites; freewill; the unity of man; origin and immortality of the human soul. Three hours credit.

62. Special Metaphysics (Theodicy)

Proofs for the existence of God; the validity of our knowledge about the divine nature; God's negative and positive attributes; creation; providence and the problem of evil. Three hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101. Sense Psychology

A specialized study of sense perception, imagination, memory; the sensuous appetite, movement, and feeling. Three hours credit.

102. Rational Psychology

A specialized study of phenomena of rational life, intellectual concepts, rational appetency, freewill and determination; origin, nature and destiny of the human soul. Three hours credit.

151-152. Natural Theology I-II

A specialized study of the proofs for God's existence and of the extent of our human knowledge of God's essence and attributes. Six hours credit.

161. History of Ancient Philosophy

A rapid survey of European philosophy from Thales to Plotinus, with a more detailed study of the two leading figures of ancient philosophy, namely, Plato and Aristotle. Three hours credit.

162. History of Modern Philosophy

A critical study of the leading philosophers and main currents of Western philosophy from Descartes to contemporary thinkers. Three hours credit.

180. Ethics for Nurses

General principles of ethics; duties to self and to fellow man; family obligations; professional obligations; obligations to civil authority; religion and morality. Three hours credit.

181. General Ethics

The ultimate end of man; the existence of objective morality; constituents of the moral order; eternal and natural law; nature of obligation. Three hours credit.

182. Special Ethics

Particular rights and duties; duty of natural religion, of self-preservation, of veracity; the right of self-defense; of property; the social relations of man; conjugal society; civil society; state and education; international law. Three hours credit.

191. Philosophy of the Non-living World

A course in the problems of cosmology; the nature of quantity, space, qualitative change, motion, time; the hylomorphic constitution of corporeal substance. Three hours credit.

192. Kant's Critical Philosophy

An analysis of the philosophical doctrine of Immanuel Kant, particularly of his Critique of Pure Reason, its origins, its influence, its errors. Three hours credit.

193. Philosophy of Beauty

This course aims to give the student basic norms for judging the beautiful in art and nature; special attention is paid to the philosophical foundation of literary criticism. Three hours credit.

194. Philosophy and Life

An integration course designed to round off the student's work in philosophy; particular care is taken to show the repercussions of theory on action. Three hours credit.

195. Philosophy of Science

This course gives a critical treatment of the origin, structure and function of the judgments and propositions that are at the basis of the various branches of science. Three hours credit.

197. Texts of St. Thomas

A course in the background and interpretation of selected texts of St. Thomas Aquinas. Two hours credit.

198. Texts of Aristotle

A course in the background and interpretation of selected texts of Aristotle. Two hours credit.

199. Seminar for Advanced Students

PHYSICAL EDUCATION (Pe)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

1-2. Physical Activities

Freshmen (non-veterans) must participate in organized gymnasium activities; competition on varsity level with suffice. Two hours credit.

11-12. Health and Safety Education

Individual health and safety; fundamental techniques. Four hours credit.

51-52. Anatomy and Physiology

An intensive demonstration lecture course designed to give the student of Physical Education practical knowledge of these sciences. Six hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

103. Introduction to Physical Education

Brief discussion of proper programs for high schools, and of the administration of interscholastic and intramural athletics and a physical education program. Three hours credit.

105. Principles, Organization and Administration of Secondary School Physical Education Program

A discussion of proper programs for high schools, and of the administration of interscholastic and intramural athletics and a physical education program. Three hours credit.

106. Principles and Practice of Coaching

Instruction in coaching of football, basketball and baseball with practical experience in coaching grammar school teams. Three hours credit.

107-108. Theory and Practice of Physical Education

This course includes the theory and practice of basketball and baseball. Six hours credit.

PHYSICS (Ph)

1. Introductory Physics

Survey of classical physics including some laboratory work to give the student a general background in this science. Offered in summer sessions only. Four hours credit.

2. Philosophical Problems in Physics

Presentation of physical problems which have philosophical significance. Offered annually. Three hours credit.

11-12. General Physics I-II

Introduction to the essentials of classical physics including laboratory work. Prerequisites: Mt 1-2 or their equivalent (concurrent registration not permitted). Offered annually. Eight hours credit.

51-52. Mechanics

Introduction to mechanics for engineering students and physical science majors. Prerequisite: Registration in Mt 101 or equivalent. Offered annually. Six hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101-102. Electricity and Magnetism I-II

Treatment on intermediate level of electrical properties and electromagnetism. This course must be accompanied by Ph 133-134. Offered annually. Six hours credit.

103-104. Electrical measurements I-II

An advanced student laboratory in electrical measurements. Offered annually. Two hours credit.

121. Optics

Introduction to topics in physical optics. This course must be accompanied by Ph 131. Offered in fall semesters of odd years. Three hours credit.

122. Electronics

A study of the fundamental theory of electronics and basic electronic apparatus. This course must be accompanied by Ph 132. Offered in spring semesters of odd years. Three hours credit.

123. Heat

Treatment on intermediate level of problems in heat and elementary thermodynamics. This course must be accompanied by Ph 133. Offered in fall semesters of even years. Three hours credit.

124. Wave motion and sound

An introduction to problems of wave motion and sound. This course must be accompanied by Ph 134. Offered in spring semesters of even years. Three hours credit.

125. Introduction to modern physics

Introduction to fundamental theories of modern physics. Offered occasionally on demand. Three hours credit.

131. Light measurements

An advanced laboratory in optical and spectroscopic measurements. Offered in fall semesters of odd years. One hour credit.

132. Electronic measurements

A laboratory study of electronic apparatus. Offered in spring semesters of odd years. One hour credit.

133. Heat measurements

An advanced laboratory in heat and temperature measurements. Offered in fall semesters of odd years. One hour credit.

134. Sound laboratory

CREDO OF SPRING HILL

SPRING HILL COLLEGE refuses to subscribe to the doctrine that "academic freedom" may be used as a pretext to teach systems which destroy all freedom. We proudly boast that it has always taught and always will teach the following creed:

We believe in God

We believe in the personal dignity of man

We believe that man has certain rights which come from God and not from the State

We therefore are opposed to all forms of dictatorships which hold that the "total man" (totalitarianism) belongs to the State

We believe in the sanctity of the home—the basic unit of Society

We believe in the natural right of private property, but likewise that private property has its social obligations

We believe that Labor has not only rights but obligations

We believe that Capital has not only rights but obligations

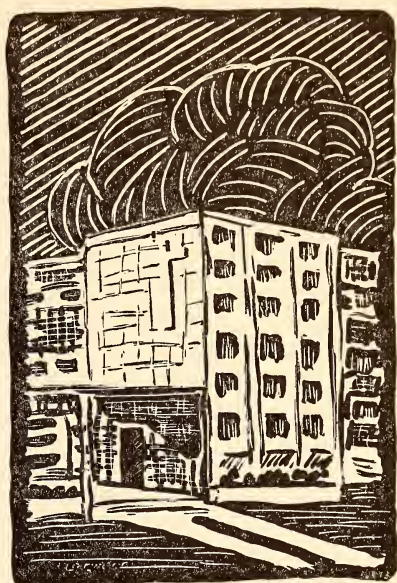

We are vigorously opposed to all forms of racism—persecution or intolerance because of race

We believe that liberty is a sacred thing, but that law, which regulates liberty, is a sacred obligation

We believe in inculcating all the essential liberties of American

Democracy and take open and frank issue with all brands of spurious "democracy."

We believe, briefly, in the teachings of Christ, who held that morality must regulate the personal, family, economic, political and international life of men if civilization is to endure.

GENERAL INFORMATION

HISTORICAL SKETCH

Founded in 1830 Spring Hill College is one of the earliest permanent institutions of higher learning in Southern United States. On November 10, 1835, the Legislature of the State of Alabama enacted and issued a full collegiate charter to "The President and Trustees of the Spring Hill College in the County of Mobile." The president of the college was the Most Reverend Michael Portier, first Catholic bishop of Mobile.

Appointed to the see in 1825, he made it his great concern after that of his pastoral employment to establish a college for the youth of his diocese which comprised Alabama and Florida. During his career in New Orleans he set up a school in that city which won for students and staff the respect of friends and parents.

The experience he had gathered in that scholastic venture was to be a valuable asset to him in his founding of Spring Hill College. Seven miles west of Mobile of that day there was a region called Spring Hill from its two most prominent features — a massive hill and a spring at the foot of it which forms a lake. Bishop Portier selected this area for the site of Spring Hill College. He purchased first a tract of thirty acres but, believing that the college would grow, he next bought 380 adjoining acres. To France again he had to go to recruit teachers and funds. From Lyons he brought Father Loras, who would become the first president of the college, and six clerics to be instructors. Cardinal Archbishop Fesch donated 30,000 francs to the project.

On the Feast of All Saints, November 1, 1829, Bishop Portier and his associates sailed from Le Havre for Mobile, which they reached on Epiphany Day, January 6, 1830. Until suitable buildings would be erected for staff and students, the bishop rented the hotel next to the college grounds and started the first semester with a registration of thirty students. The date was May 1, 1830.

Three buildings were begun and work on them was steadily forwarded to completion during the rest of the year. On May 1, 1831, the college vacated the hotel and entered into residence in the three buildings. They were to last until they were destroyed by the fire of 1869.

GROUND AND BUILDINGS

THE COLLEGE CAMPUS occupies some 700 acres of the elevation which gives its name to this residential suburb of Mobile. The city and bay are both visible from the hill and easily accessible either by bus or by the famous Old Shell Road, which passes the college gates. The village of Spring Hill has a post office, but no railroad station. The prospective student or visitor will therefore come first to Mobile, a beautiful city of the Old South, now nationally famous for its Azalea Trail.

Spring Hill is on the Azalea Trail, just six miles from the center of the city. The natural beauty of its well-chosen site, adorned with an almost endless variety of trees and shrubs and flowers, its lake, its shaded avenues, and the striking setting of its athletic fields and its buildings make the campus one of the most attractive in the United States.

Owing to its altitude and the invigorating influence of its resinous pines upon the surrounding atmosphere, Spring Hill holds one of the best records for health in the country. The air is pure and bracing, and even in the hottest summer months, the temperature, thanks to the nearby Gulf, is usually several degrees lower than in the neighboring city. The mildness of the climate all the year round makes it possible for outdoor sports to continue without interruption.

THE ADMINISTRATION BUILDING stands on the site of the first building which Bishop Portier erected for his pioneer college. The present plant, erected in 1869, partly in 1909, to replace the damage caused by historic fires, is a brick structure several hundred feet in length and three stories high. Covered Spanish colonnades join it to the Dining Hall on the west, the Infirmary on the east, and the Chapel on the north. The building itself is occupied by the Faculty and the administrative offices. Class rooms are also located in this building.

THE INFIRMARY BUILDING is the only building in present use which antedates the fire of 1869. On the first floor is located the pharmacy under the charge of a registered nurse; and the rooms on the second floor are equipped to take care of all ordinary cases of illness.

THE REFECTORY BUILDING across the quadrangle from the Infirmary contains the dining halls for faculty and students. The faculty hall upstairs is brightened by the painting which Napoleon's uncle, Cardinal Fesch, presented to his friend Bishop Portier for his new college. The students' dining hall is on the lower floor.

THE COLLEGE CHAPEL, dedicated to the Patron of the College, St. Joseph, was built in 1910. It is modified Gothic in style, and beautifully appointed within.

YENNI HALL, erected and named in memory of Father Dominic Yenni, S.J., Professor of Latin and Greek at Spring Hill for over fifty years, and author of Yenni's Latin and Greek Grammars, is entirely devoted to Science. Here are installed on different floors the Physics, Chemistry, and Biology lecture rooms and laboratories, and the Seismographic Station.

THE THOMAS BYRNE MEMORIAL LIBRARY, an impressive building on the campus, is the gift of Mrs. Byrne in memory of her husband and son. It was completed in 1930. It has room for 150,000 volumes. The general reading room is large enough to accommodate 100 students at one time. There are besides smaller rooms for research and conference, and one large lecture room. A special section of the building contains the Lavretta Library, donated by Mr. L. C. Lavretta, a Mobile Alumnus.

THE COLLEGE INN is a recreation center midway between the golf course and Mobile Hall.

THE GYMNASIUM is located in a building just west of the Dining Hall. It contains a basketball court, locker rooms, and showers.

QUINLAN HALL is the name given to the long corridor of rooms, built over the Gymnasium - Auditorium Building in 1916, and named in honor of Spring Hill's second founder, Bishop Quinlan. There are 40 living rooms in the building, each equipped with clothes-press and lavatory.

MOBILE HALL is the largest dormitory building. Dedicated November 6, 1927, it gave a new center to the college campus. Built on modern lines and with ample provision for the future growth of the college, it has space and equipment for housing over 100 students. Currently some of the rooms on the first floor have been arranged as offices and classrooms. The living rooms in this building are bright and airy, and provided with every modern convenience.

CUMMINGS HALL and KENNY HALL, named respectively for a deceased President and Dean of the College, Father Edward Cummings, and for its historian and long-time Philosophy Professor, the late Father Michael Kenny, are temporary dormitory buildings.

The latest addition to the campus is a new dormitory building with a capacity of more than 150 students, and providing facilities for social gatherings of students during out-of-class periods. It is named after Joseph M. Walsh, a prominent Mobilian, who was an outstanding benefactor of the College. Construction of the building was begun in January, 1954.

Other campus buildings include the SODALITY CHAPEL, a campus landmark recently renovated; an ANIMAL HOUSE for biology department material and the CHEMISTRY ANNEX containing laboratory space for freshman chemistry classes.

EVENING DIVISION

For the benefit of students who are unable to attend classes during the day, the evening division offers a variety of courses in downtown Mobile. These courses are for the most part from the Department of Commerce. However, to satisfy the needs of those who wish to qualify for the bachelor's degree, other required courses are given regularly.

General admission regulations in the evening division are the same as those listed later in this Bulletin (see ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS AND EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES). In addition to the usual college admissions, persons desiring secretarial training through intensive work of this type may enroll either as special students or, by including other regular academic courses in their program, as candidates for the B.S.C. degree.

The maximum load for a student in the evening division is twelve hours credit per semester. It is possible for a student to satisfy the requirements for the bachelor's degree in approximately five and one-half years; this time can be shortened considerably by attendance at summer sessions.

The summer courses offered on the campus of Spring Hill College are open to qualified men and women students, but living accommodations on the campus are restricted to men. The clientele expected to form the bulk of the summer attendance will include the following: 1) regular students desiring to supplement their program of studies towards a degree; 2) teachers, religious and lay, who need credit for the issuance or renewal of teaching certificates; 3) transient students from other institutions, who with permission of their own college Dean find it convenient to take certain courses at the Spring Hill summer session; 4) transfer students and beginning freshmen.

The Summer Sessions runs for six weeks. Without special approval of the Dean the student's load may not exceed six hours. The bulletin of this session is published in April. The dates of summer session are announced in the calendar.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS AND EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

GENERAL ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Admission to the various programs of study at Spring Hill College is open to qualified men and women, but living accommodations on the campus are restricted to men.

The College requires for admission the satisfactory completion of a four year course in a secondary school approved by a recognized accrediting agency. All candidates for admission to Freshman year must present sixteen units in acceptable subjects. A unit represents a year's study in any subject, constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work. This definition of a unit takes the four-year high school as a basis and assumes that the length of the school year is from thirty-six to forty weeks, that a period is from forty-five to sixty minutes in length, and that the study is pursued for four or five periods a week. Candidates are admitted either by certificate or by examination.

Students from countries where the English language is not the vernacular are required to have a sufficient mastery of the English language to enable them to follow class lectures without difficulty. No special classes in English will be provided by the college for these students.

ADMISSION PROCEDURE

Applicants for admission are required to submit an entrance application and have a complete transcript of their school record mailed to the Registrar. Applicants enrolled in high school or college at the time of application should have a transcript mailed to the Registrar which shows the work completed and the work under way.

Men students who will board on the campus should submit a physician's certificate of good health and $10 room deposit along with the entrance application. The physician's certificate should certify that the applicant is free from infectious and contagious diseases, call attention to any past or present physical or mental abnormality, and specify to what extent the applicant may participate in athletic activities. With the exception of married students, out-of-town men are required to room and board on the campus.

Blank forms of entrance certificates which are to be used in every case may be had on application to the Registrar. Such certificates upon submission become the property of the College, whether the applicant is accepted or not.

ADMISSION BY CERTIFICATE

Admission unconditionally by certificate is granted applicants graduating from approved secondary schools provided: (1) their 16 high school units include 12 of strictly academic nature (i.e., English, Mathematics, Languages, History, Natural Science, Social Science), and specifically such as correlate in the opinion of the Board of Admission with the course which the candidate intends to pursue; (2) that the student's rank in his high school class be better than that of the lowest quartile, or that his general average in academic courses be equivalent of C or better; and (3) that there is satisfactory evidence of personal character and other qualities deemed requisite by the College for desirable students.

ADMISSION ON PROBATION

Upon special recommendation of their Principal, graduates of four year non-accredited high schools will be admitted without examination on probation for their first semester, provided they fully satisfy the quantitative and qualitative entrance requirements enumerated above. Admission on probation, but with a limited schedule, may also be granted by the Board of Admissions to students who though otherwise acceptable are ranked in the lowest quartile of their high school class, provided there is additional evidence of seriousness of purpose and reasonable prospect of success in college. Students on probation are liable to dismissal for poor scholarship at the end of the semester unless they restore themselves to academic good standing (see ACADEMIC STANDING).

ADMISSION BY EXAMINATION

Applicants, who are not entitled to admission by certificate, may with permission of the Board of Admission take examinations for admission. Arrangements for these examinations must be made not later than two weeks before the beginning of a semester. Applicants who are rejected for reasons of character or academic ranking are not eligible for these examinations.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Students applying for admission from other institutions of collegiate rank will be given advanced standing provided the courses taken are considered comparable to those given at Spring Hill. In the evaluation of previous work, no credit will be accepted for courses in which a grade of less than C has been received. The transfer student must also present an honorable dismissal from the last institution attended.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

Mature and earnest students who are lacking in the required units or persons who wish to pursue particular studies without reference to graduation or students matriculated at another college who wish to pursue courses at Spring Hill with the approval of their Dean, may be admitted by the permission of the Dean to such courses of their own choice as they seem qualified to take.

STATEMENT OF THE OBJECTIVES

Ultimate Objectives

As a Jesuit Liberal Art College, Spring Hill has the same primary purpose as the Catholic educational system taken in its entirety. This is best expressed in the words of Pope Pius XI: "The proper and immediate end of Christian education is to cooperate with divine grace in forming the true and perfect Christian, that is, to form Christ Himself in those regenerated by baptism . . . The true Christian, product of Christian education, is the supernatural man who thinks, judges and acts constantly and consistently in accordance with right reason, illuminated by the supernatural light of the example and teaching of Christ; in other words, to use the current term, the true and finished men of character."

Immediate Objectives

It is in terms of this end that the Jesuit College of Liberal Arts conceives its special function in contemporary American life. Obviously, then, it will not neglect the field of religion. Instruction in Catholic faith and morals will always be a part of its task. But it is not the whole. The Jesuit college by its traditions can never be content with simply presenting Catholicism as a creed, a code or a cult. It must strive to communicate the riches of Catholicism as a culture, thus giving the modern man a coign of vantage whence to view with understanding not merely the facts in the natural order, but those in the supernatural order also, those facts which give meaning and coherence to the whole life.

Jesuit education regards the college of liberal arts as the heart of its system. It is through the instrumentality of such colleges that Catholic leaders will be formed, men and women who have been trained spiritually and intellectually in the Catholic sense, who have intelligent and appreciative contact with Catholicism as a culture, who through their general education in the college of arts have so developed their powers of mind and heart and will that they can take an active part in the service of Church and society.

The Jesuit college in its teaching aims at reaching the whole man, his intellect, his will, his emotions, his senses, his imagination, his aesthetic sensibilities, his memory, and his powers of expression. It seeks to lift up man's whole being to that broad, spiritual outlook on life whereby he not only understands and appreciates the fact that our entire social heritage is bound up with the Truth, Goodness and Beauty of God as seen in Revelation, Nature, Art and Language, but is likewise willing and ready to become identified with those activities, individual as well as collective, that make for the sanctification of the individual and the betterment of society.

The Jesuit college strives to provide a broad foundation in general education, upon which advanced study in a special field may be built.

Vocational Objectives

In addition to these objectives held in common with all Jesuit colleges, Spring Hill aims by proper direction in the choice of elective studies to prepare her graduates for successful work in professional schools, in business, and in teaching.

Specific Objectives of the Various Academic Degrees

The objective of the Arts (A.B.) degree or curriculum is to give a balanced cultural education as a foundation for full living. This objective is to be attained through the humanistic and philosophic disciplines, supplemented by training in scientific and mathematical thinking, the entire curriculum to be integrated by acquaintance with the social and religious factors that have entered into the making of Western civilization, and that contribute to the solution of contemporary problems.

The objective of the Science (B.S.) degree or curriculum is to give by means of natural or social sciences, a thorough training in the scientific method as a basis of sound scientific thinking, balanced by cultural training in language, literature and history, and the fine arts, and correlated as intimately as possible with scholastic philosophy.

The objective of the Commerce (B.S.C.) degree or curriculum is to give a systematic and balanced training in the problems and principles of business administration with specialization in one of three fields related to the world of commerce, supplemented by cultural work in language, history and scholastic philosophy.

Objectives of Pre-professional Curricula

The PRE-LEGAL COURSE prepares the student for admission to various recognized Law Schools of the United States by three years of degree work, with emphasis on the social sciences.

The PRE-MEDICAL COURSE enables the student to fulfill the entrance requirements of the various Class A Medical Schools taking three years of degree work with emphasis on the pre-medical sciences.

The PRE-DENTAL COURSE in three years qualifies the student for admission to various Class A Dental Schools. The curriculum is much the same as that of the pre-medical course.

The ENGINEERING COURSE supplies the mathematical deficiencies of the beginning engineering student and gives him at least the first year of basic engineering, common to all engineering curricula. To finish his course the student must transfer after one or two years to a fully accredited Engineering School.

The NURSING COURSE, while preparing the nursing students of the City Hospital and Providence Hospital of Mobile for their diplomas as Registered Nurses, gives them two years of accredited courses towards a Bachelors' degree in Nursing Education.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE WELFARE OF THE STUDENTS

THE DISCIPLINE

Spring Hill is committed to the belief that a system of education which discounts the formation of character is pernicious. For this reason opportunity is given to learn the important lesson of obedience to salutary laws and restraints. Everywhere necessary for ordered living, discipline is imperative when restless youths are forming a community of their own, as they do in a boarding school. Whatever the age of the students, and their opinion of their abilities to shape their own lives, the authorities of the school feel for their charges the responsibility of a parent. Rules are therefore made governing the out-of-class life of the students, particularly their social activities and absences from the campus. These rules and the sanctions for their observance are made known to the student from the beginning. Their enforcement, while considerate, is unflinchingly firm. Campus discipline is administered through the office of the Dean of Men.

DISCIPLINARY PENALTIES

Naturally, in addition to minor breaches of college discipline, there occur at times serious offenses which require drastic punishment, even suspension or dismissal from college. Such are: serious insubordination, repeated violation of regulations, neglect of studies, possession or use of intoxicating liquors, habitual use of obscene or profane language, and in general any serious forms of immorality. In cases of the suspension or dismissal of a student for such reason the tuition fee is not refunded.

Without committing any overt act of the kind described in the preceding paragraph, a student may at times by constant and ill-founded criticism, or an habitual attitude of opposition to the college government become an undesirable member of the community. For such cases the college reserves the right to request any student to withdraw from school, with, however, an honorable dismissal, and the refund of such fees as may be refundable by the treasurer's regulations.

RELIGIOUS LIFE OF STUDENTS

The College is a Catholic institution intended primarily for Catholic students, but it does not exclude those of other religious beliefs who may wish to take advantage of its system of education. As a rule about 25 per cent of the whole student body, and about 5 per cent of the boarding students are non-Catholic. Special courses in religion are provided for non-Catholics to replace the required courses in Catholic religion. They are permitted and encouraged to attend their own religious obligations on Sunday. By exception they are expected and required to assist as a part of the student body at the collegiate chapel services listed in the annual College Calendar.

The Catholic students are given every opportunity to learn their religion in theory and in practice. A graded course in Religion is offered, running through four years, and all Catholics are obliged to register for these courses. Credits are given for the courses and required for graduation.

Week-day Mass is required of all Catholic boarding students. Frequent, even daily, Communion is encouraged and quite generally practiced. Special devotions are practiced towards the Sacred Heart on the first Friday of the month, and towards the Blessed Virgin Mary during the months of October and May. A wonderful occasion of grace for many is the annual three-day Retreat given in the first semester and obligatory on all Catholic students, boarders and day scholars alike. The day scholars will be charged a nominal fee for board and lodging during the three days of the exercises.

One of the Fathers on the faculty is appointed as counsellor or advisor of the students. His principal duty is to direct the spiritual activities of the college and the various religious societies and sodalities in regard to which he exercises much the same supervision as the Dean of Men exercises in his department.

VETERANS' EDUCATION

The College is approved for the education of veterans under Public Laws 346, 16 and 550, covering veterans of World War II and the Korean war. Accordingly it is the policy of the school to afford these men every opportunity for study compatible with their educational background and the scope of the institution.

Credit will be given for courses and training completed in military service. In this matter the college will be guided by the American Council of Education in its publication entitled, Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services, and the opinion of the Committee on Admissions and Degrees.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

As college education is accomplished not only during the hours of class but also in no small degree during the students' interchange of ideas at other periods, the College heartily encourages all student organizations which help to develop in the student initiative, self-reliance and leadership in organized religious and social movements, qualities which are expected of college men generally.

PRINCIPAL STUDENT GROUPS

Student Council

This is the co-ordinating group for all the campus organizations. Representation on the council is enjoyed by all the recognized clubs. The President of the Council is elected by the student body and represents them in all petitions to the faculty.

RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

Sodality

The Sodality began its work at Spring Hill in 1847 and has never ceased to represent the loyalty of the students to the Mother of God. Regular meetings are held, and various works of zeal and charity are undertaken under the sponsorship of this organization.

Apostleship of Prayer and League of the Sacred Heart

This organization fosters among Spring Hill students the ideal of reparation and devotion to the Sacred Heart.

St. John Berchmans Sanctuary Society

The Sanctuary Society is an association of those Catholic men students who serve at the altar during the various liturgical functions.

ACADEMIC SOCIETIES

Alpha Sigma Nu

This is the Jesuit Honor Fraternity open to those holding highest academic rank in the Senior class.

Alpha Psi Omega

The College chapter of the national honorary dramatic fraternity, Eta Epsilon Cast, was established in 1938. It aims to promote interest in college dramatics and to provide a wide fellowship for those interested in college productions. Membership is open to qualified Yenni players actively engaged in dramatics.

Beta Beta Beta

This national fraternity in biology has a very active chapter at Spring Hill. Meetings are held twice a month, with guest speakers a frequent attraction. The Mendelian is published monthly by the group.

Chemical Society

This organization, a chapter of Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society, whose membership is restricted to chemistry majors, engages in such activities as are calculated to foster a professional attitude toward and pride in chemistry.

International Relations Club

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace approved in 1940 the opening of this campus club at Spring Hill. The purpose of its monthly meetings is to enlighten student opinion on world affairs. A special library is maintained.

Philomelic Academy

This youngest organization on the Spring Hill campus is devoted to the study and appreciation of classical as well as modern music masters.

Pi Kappa Delta

The College chapter of the national honorary forensic fraternity was installed in 1947 to promote the interests of intercollegiate oratory, debate and public speaking. The membership is recruited by nomination from the Portier Debating Academy.

Portier Debating Academy

The purpose of this organization, named for the founder of the College, is to foster forensics. From its ranks the intercollegiate debating team is usually chosen. The Academy sponsors the annual Azalea Debate Tournament, which draws competing intercollegiate teams from many parts of the nation.

Yenni Dramatic Society

This society, an offshoot of the Portier in 1935, aims to develop a practical interest in the drama. It promotes this interest by encouraging playwriting, acting, directing and stage designing in all phases of dramatic art.

SOCIAL GROUPS

In addition to the organizations previously listed there are also those, such as state clubs and social fraternities, whose object is to contribute to the social activities of the student body.

The S-Club, with membership limited to major athletic winners, has as its objective the promotion of greater student interest in intercollegiate athletics. It also sponsors social activities to a limited degree.

ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

In the intercollegiate athletic competition, Spring Hill is a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, and its athletic teams engage those of other colleges in basketball, baseball, tennis and golf.

Intramural sports play an adequate part in the extra-curricular life of the student body at Spring Hill. Facilities for various seasonal intramural sports are available on the campus. With participation optional, teams are formed under the guidance of the intramural director for competition in touch-football, basketball and softball. Off-campus intramural athletics include among others, a bowling league. Trophies are provided for the winners in the various intramural sports.

Tennis courts, an eighteen-hole golf course and a large spring-fed lake are other facilities offered for student participation in athletic activity.

SESSIONS

The school year begins in the middle of September and ends in the beginning of June. The year is divided into two semesters or sessions of eighteen weeks each. The first semester ends during the last week of January. The second begins immediately thereafter.

ATTENDANCE

Since the purpose of college education is not only to impart information and develop the mental faculties, but also, if not chiefly, to train the student in habits of punctuality and fidelity to duty, prompt attendance at all class meetings is constantly stressed, and the co-operation of parents and guardians in this important matter is earnestly requested. The date of registration and the limits of the various holiday periods are clearly stated in this catalog, and will be strictly adhered to.

Although for grave reasons the Dean may grant an excuse from class attendance, the responsibility for seeing to it that unauthorized absences from class meetings do not exceed the tolerated maximum of three absences from any course rests directly on the individual student. The penalty for excessive absence in any course is enforced withdrawal from that course, and accordingly no credit will be given for the course. In special cases the delinquent may be reinstated by the Committee on Appeals upon written petition of the student. An absence in any course from the last class immediately preceding or from the first class immediately following holiday periods counts triple.

Failure in prompt attendance is regarded as a partial absence, or total absence if in excess of ten minutes. Two partial absences will be equivalent to one absence. No absences from laboratory periods are excused and missed laboratory work must be done at the convenience of the instructor. These extra laboratory periods are subject to special fee (see FEES AND EXPENSES).

AMOUNT OF WORK

The unit for computing the amount of a student's work is the semester hour, which is defined as approximately one hour of class lecture, recitation or demonstration per week for a semester. Two hours of preparation by the student for each class hour is presumed. Laboratory periods are double. In general, one semester hour represents for the average student ordinarily about three hours of actual work each week throughout one semester, divided appropriately between lecture or laboratory periods and out-of-class preparation. A normal student load is about seventeen semester hours per week and no boarding student will be allowed to register in any semester for fewer than twelve hours; to receive financial assistance under Public Law 550, veterans must schedule a minimum of fourteen hours. Unusual programs need special approval of the Dean for completion of registration.

EXAMINATIONS AND GRADES

Final examinations are held in all courses at the end of each semester; student grades in various courses are determined by these examinations together with all intra-semester recitations, quizzes and tests. Missed examinations, with or without justifying excuse, must be taken eventually.

The following system of grading is used. Each semester hour of credit is valued as follows:

- A excellent, with 4 quality points per hour of credit.
- B good, with 3 quality points per hour of credit.
- C fair, with 2 quality points per hour of credit.
- D deficient, but passed with 1 quality point per hour of credit.
- E not passed, but entitled to re-examination for passing grade.
- EI incomplete, a temporary grade.
- WP withdrawn passing.
- WF withdrawn failing.
- W withdrawn: registration cancelled.
- F failed, without right to re-examination.

The student should note that the grade D, although passing, indicates unsatisfactory work.

The grade E is given for deficiency in examinations which is removable by supplementary examination, subject to fee payable in advance, to be administered on dates set by the Dean; by failing to register for these supplementary examinations upon official publication of schedule by the Dean's office the student waives his right to re-examination. Successful completion of supplementary examination entitles the student to a grade of D only. The grade EI is given for deficiency due to failure to complete assigned work and this may be removed by making up the required work within the time limit set by the Dean. This ordinarily entails a fine of two dollars and, where laboratory work is required, the additional fees for make-up laboratory periods.

Grades E and EI may be improved only while the student is still enrolled at the College: hence the grade E given in any semester at the end of which the student withdraws from the College automatically becomes an F on his permanent record.

ACADEMIC STANDING

In order that a student maintain the required academic standing and continue in course, he must meet the following minimum standards: at the end of the first semester of Freshman year, he must have a quality quotient of 1.5; second semester, 1.6; first semester of Sophomore year, 1.7; second semester, 1.8; first semester of Junior year, 1.9; at the end of each subsequent semester, 0.2. The quality quotient is obtained by dividing the number of credit hours attempted into the number of quality points earned. For example, a student who has attempted 90 credit hours and earned 180 quality points would have a 2.0 quality quotient.

Students failing to meet the quality requirements specified above will be placed on probation for one semester. Low grades and neglect of work within the semester will also render the student liable to probation; failure to improve will entail reduction of schedule with a permanent record of failure in the subject cancelled.

If the student is unable to raise his quality of work to the required minimum after one semester on probation he will be subject to suspension from the college. Only rarely and for very grave reasons will the probation of a student be extended beyond one semester. Students on scholastic probation may be excluded from participation in extra-curricular activities and will schedule no more than fourteen and no less than twelve semester hours.

STUDENT RANK

A student is ranked as a SOPHOMORE who is in good standing academically and who has at least thirty credit hours; as a JUNIOR, who has completed the prescribed lower division work in a field of concentration and who has been received into a program of concentration; as a SENIOR, who has been recommended by his department chairman as a candidate for graduation.

REPORTS

At least four times a year, i.e., in November, February, April and June detailed reports of scholarship and conduct are issued from the Deans' office.

WITHDRAWAL

Students who for any reason withdraw from college during the semester must give previous notice to the Registrar. Failure to do this within reasonable time will incur forfeiture of right to an honorable dismissal.

TRANSCRIPT OF RECORD

Students wishing transcript of records in order to transfer from this college to another, or for any other purpose, should make early and seasonable application for same. No statements will be made out during the busy periods of examinations and registrations. The first transcript of record is furnished free. For each additional copy there is a charge of one dollar.

PROGRAMS OF CURRICULA

Although there are students who, when they enter college, have not made up their minds with any degree of certainty as to the career that they intend to follow, this does not mean that even their program cannot be constructive. In any instance the directing principle of a well-planned program of studies should not be chiefly vocational. A student who intends to study medicine will naturally see that he includes all those subjects which the medical schools require for admission, but in addition he should not forget that a good doctor must also be a good human being and that he needs besides his specialized medical knowledge a wide range of interests and cultivated tastes. The best medical schools prefer candidates who have not had a narrowly specialized training in college. Similarly, a student who is planning to go into law or engineering should not try to limit himself in college to subjects which appear to be immediately contributory to legal or engineering studies. A student, when making his choice of program, must realize that presumably he has before himself a lifetime of necessary specialization, but only three or four years of freedom in which to study the interrelation of ideas and knowledge, to broaden his intellectual interest and human sympathies, to fit himself to take his part as an intelligent man in the social, economic, political and religious order that lies ahead of him.

The ideal college education should prepare a man to live — physically, mentally and spiritually — up to his fullest capacity, to cooperate with and understand other men while still preserving the integrity of his own individual character, to establish for himself the standards of thinking and conduct which shall give direction to all his activities, to see new possibilities in existing conditions of life and to adapt himself to other conditions in which he may find himself in the future. An education so conceived is what is called a liberal education as opposed to an education restricted to vocational training. In a liberal education mathematics and the sciences, literature and the other arts, history, philosophy and religion are studied as means to liberalizing the human spirit, to freeing a man from the narrowing restrictions of a single environment and the single age in which he lives. An adequate knowledge of the past is our only means of acquiring the necessary experience with which to meet the future. Such an education as is described here can prepare a man adequately for the privileges and the responsibilities of citizenship in the world of today.

The various programs of curricula, which are given on the subsequent pages, have been designed by the faculty to assist the student in the task of attaining the goals of a liberal education, as such an education is understood at Spring Hill College. For convenience of reference these programs of curricula are presented in some detail.

Pre-Legal Curriculum

Most law schools admit all applicants who have successfully completed three years of a regular college course for a minimum of 90 credit hours. A few with higher standards require an A.B. degree. The usual curriculum to be followed is that of the B. S. in Political Science or Sociology. Students desiring a more specially designed program should consult the Dean.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

GENERAL REQUIREMENTS

Spring Hill College grants the degrees B.A., B.S., and B.S.C. The College will not, however, confer any of these degrees upon a student who has already obtained a bachelor's degree either from Spring Hill College or any other accredited College.

The conditions to be satisfied in order that a baccalaureate degree be earned may be classified under the following headings.

1. COURSE REQUIREMENT

The required subjects for various degrees are as follows:

Prescribed for the A.B. Degree

Latin (12), Greek or Modern Language (6-12), English (12), Science (6), Mathematics (3), History (6), Religion (16), Logic (3), Metaphysics (6), Psychology (3), Ethics (6), Sociology (6), Public Speaking (2), Art or Music (4).

Prescribed for the B.S. Degree (Natural Sciences)

Biology (8), and Chemistry (8), or Chemistry (8) and Physics (8), Mathematics (6), English (12), Modern Language (6-12), History (6), Logic (3), Metaphysics (6), Ethics (6), Psychology (3), Religion (16).

Prescribed for the B.S. Degree (Social Sciences)

Modern Language (12), English (12), Science (6), Mathematics (3), History (12), Political Science, Sociology or Economics (6), Religion (16), Logic (3), Metaphysics (6), Ethics (6), Public Speaking (2), Psychology (3).

Prescribed for the B.S.C. Degree (Commerce)

Mathematics (6), Business Law (6), English (12), History (6), Public Speaking (2), Religion (16), Logic (3), Metaphysics (6), Psychology (3), Ethics (6).

2. QUANTITATIVE REQUIREMENT

In order to qualify for a baccalaureate degree the student must present a program of studies consisting of not less than 132 semester hours of work, including the courses listed in the preceding section appropriate to the degree he seeks.

3. QUALITATIVE REQUIREMENT

A candidate for a degree must obtain not only the number of credits required, but his work must reach a certain standard of excellence. In addition to the 132 hours credit necessary for graduation, each student must have an average grade of C or better. No student will be advanced to candidacy for any collegiate degree unless he is in academic good standing at the beginning of his last semester. Courses in which a student is given a grade lower than C may be repeated and the student's permanent record will include grades of both attempts. For purposes of computing quality quotient the average of the two grades is used.

4. LANGUAGE REQUIREMENT

Where modern language is part of the curriculum, the degree requirement is successful passing of a reading test to be administered after completion of the intermediate course or its equivalent. Furthermore, a test in proficiency in English is given to all Freshmen after they have completed the course in English composition; successful completion of this test by the beginning of the semester in which the student plans to graduate is a prerequisite to graduation for all candidates.

5. CONCENTRATION REQUIREMENT

Toward the end of his sophomore year each student is to petition acceptance into the department of his major concentration. This petition, however, is to be made only after consultation with the academic adviser. Students may be admitted to any program of concentration that they desire, provided they have completed with a C grade or better all the prerequisites to their chosen field of concentration.

There must be completed a major sequence in some subject (or at the discretion of the department concerned and with the approval of the Dean, in some closely related group of subjects) and a minor sequence in another subject. The uniform requirement for a major sequence in any department is a program of eighteen hours of upper division courses; for a minor sequence, a program of twelve hours of upper division courses. A major may be changed only by the consent of the Dean and the heads of the departments concerned, and such changes will be permitted only upon the distinct understanding that all the courses prescribed in the major finally chosen shall be completed before graduation.

6. COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATION

At the end of his senior year the candidate for a degree must pass a comprehensive examination on the various courses offered as a major. Candidates for honors at graduation (see below) must also present an acceptable thesis for the approval of the Dean.

7. RESIDENCE REQUIREMENT

The senior year (or 24 of the last 30 semester hours of work), together with fifty per cent of the course work required in each area of the field of concentration, must be made at Spring Hill College.

8. APPLICATION FOR DEGREE

All applicants for a degree must file their applications and present their credits and the evidence of having met all requirements listed above on or before the first of March preceding commencement.

Students taking any of the last six hours at another institution must complete this work before they may file their application for a degree. The degree will be granted at the next commencement exercises after the session in which the final work was completed.

9. GRADUATION FEE

A graduation fee of fifteen dollars is payable in advance and a settlement of all indebtedness to the College must be made.

SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS

GRADUATION HONORS

The honors at graduation to be inscribed on the diplomas, read at commencement and published in the lists of graduates are granted on the basis of quality points in their ratio to the total number of credit hours carried and are awarded according to the following scale: summa cum laude for a quality quotient of 3.9; magna cum laude for a quality quotient of 3.7; cum laude for a quality quotient of 3.5.

PRIZES AND TROPHIES

To encourage the students of Spring Hill College in the development of initiative, self-reliance and leadership in various phases of college life the following prizes and trophies are awarded in recognition of outstanding achievement. In most instances the awards are made annually.

Students who register for one or two courses only and who do not plan to present the credits earned for credit toward a degree either at Spring Hill or elsewhere are not subject to payment of the matriculation fee or the activity fee. A transcript of record of credits earned under these conditions will not be issued to any other school or agency, except upon payment of the fees that were remitted.

Rooms are shared by two occupants. The college provides the necessary heavy furnishings. Beginning with the fall semester 1954 students will supply their own bed-linen, blankets and towels, and whatever else they may deem appropriate.

Medical Fee takes care of medical attention by the Staff Physician and ordinary nursing in the College Infirmary not in excess of ten days.

Room Deposit, which must accompany each application for entrance is not applied to room rent but is retained to cover any damage beyond reasonable wear which may be done to the room or its furnishings while occupied by the students. The balance is returned to the parents when the student withdraws from the College. In case a student fails to occupy a room after reservation, the deposit will not be returned, unless notice of withdrawal is received one month before scheduled occupancy of room.

REGULATIONS OF THE TREASURER

All checks should be made payable to SPRING HILL COLLEGE and addressed directly to the Treasurer's Office. Those desiring to send Postal Money Orders should have them drawn on the Mobile Post Office. Payments made from countries outside continental United States should be made payable in New York or New Orleans exchange.

All minor expenses, for books, stationery, etc., are on a strictly cash basis. Money for the personal accounts should be sent directly to the student, who alone will be responsible to the parents or guardians for an itemized statement of expenditures. This money may be deposited for safe keeping with the Treasurer, but in this case parents must state in writing a definite amount for weekly withdrawals by the student. No advance of money will ever be made at any time for any purpose whatever. In case of emergency, students should have money wired to them.

Should a student leave before the end of the semester, a deduction for board and room rental will be made for the remainder of the semester, beginning with the first of the following month. The date on which notice is received by the Treasurer from the Registrar's Office is considered the date of withdrawal. Proration of charges made for tuition and other fees, excluding board and room fees, will be made according to the following schedule:

PERIOD OF ACTUAL ATTENDANCE	SUMMER SESSION	REGULAR SEMESTER
	6-9 Weeks	16-19 Weeks
One week or less	40%	20%
Between one and two weeks	80%	20%
Between two and three weeks	100%	40%
Between three and four weeks	100%	60%
Between four and five weeks	100%	80%
Over five weeks	100%	100%

No student may have an honorable dismissal nor will he be given credit for his studies or be admitted to the examination in January or May until all indebtedness to the College has been settled.

PLAN OF PAYMENTS

The general regulation calls for payments at beginning of each semester. Any other arrangement for payment must be made in advance with the Treasurer; details for such arrangements may be secured from the Treasurer. Deferred payments will include an additional fee of $5.00.

SCHOLARSHIPS AND STUDENT AID

Scholarships

Realizing the importance of substantial aid in the encouragement of deserving students, far-seeing friends of the College have from time to time set aside funds for the establishment of scholarships. A perpetual scholarship is established by the gift of funds whose interest will yield a sum sufficient to pay tuition at least in part. To cover the entire yearly cost of tuition an endowment of $5,000 is required. An annual scholarship is provided by the yearly donation of $350.

The LITTLE FLOWER SCHOLARSHIP. This scholarship is worth $200 annually.

The SAINT IGNATUS SCHOLARSHIP.

The CHARLES P. MILLER GOLD SCHOLARSHIP, founded by his mother in memory of this member of the class of 1938, who gave his life for his country in World War II.

The BISHOP TOOLLEN SCHOLARSHIPS, donated by the Most Reverend T. J. Toolen, D.D., Bishop of Mobile, carry remittance of tuition fees.

The PROHASKA MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIPS, founded by a bequest under the will of Frank Prohaska, of the class of 1913, for the establishment of scholarships for the benefit of students needing financial assistance.

The AMERICAN LEGION-VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP. This scholarship is awarded by the Robert L. Bullard Post No. 49 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Lamar Y. McLeod Post No. 3 of the American Legion to a graduate of the schools of Mobile County. This scholarship is a memorial to those Americans who made the supreme sacrifice in the defense of their country.

The MCGILL SCHOLARSHIP (formerly the Spring Hill High School Scholarship) is awarded annually to the graduate of McGill Institute, Mobile, who wins the highest honors of his class. It carries remittance of tuition fees for the student's course.

The CHRISTIAN BROTHERS SCHOLARSHIP is awarded under the same conditions as the preceding one to the honor graduate of Christian Brothers' College, Memphis, Tennessee.

The JESUIT HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIPS are granted to the honor graduate of each of the High Schools of the New Orleans Province of the Society of Jesus, namely, Jesuit High School of New Orleans, Jesuit High School of Dallas, Jesuit High School of Tampa, St. John's High School of Shreveport.

Finally, a restricted number of SPRING HILL COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS will be granted by the college annually. Applications for these scholarships must be made to the Dean before August 1st. These scholarships are awarded on the basis of proven need and high academic standing.

Self Aid

A certain number of student assistantships and clerical positions are open annually to deserving students. Students wishing to profit by such financial aid should apply to the Dean before May 15th.

Conditions of Tenure

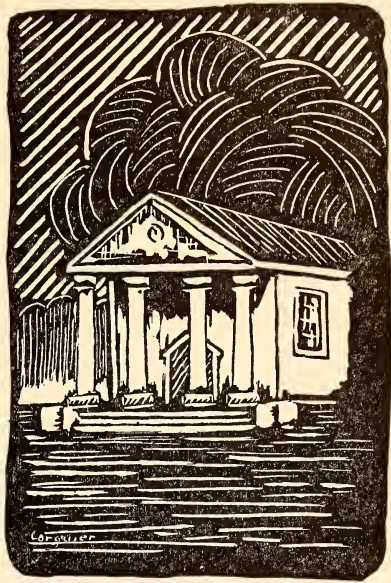

A student receiving assistance through scholarship or college employment is expected to maintain a scholastic standing which in the judgment of the college authorities give evidence that he is making the most of his abilities and opportunities. A mediocre, though passing, record in any semester raises for consideration the question of continuance of financial assistance. It is clear that the students receiving aid must be regular in attendance at his college exercises and also must maintain a record of good conduct.

GIFTS AND BEQUESTS

As a private institution of higher learning, SPRING HILL COLLEGE must look to its friends and benefactors and to all whose bounty is on occasion devoted to the cause of education for the generous contributions which will enable the College to carry on its work of education, to provide an increase in the aid to deserving students, and to extend its contribution to the spread of knowledge and truth. Gifts to the College may take the form of funds for the establishment of scholarships or professorships, of additions to the material equipment of library collections, of contributions to the general endowment fund, or may be undesignated. Those desiring to make a bequest to SPRING HILL in their wills may be helped by the following suggested form:

LEGAL FORM FOR BEQUEST

I give (devise) and bequeath to Spring Hill College, an institution incorporated under the laws of the State of Alabama, and located at Spring Hill, Mobile County, Alabama, its successors forever, the sum of _____ Dollars (or otherwise describe the gift) for its general corporate purpose (or name a particular corporate purpose).

COURSES

INTRODUCTORY NOTES

The courses of instruction listed below are numbered according to a unified plan. Lower division courses (usually taken by freshmen and sophomores) are numbered 1 to 99. Within the lower division numbers, the numbers 30 to 99 frequently indicate that the course is reserved for sophomores. Upper division courses (usually taken by juniors and seniors and supposing previous preparation) are numbered from 100 to 199. Courses given in the first semester are usually designated by an odd number and those given in the second semester by an even number. Double numbers (e.g. 141-142) frequently indicate that the first semester course is prerequisite for the second semester course and that both must be satisfactorily completed to obtain credit for either course. In most departments the courses are grouped into decades according to sequence, content, or some other plan of subdivision.

ADMINISTRATIVE DIVISION

That they may function more efficiently under present circumstances the various departments of instruction have been combined into the following administrative departments. Unless otherwise indicated the area of administration is what is evidently implied by its name.

BIOLOGY: P. H. YANCEY, S.J., PH.D., Chairman.

COMMERCE: F. H. SWEET, M.S., Chairman; embracing courses in accounting, business administration and economics.

CHEMISTRY: J. V. DEIGNAN, S.J., PH.D., Chairman.

EDUCATION: J. C. MULHERN, S.J., M.A., Chairman; embracing courses in education and physical education.

ENGLISH AND FINE ARTS: J. F. MURRAY, S.J., A.M., Chairman; embracing courses in art, English, expression and music.

LANGUAGES: F. L. JANSSEN, S.J., A.M., Chairman; embracing courses in classical and modern foreign languages.

MILITARY SCIENCE AND TACTICS: E. P. MOORE, LT. COL., U.S.A., Chairman.

PHILOSOPHY: A. J. BENEDETTO, S.J., PH.D., Chairman.

RELIGION: C. C. GOETZ, S.J., S.T.L., Chairman.

SOCIAL SCIENCES: R. W. VOLLENWEIDER, S.J., A.M., Chairman; embracing courses in history, political science and sociology.

KEY SYMBOL

Following the title of each of the departments of instruction is a key symbol (e.g. Ac after Accounting), which is used for convenience of reference in this BULLETIN and in other official records.

Of the courses listed below under the various department headings as many as may seem necessary will be given each term; the College, however, reserves the right to make such changes or variations as circumstances require, including restriction of the number of students to be admitted to any course.

ACCOUNTING (Ac)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11-12. Elementary principles of accounting I-II

This is the basis course in accounting, stressing fundamentals, and providing practice in bookkeeping and accounting procedures. Required of all BSC Degree candidates. Six hours credit.

21. Financial statement analysis

The aim of this course is to train students to analyze and interpret financial statements for business control. Required of business administration and secretarial majors. Not open to accounting majors. Three hours credit.

51-52. Intermediate accounting I-II

A study of more advanced principles of accounting theory, including the study of the management viewpoint of accounting. Prerequisite: Ac 11-12. Required of accounting majors. Six hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

131-132. Cost accounting I-II

This course includes a study of material, labor and factory burden accounting, process costs, standard costs and distribution costs; practice sets are used; required of accounting majors, elective for industrial management majors. Prerequisite: Ac 11-12. Six hours credit.

141-142. Advanced accounting I-II

Takes up advanced phases of accounting problems, including installment sales, partnership accounting, consolidated statements, foreign exchange, fiduciary accounting and governmental accounting. Required of accounting majors. Prerequisite: Ac 51-52. Four hours credit.

145-146. Advanced accounting I-II

A course in the same subject matter as Ac 141-142 except that certain topics are treated more intensively. Offered only in the Evening Division. Required of accounting majors. Prerequisite: Ac 51-52. Six hours credit.

151. Law of accounting I-II

Takes up the rules of law affecting financial statements, the practice of accounting, proof of accounting facts and more intensive treatment of corporation law and bankruptcy law. Elective for accounting majors. Prerequisite: Ac 51-52. Three hours credit.

161-162. Income tax procedure I-II

Embraces a study of the Federal tax law and State of Alabama tax law; emphasizes individual income tax problems during the first semester and partnership, corporation and miscellaneous income tax problems during the second semester; required of accounting majors, elective for others with permission of instructor. Prerequisite: Ac 11-12. Four hours credit.

165-166. Income tax procedure I-II

A course in the same subject matter as Ac 161-162 except that certain topics are treated more intensively. Offered only in the Evening Division. Required of accounting majors, elective for others with permission of instructor. Prerequisite: Ac 11-12. Six hours credit.

171-172. Auditing procedure I-II

This course covers theory and practice of auditing; includes practice sets and supplemental readings; treats internal control comprehensively and requires study of rules of ethics of accounting practice. Required of accounting majors. Prerequisite: Ac 51-52. Six hours credit.

181. Municipal and governmental accounting

Study of accounting principles and practices of governmental organizations; appropriation system; funds; revenues and expenditures; capital expenditures; institutional accounting; audit procedures; examination of published reports. Prerequisite: Ac 51-52. Elective for accounting majors only. Three hours credit.

194. Independent study

Designed for students desiring special work not covered in required courses. Selection of topics, such as accounting for specific industries, controllership problems, etc., rests wholly on students' interests under the guidance and approval of the staff. Periodic conferences, bibliography, report and final examination required. This course may be substituted for certain required courses in the program; elective for accounting majors ordinarily. Credit based on work coverage. Two to six hours credit.

185. Accounting system design

A study of the theory and practice of designing and installing accounting systems; account classifications; outline and relation of accounting procedure to various types of organizations. Elective for accounting majors. Prerequisite: Ac 51-52. Three hours credit.

191. C.P.A. examination review

Preparation for practice section of C.P.A. examination; topics include preparation of statements, funds and reserves, partnerships, corporations, consolidated statements, fiduciary accounting, governmental accounting, cost accounting, etc. Offered on demand through the Evening Division on the basis of four 2½-hour meetings per week for six weeks preceding semi-annual examination dates. Prerequisites: Ac 51-52, 141-142, 131-132, or equivalents. Elective for accounting majors. Four hours credit.

ART (Ar)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11-12. History of art I-II

Introductory study of the architecture, sculpture, and painting of the prehistoric, ancient, and medieval periods; art of the periods from the Renaissance to the present. Four hours credit.

15-16. Freehand drawing I-II

Introduction to theories and methods of drawing in various media; drawing of still life and figure objects; outdoor sketching; emphasis on creative drawing of objects observed from standpoint of form and content. Four hours credit.

51-52. Elementary painting I-II

Painting in oil of still life, models, and outdoor objects. Four hours credit.

53-54. Elementary illustration and design I-II

Basic problems in layout and design in advertising; various techniques and methods of reproduction; concentration on media used in commercial illustration. Four hours credit.

55. Elementary photography

The fundamentals of camera equipment, development and printing, practical lighting and optics; elementary composition. Special laboratory fee is assessed for this course. Two hours credit.

56. Advanced photography

Advanced camera operation and composition; print control and subject matter in photography pertaining to news and feature work. Special laboratory fee is assessed for this course. Two hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101-102. Painting I-II

Painting in oil from still life and models; introduction to portrait painting; color, texture, and dynamic contrast; observation of nature. Four hours credit.

103-104. Painting III-IV

Introduction to casein, water color, and other media; advanced portrait painting; emphasis on stimulation of individual expression. Four hours credit.

111-112. Advanced illustration and design I-II

Problems in commercial illustration of moderate difficulty; projects in commercial art with concentration on creative approach. Four hours credit.

115-116. Fine printmaking I-II

A survey of graphic print processes including wood block, silk screen, and lithography; advanced problems in several media; etching in zinc and copper plates. Four hours credit.

121. Art of the renaissance

Analysis of the painting, sculpture, and architecture of Italy and northern Europe from 1400 to the French Revolution. Two hours credit.

122. Art of the 19th century

A study of the painters and printmakers of the 19th century. Two hours credit.

123. Art of the 20th century

A survey of the painting and sculpture of the 20th century including contemporary movements. Two hours credit.

BIOLOGY (BI)

To major in biology a student must include in his program Bl 191 or its equivalent and at least sixteen additional upper division hours in biology, as approved by the chairman of the department. Students who plan to major in biology should confer with the department chairman as soon as possible after this decision is reached.

Medical Technology Program

In order to meet the increasing need for well-trained laboratory personnel, Spring Hill College is offering, under the supervision of the Biology Department, a program of courses leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Biology was a major in Medical Technology.

After completing three years of pre-technical training on the campus (at the end of the Junior year), the student is cleared with the Registry of Medical Technology at Muncie, Indiana, and begins a twelve months' internship at an approved school. These schools must be approved by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and the American Medical Association, and affiliated for the purpose with Spring Hill College. At the end of this period, the candidate receives the degree of Bachelor of Science and is qualified for examination and certification by the Registry of Medical Technologists of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

2. Philosophical problems in biology

The presentation of problems in biology which have philosophical significance. May be substituted for Bl 191. Three lectures per week. Three hours credit.

11-12. General zoology I-II

This course is designed primarily for pre-medical and pre-dental students in as much as it stresses the human implication of biology. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Eight hours credit.

13. Botany

An elementary study of the plant kingdom. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

14. Zoology

An elementary study of the animal kingdom; this course may not be substituted for Bl 11-12 by pre-medical and pre-dental students. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

15. Anatomy and physiology

This course is intended primarily for nurses; it consists of lectures and demonstrations in gross and microscopic human anatomy and physiology. Prerequisite: Bl 14 or equivalent. Lectures three hours per week; laboratory six hours per week. Six hours credit.

16. Microbiology

This course is also intended primarily for nurses, consisting of the study of the characteristics and activities of microorganisms related to disease. Prerequisite: Bl 14 or equivalent. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory two hours per week. Three hours credit.

17. Elementary genetics

A survey course of the facts and theories of heredity and variation. Lectures two hours per week. Two hours credit.

51. Field botany

Collection and classification of specimens of major plant groups. Prerequisite: Bl 13. Two hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

54. Comparative anatomy of the vertebrates

A comparative study of type forms with special attention to homology. Prerequisite: Bl 11-12 or equivalent. Lectures two hours two week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

101. Genetics

A study of problems in heredity and variation Prerequisite: Bl 11-12 or equivalent. Lectures two hours per week. Two hours credit.

102. Genetics laboratory

A practical course in methods of genetics investigation. Prerequisite: Bl 101, at least concurrent. Two hours credit.

111. Mammalian anatomy

A laboratory study of the cat. Prerequisite: Bl 54. Four hours per week. Two hours credit.

121. Histology

A study of cells, tissues, and organ structure. Prerequisites: Bl 11-12 or equivalent and one other biology course. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

122. Vertebrate embryology

A study of gametogenesis, fertilization, cleavage, gastrulation and organ formation in typical vertebrate forms. Prerequisites: Bl 11-12 or equivalent and one other biology course. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

141-142. Medical technology I-II

This course cover the twelve-month internship for the medical technologist according to the requirements of the Society of Clinical Pathologists; instruction includes seminars, demonstrations and supervised practice. Sixteen hours credit.

150. Microscopic technique

A laboratory course in methods of preparing tissues for microscopic study. Prerequisite: Bl 11-12 or equivalent. Two hours credit.

162. General physiology

The study of the fundamental life processes of organisms. Prerequisites: Bl 11-12 or equivalent. Lectures two hours per week; laboratory four hours per week. Four hours credit.

191. History and philosophy of biology

A discussion of the historical development and philosophical implications of biology. Required of all majors. Prerequisites: Bl 11-12 or equivalent. Lectures two hours per week. Two hours credit.

199. Introduction to research

Special work for advanced students and preparation of thesis. Admission only with approval of head of department. Two hours credit.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION (Ba)

Major field electives in this department are to be chosen from one of the following groups.

FINANCE: Investments, Credit Management, Advertising, Salesmanship, Insurance, Real Estate, Transportation, Monetary Theory, Public Finance, International Trade, Business Cycles.

INDUSTRIAL MANAGEMENT: Purchasing, Sales Management, Insurance, Production Control, Job Evaluation and Wage Policies, Motion and Time Study, Personnel Management, Industrial Relations, Industrial Quality Control, Cost Accounting, Business Cycles, Transportation.

RETAILING: Retailing Problems, Purchasing, Credit Management, Advertising, Salesmanship, Sales Management, Insurance, Personnel Management, International Trade, Business Cycles.

GENERAL BUSINESS: Four courses chosen from the above fields with the advice and consent of the student's major advisor.

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

1-2. Typing for beginners I-II

Students learn keyboard control and business letter writing. Four hours credit.

3-4. Advanced typing I-II

Emphasis on speed building through improvement of basic technique, special letter writing problems, special typing problems. Prerequisites: Ba 1-2 or equivalent. Four hours credit.

5-6. Elementary shorthand I-II

A study of the theory of Gregg shorthand, development of skill in reading and writing from printed shorthand and beginning dictation. Four hours credit.

7-8. Advanced shorthand I-II

Rapid dictation and transcription training for secretarial positions in business and professional offices. Prerequisites: Ba 1-2, 5-6, or equivalent. Four hours credit.

11-12. Mathematics of business I-II

The principles and methods of arithmetic and algebra with their applications to common business problems; the use of logarithms in statistical and business problems, graphs, series, annuities; compound interest, etc. Required of all BSC Degree candidates. Four hours credit.

51-52. Business law

A general course covering contracts, agency, corporation, negotiable instruments, sales, bailments and carriers, unfair competition. Six hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101. Secretarial duties

Fundamentals of indexing, filing, etc., business psychology, handling of mail, specialized secretarial duties, etc. Two hours credit.

102. Office management

Principles and methods of planning, organization and controlling office forces; employing, training, promoting and compensating office personnel; office procedures, layout, etc., are studied. Two hours credit.

115. Corporation finance

A study of the problems of financial management of a business; some of the topics considered are: promotion, stocks, bonds, notes, accounts, source of fixed capital, distribution of earnings, expansion, reorganization. Three hours credit.

117. Introduction to industrial management

A survey course in management principles and methods; the student is given a comprehensive view of modern practices of planning, organizing, and controlling various functional activities in business. Three hours credit.

122. Labor problems

An introduction to the field of industrial relations and the study of basic labor problems growing out of modern economics arrangements. Three hours credit.

124. Investments

A study of the nature and principles of investment with their application to the types of securities and an analysis of the channels of distribution. Three hours credit.

132. Marketing

A presentation of the fundamental principles and methods of marketing functions with an analysis of consumer buying habits and motives. Three hours credit.

133. Retailing problems

A course including the intensive study of retail store management and operations. Buying operations, stock control and merchandise planning are also included. Open to merchandising seniors, others with permission of the instructor. Three hours credit.

136. Purchasing

The study of the principles of purchasing and types of actual problems confronting a purchasing agent in the performance of his duties. Three hours credit.

138. Credit management

This course includes the study of the work of the credit manager in the various types of marketing agencies, and credit from the mercantile credit manager's viewpoint. Three hours credit.

143. Advertising

A study of the practices and policies of advertising in the main type of advertising media. Three hours credit.

144. Salesmanship

The underlying economics and psychological laws which govern selling. Three hours credit.

145. Sales management

A study of the following problems: product, market and distribution research, recruiting, selecting, contrasting, training and equipping salesmen, compensation plans, sales territories, quotas, sales promotion and sales policies. Three hours credit.

152. Insurance

The principles and practices underlying the more important types of insurance as factors in private and business life. Three hours credit.

161. Transportation

A study of the economics of transportation and the problems of operation, management and regulation of all important transport agencies. Three hours credit.

174. Real estate

A course embracing a study of the economic, legal, and administrative principles of real property. Three hours credit.

181. Production control

Production forecasting, control through production budget, material specifications, routing of operations and processes, plant layouts, plant safety, dispatching, quality and inventory control, departmental relationships, etc. Prerequisite: Ba 117. Three hours credit.

183. Motion and time study

The economic uses of motion and time study, process and operation analysis, micromotion study, use of therblig, principles of motion economy, standardization, relation to wage incentives, determination of rating factors, time standards from elemental time data and formulas. Prerequisite: Ba 117. Three hours credit.

184. Job evaluation and wage policies

Methods of evaluation and a consideration of the work and objectives of personnel procedure; wage and salary administration techniques; study of the preparation and use of factory and office job descriptions. Prerequisite: Ba 117. Three hours credit.

185. Personnel management

An analysis of the principles of selection, training, care, and administration of personnel, considered in the light of current attempts to solve employer-employee differences. Prerequisite: Ba 117. Three hours credit.

186. Industrial relations

Exploration of the dynamic nature of human beings and the dignity of the worker; attention is given to those factors external to the organization which influence its relations with the workers; federal, state and local legislation; unions; the techniques of collective bargaining; contracts. Prerequisites: Ba 117, Ba 122. Three hours credit.

187. Industrial quality control

A study of quality control techniques; extensive study of statistical control of quality. Prerequisites: Ba 117, Ec 51 (or its equivalent.) Three hours credit.

192. Business problems

This course is designed to train the student to solve varied business problems by drawing on his survey courses and research in the business library and current periodicals. Required of all business administration majors. Prerequisite: Senior standing. Two hours credit.

CHEMISTRY (Ch)

Majors in chemistry will be sure to include in their program Ch 51, 131-132, 141-142, 143-144, 154, and an additional six hours of upper division electives in chemistry.

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

1. Survey of general chemistry

A general introduction to the fundamental laws and theories of chemical science. Laboratory by demonstration only. Four hours credit.

2. Philosophical problems in chemistry

Presentation of problems in chemistry which have philosophical significance. First semester. Three hours credit.

3. Hospital chemistry

An introductory survey for nurses, including principles of general chemistry, and the elements of organic and physiological chemistry. Three hours credit.

11-12. General chemistry I-II

A course in the fundamental laws and theories, together with a systematic study of the elements; the laws of chemical equilibria and the common metallic and acid-forming elements. Three lectures weekly. Six hours credit.

13. General chemistry laboratory

The laboratory course for Ch II which must be taken simultaneously with it. Four hours laboratory and demonstration weekly. One hour credit.

14. Elementary qualitative analysis

A laboratory course giving the principles and practices involved in the isolation and identification of the common metallic and acid-forming elements; the course must be taken simultaneously with Ch 12. Offered in spring semesters and summer sessions. Four hours of laboratory weekly. One hour credit.

31. Qualitative analysis

A thorough study of the principles and practices employed in isolating and identifying the metallic and acid-forming elements. Offered on demand. Two lectures weekly; four hours of laboratory weekly. Four hours credit.

51. Elementary quantitative analysis

A course intended to familiarize the students with the techniques and physical measurements characteristic of quantitative analysis; in this course emphasis is placed on volumetric and colorimetric methods of analysis. Obligatory for pre-medical and pre-dental students and chemistry majors. Two hours lecture; laboratory, six hours per week. Four hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

131-132. Organic chemistry I-II

In this course a selected body of factual material is presented and the underlying principles of organic reactions are given in terms of electronic theory. Obligatory for chemistry and biology majors. Lecture three hours per week; four hours laboratory. Eight hours credit.

135. Elementary physical chemistry

This course is designed for biology and pre-medical majors, and does not require calculus. Three hours credit.

136. Elementary physical chemistry laboratory

Experiments selected for the requirements of biology and pre-medical majors. Prerequisites: Quantitative analysis 32, organic chemistry. Ch 135 may be taken concurrently. One hour credit.

141-142. Physical chemistry I-II

This course is intended to acquaint the student with the fundamentals of chemical theory, the states and properties of matter thermodynamics, thermochemistry, solutions, equilibrium conductance, electromotive force, phase equilibria, surface chemistry, kinetics and photo chemistry. Obligatory for chemistry majors. Prerequisites: Mt 51-52, Ph 101-102; quantitative analysis, and organic chemistry. Four hours credit.

143-144. Physical chemistry laboratory

This course is designed to teach exact measurements on chemical substances and processes, a determination of sources and magnitude of error; also gives familiarity with the classical and current literature of the field. Obligatory for all chemistry majors. One hour lecture; one period of three hours laboratory. Four hours credit.

154. Quantitative analysis

A course in gravimetric analysis; includes also electro-deposition methods and many determinations involving physico-chemical methods. Obligatory for chemistry majors. Two hours lecture per week and six hours laboratory. Four hours credit.

161-162. Physiological chemistry

An elementary course dealing with the chemistry of the carbohydrates, fats and proteins; the chemical basis underlying the phenomena of metabolism, enzymes, absorption and digestion are discussed. Lectures two hours per week. Four hours credit.

163-164. Physiological chemistry laboratory

A laboratory course to accompany 161-162. Four hours per week. Four hours credit.

171. Qualitative organic analysis

Purification and identification of organic compounds; special emphasis is placed upon the practical analysis of compounds of organic origin. Lecture one hour per week; laboratory six hours. Three hours credit.

172. Organic preparations

A one-semester course for seniors majoring in chemistry. Lecture one hour, laboratory six hours. Three hours credit.

181-182. Advanced inorganic chemistry

A course for seniors majoring in chemistry. Prerequisite: Ch 141-142. Three periods of lecture per week. Six hours credit.

183-184. Inorganic preparations

A course for seniors majoring in chemistry. Two periods of laboratory per week. Four hours credit.

199. Advanced seminar

For seniors majoring in chemistry. Credits to be arranged.

ECONOMICS (Ec)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11-12. Principles of economics I-II

This course is intended to give a thorough explanation of the laws and principles underlying the economic system; it embraces a detailed analysis of production, distribution, exchange and consumption. A prerequisite for all upper division courses in economics. Six hours credit.

21. Introduction to economics

A brief analysis of economic principles designed for non-economic majors. Three hours credit.

51. Statistics

An introductory consideration of statistical theory; collection, presentation, analysis and interpretation of data; frequency distribution; time; measures of central tendency and dispersion; index numbers, correlation; forecasting. Three hours credit.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

106. Money and banking

EDUCATION (Ed)

The Teacher Training program is administered by the Department of Education. Its purpose is to provide for the education and training of teachers for the elementary and secondary levels of both public and private schools in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Alabama State Department of Education.*

Specifically, the program includes 1) subjects in the field of general education required for a Bachelor's degree, 2) subjects comprising the major and minor teaching fields for secondary school teachers, and certain subjects essential in the preparation of elementary school teachers, and 3) subjects in professional psychology and education.

The Teacher Training program makes it possible for future teachers to fulfill the requirements for certification and for a Bachelor's degree during their regular college course.

Furthermore, teachers already in service are provided with opportunities to do additional undergraduate work at Spring Hill College, either for their own improvement or for the improvement or continuation of temporary certificates. Courses for this purpose are always offered during the Summer sessions, and, if need warrants it, in evening classes and on Saturday mornings during the school year.

History of Spring Hill College

Historical Sketch

Shortly after his appointment as first Bishop of Mobile, the Right Reverend Michael Portier, D.D., made it his great concern to establish a college for the youth of his diocese which comprised Alabama and part of Florida. After purchasing the site for the future Spring Hill College, Bishop Portier went to France to recruit teachers and funds for the new college. Upon his return and until suitable buildings would be erected for the faculty and the students, the bishop rented the hotel next to the college grounds and started the first semester with a registration of thirty students. The date was May 1, 1830. On July 4 of the same year Bishop Portier laid the cornerstone of the first building of Spring Hill College. It stood on the site of the present Administration Building and was opened for classes in November, 1831. Two other buildings were constructed at the same time. Spring Hill thus takes its place among the three oldest colleges in the South, while of Jesuit boarding colleges it is the oldest after Georgetown.

Five years later, the Governor of Alabama signed the legislative act which chartered the Bishop's seminary-college and gave it "full power to grant or confer such degree or degrees in the arts and sciences, or in any art or science . . . as are usually granted or conferred by other seminaries of learning in the United States." This power was used in the following year, 1837, when four graduates received their degrees.

As the years went on and the college enrollment rose from thirty to more than a hundred, the Bishop found it more and more difficult to provide from the limited personnel of his missionary clergy the necessary minimum of priest-teachers and administrators. The first two presidents of Spring Hill were called away to be bishops, one to Dubuque (Bishop Loras), the other to Vincennes (Bishop Bazin), and the third, Father Mauvernay died after a very brief term of office. Reluctantly, Bishop Portier was compelled to transfer his college to a newly arrived French congregation, the Fathers of Mercy. With little or no experience in teaching, these zealous missionaries found the direction of Spring Hill College a thankless task and gave it up after two years. A similar experiment with the Eudists succeeded no better, and in 1845 the College suspended operations, pending some new arrangement.

In this crisis the Lyons province of the Society of Jesus was persuaded to take over Spring Hill College, and the new regime was inaugurated with Father Francis Gautrelet, S.J., as President in September, 1847. Since that time through many vicissitudes, the Jesuits have directed the policies of the college and have endeavored to make it a center of liberal culture. During the Civil War studies continued without interruption, but a costly fire in 1869 destroyed the main building and required the removal of students and faculty to St. Charles College, Grand Coteau, Louisiana. Through the generous aid of many friends, particularly Bishop Quinlan, the second founder, a new building rose on the site of the old, and the new Spring Hill opened its doors before the year's end.

In the early part of the present century, St. Joseph's Chapel and Yenni Hall were welcome additions to the physical plant.

Until 1923 the high school and college departments were not perfectly separate in organization and faculty, but after that date a more clear-cut division was noticeable. Within a few years new buildings arose on the western side of the campus, and thither the college removed for classes and other activities. With the close of the term in 1935, the high school department was discontinued, and the whole plant thus given over to the needs of the College.

The subsequent growth of the College promptly justified the step. Enrollment mounted steadily in the years preceding World War II. Among important developments in this direction was the opening of the Jesuit School of Philosophy in 1937, and of the neighboring House of Studies for the Sacred Heart Brothers a few years later. The ecclesiastical students housed in these buildings were to be an important counterbalance to inroads on enrollment made by the progressive demands of selective service in the early nineteen-forties, though the survival of the College during the war years was certain only when the Army Air Force established a Cadet Training detachment of two hundred students in 1943. Once the war was over the returning veterans soon taxed the facilities of the College, requiring the erection on the campus of such temporary buildings as Cummings Hall, Kenny Hall, both dormitories, and a cafeteria for day students.

Other changes during this time involved a greater stress in the curriculum offerings of business administration and pre-professional training. Football, which had been a casualty after Pearl Harbor, was not revived, but other intercollegiate sports, notably basketball, golf and tennis, attracted much more attention than previously and the College, passing through championships in the Gulf States Conference, moved on to membership in the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

In 1952, at the request of His Excellency, Bishop Toolen of Mobile, the College broke a more-than-century-old precedent by admitting women students to all regular courses as day students. Two years later, in accordance with the decision of the United States Supreme Court, qualified colored students were accepted in all departments of the College. In 1955, as part of the celebration of its One Hundred Twenty-fifth Anniversary, the College dedicated a new dormitory building, Walsh Hall. This made possible the elimination of temporary buildings and Quinlan Hall as dormitories. Consequently, Quinlan Hall was completely converted to classroom uses beginning in the spring of 1956. At present the College is making plans for a further expansion of the facilities and the faculty in order to accomodate the increased enrollment which seems certain during the next two decades.

Credo of Spring Hill College

SPRING HILL COLLEGE refuses to subscribe to the doctrine that "academic freedom" may be used as a pretext to teach systems which destroy all freedom. We proudly boast that it has always taught and always will teach the following creed:

We believe in God

We believe in the personal dignity of man

We believe that man has certain rights which come from God and not from the State

We therefore are opposed to all forms of dictatorship which hold that the "total man" (totalitarianism) belongs to the State

We believe in the sanctity of the home—the basic unit of Society

We believe in the natural right of private property, but likewise that private property has its social obligations

We believe that Labor has not only rights but obligations

We believe that Capital has not only rights but obligations

We are vigorously opposed to all forms of racism—persecution or intolerance because of race

We believe that liberty is a sacred thing, but that law, which regulates liberty, is a sacred obligation

We believe in inculcating all the essential liberties of American Democracy and take open and frank issue with all brands of spurious "democracy."

We believe, briefly, in the teachings of Christ, who held that morality must regulate the personal, family, economic, political and international life of men if civilization is to endure.

General Information

Grounds and Buildings

The COLLEGE CAMPUS occupies some 700 acres of the elevation which gives its name to this residential suburb of Mobile. The city and bay are both visible from the hill and easily accessible either by bus or by the famous Old Shell Road which passes the college gates.

Spring Hill is on the Azalea Trail, just six miles from the center of the city. The natural beauty of its well-chosen site, adorned with an almost endless variety of trees, shrubs and flowers, its lake, its shaded avenues, and the striking setting of its athletic fields and buildings make the campus one of the most attractive in the United States.

Even in the hottest summer months, the temperature, thanks to the nearby Gulf, is usually several degrees lower than in the neighboring city. The mildness of the climate all the year round makes it possible for outdoor sports to continue without interruption.

The Administration Building stands on the site of the first building which Bishop Portier erected for his pioneer college. The present plant, erected in 1869, partly in 1909, to replace the damage caused by historic fires, is a brick structure several hundred feet in length and three stories high. Covered Spanish colonnades join it to the Dining Hall on the west, the Infirmary on the east, and the Chapel on the north. The building itself is occupied by the Faculty and the administrative offices. Class rooms are also located in this building.

The INFIRMARY BUILDING is the only building in present use which antedates the fire of 1869. On the first floor is located the pharmacy under the charge of a registered nurse; and the rooms on the second floor are equipped to take care of all ordinary cases of illness.

The REFECTORY BUILDING across the quadrangle from the Infirmary contains the dining halls for faculty and students. The faculty hall upstairs is brightened by the painting which Napoleon's uncle, Cardinal Fesch, presented to his friend, Bishop Portier for his new college. The students' dining hall is on the lower floor.

The COLLEGE CHAPEL, dedicated to the Patron of the College, St. Joseph, was built in 1910. It is modified Gothic in style, and beautifully appointed within.

YENNI HALL, erected and named in memory of Father Dominic Yenni, S.J., Professor of Latin and Greek at Spring Hill for over fifty years, and author of Yenni's Latin and Greek Grammars, is entirely devoted to Science. Here are installed on different floors, Physics, Chemistry, and Biology lecture rooms and laboratories, and the Seismographic Station.

The THOMAS BYRNE MEMORIAL LIBRARY, an impressive building on the campus, is the gift of Mrs. Byrne in memory of her husband and son. It was completed in 1930. It has at present 50,000 volumes. The general reading room is large enough to accomodate 100 students at one time. There are besides smaller rooms for research and conference, and one large lecture room. A special section of the building contains the Lavretta Library, donated by Mr. L. C. Lavretta, a Mobile Alumnus.

The COLLEGE INN is a recreation center midway between the golf course and Mobile Hall.

The GYMNASIUM is located in a building just west of the Dining Hall. It contains a basketball court, locker rooms, and showers.

QUINLAN HALL is the name given to the long corridor of class rooms, built over the Gymnasium Building and named in honor of Spring Hill's second founder, Bishop Quinlan.

MOBILE HALL is a dormitory building. Dedicated November 6, 1927, it has space and equipment for housing over 100 students. The living rooms in this building are bright and airy, and provided with every modern convenience.

WALSH HALL, the latest addition to the campus, is a new dormitory building with a capacity of more than 150 students, and with a lounge which provides facilities for social gatherings of students during out-of-class periods. It is named after Joseph M. Walsh, a prominent Mobilian, who was an outstanding benefactor of the College. It was opened for student occupancy in the spring of 1955.

CUMMINGS HALL and KENNY HALL, named respectively for its President and Dean of the College, Father Edward Cummings, and for its historian and long-time Philosophy Professor the late Father Michael Kenny, are temporary buildings.

Other campus buildings include the SODALITY CHAPEL, a campus landmark recently renovated; and ANIMAL HOUSE for biology department material and the CHEMISTRY ANNEX containing laboratory space for freshman chemistry classes.

ADMISSION REGULATIONS

Admission Procedure

Admission to the various programs of study at Spring Hill College is open to qualified men and women, but living accommodations on the campus are restricted to men.

The College requires for admission the satisfactory completion of a four year course in secondary school approved by a recognized accrediting agency. All candidates for admission to Freshman year must present sixteen units in acceptable subjects. A unit represents a year's study in any subject, constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work. This definition of a unit takes the four-year high school as a basis and assumes that the length of the school year is from thirty-six to forty weeks, that a period is from forty-five to sixty minutes in length, and that the study is pursued for four or five periods a week. Candidates are admitted either by certificate or by examination.

Students from countries where the English language is not the vernacular are required to have a sufficient mastery of the English language to enable them to follow class lectures without difficulty. No special classes in English will be provided by the college for these students.

General admission regulations in the evening division are the same as those listed. In addition to the usual college admissions, persons desiring secretarial training through intensive work of this type may enroll either as special students or, by including other regular academic courses in their program, as candidates for the B.S.C. degree.

Applicants for admission are required to submit an entrance application and have a complete transcript of their school record mailed to the Registrar. Applicants enrolled in high school or college at the time of application should have a transcript mailed to the Registrar which shows the work completed and the work under way. An application fee of $5.00 is charged.

Men students who will board on the campus should submit a physician's certificate of good health along with the entrance application. The physician's certificate should certify that the applicant is free from infectious and contagious diseases, call attention to any past or present physical or mental abnormality, and specify to what extent the applicant may participate in athletic activities. With the exception of married students, out-of-town men are required to room and board on the campus.

Admission by Certificate

Admission unconditionally by certificate is granted applicants graduating from approved secondary schools provided: (1) their 16 high school units include 12 of strictly academic nature (i.e., English, Mathematics, Languages, History, Natural Science, Social Science) and specifically such as correlate in the opinion of the Board of Admission with the course which the candidate intends to pursue; (2) that the student's rank in his high school class be better than that of the lowest quartile, or that his general average in academic courses be equivalent of C or better; and (3) that there is satisfactory evidence of personal character and other qualities deemed requisite by the College for desirable students.

Admission on Probation

Upon special recommendation of their Principal, graduates of four year non-accredited high schools will be admitted without examination on probation for their first semester, provided they fully satisfy the quantitative and qualitative entrance requirements enumerated above. Admission on probation, but with a limited schedule, may also be granted by the Board of Admissions to students who though otherwise acceptable are ranked in the lowest quartile of their high school class, provided there is additional evidence of seriousness of purpose and reasonable prospect of success in college. Students on probation are liable to dismissal for poor scholarship at the end of the semester unless they restore themselves to academic good standing (see ACADEMIC STANDING.)

Admission by Examination

Applicants who are not entitled to admission by certificate, may, with permission of the Board of Admission, take examinations for admission. Arrangements for these examinations must be made not later than two weeks before the beginning of a semester. Applicants who are rejected for reasons of character or academic ranking are not eligible for these examinations.

Admission to Advanced Standing

Students applying for admission from other institutions of collegiate rank will be given advanced standing provided the courses taken are considered comparable to those given at Spring Hill. In the evaluation of previous work, no credit will be accepted for course in which a grade of less than C has been received. The transfer student must also present an honorable dismissal from the last institution attended.

Special Students

Mature and earnest students who are lacking in the required units or persons who wish to pursue particular studies without reference to graduation or students matriculated at another college who wish to pursue courses at Spring Hill with the approval of their Dean, may be admitted by the permission of the Dean to such courses of their own choice as they seem qualified to take.

OBJECTIVES OF THE COLLEGE

Statement of the Objectives

Ultimate Objectives

As a Jesuit Liberal Art College, Spring Hill has the same primary purpose as the Catholic educational system taken in its entirety. This is best expressed in the words of Pope Pius XI: "The proper and immediate end of Christian education is to cooperate with divine grace in forming the true and perfect Christian, that is, to form Christ Himself in those regenerated by baptism . . . The true Christian, product of Christian education, is the supernatural man who thinks, judges and acts constantly and consistently in accordance with right reason, illuminated by the supernatural light of the example and teaching of Christ; in other words, to use the current term, the true and finished men of character."

Immediate Objectives

It is in terms of this end that the Jesuit College of Liberal Arts conceives its special function in contemporary American life. Obviously, then, it will not neglect the field of religion. Instruction in Catholic faith and morals will always be a part of its task. But it is not the whole. The Jesuit college by its traditions can never be content with simply presenting Catholicism as a creed, a code or a cult. It must strive to communicate the riches of Catholicism as a culture, thus giving the modern man a coign of vantage whence to view with understanding not merely the facts in the natural order, but those in the supernatural order also, those facts which give meaning and coherence to the whole life.

Jesuit education regards the college of liberal arts as the heart of its system. It is through the instrumentality of such colleges that Catholic leaders will be formed, men and women who have been trained spiritually and intellectually in the Catholic sense, who have intelligent and appreciative contact with Catholicism as a culture, who through their general education in the college of arts have so developed their powers of mind and heart and will that they can take an active part in the service of Church and society.

The Jesuit college in its teaching aims at reaching the whole man, his intellect, his will, his emotions, his sense, his imagination, his aesthetic sensibilities, his memory, and his powers of expression. It seeks to lift up man's whole being to that broad, spiritual outlook on life whereby he not only understands and appreciates the fact that our entire social heritage is bound up with the Truth, Goodness and Beauty of God as seen in Revelation, Nature, Art and Language, but is likewise willing and ready to become identified with those activities, individual as well as collective, that make for the sanctification of the individual and the betterment of society.

The Jesuit college strives to provide a broad foundation in general education, upon which advanced study in a special field may be built.

DISCIPLINE AT SPRING HILL

The Discipline

Spring Hill is committed to the belief that a system of education which discounts the formation of character is pernicious. For this reason opportunity is given to learn the important lesson of obedience to salutary laws and restraints. Everywhere necessary for ordered living, discipline is imperative when restless youths are forming a community of their own, as they do in a boarding school. Whatever the age of the students, and their opinion of their abilities to shape their own lives, the authorities of the school feel for their charges the responsibility of a parent. Rules are therefore made governing the out-of-class life of the student, particularly their social activities and absences from the campus. These rules and the sanctions for their observance are officially published in The Student Handbook. Their enforcement, while considerate, is unflinchingly firm. Campus discipline is administered through the office of the Dean of Students.

Disciplinary Penalties

In addition to minor breaches of college discipline, there occur at times serious offenses which require drastic punishment, even suspension or dismissal from college. Such are: serious insubordination, repeated violation of regulations, neglect of studies, possession or use of intoxicating liquors, habitual use of obscene or profane language, and in general any serious form of immorality. In cases of the suspension or dismissal of a student for such reason the tuition fee is not refunded.

Without committing any overt act of the kind decribed in the preceding paragraph, a student may at times by constant and ill-founded criticism, or an habitual attitude of opposition to the college government become an undesirable member of the community. For such cases the college reserves the right to request any student to withdraw from school, with, however, an honorable dismissal, and the refund of such fees as may be refundable by the treasurer's regulations.

Attendance

The school year begins in the middle of September and ends in the last week of June. The year is divided into two semesters or sessions of eighteen weeks each and a summer session. The Fall semester ends during the last week of January. The Spring semester begins immediately thereafter.

The summer session starts early in June. The summer courses offered on the campus of Spring Hill College are open to qualified men and women students, but living accomodations on the campus are restricted to men. The clientele expected to form the bulk of the summer attendance will include the following: 1) regular students desiring to supplement their program of studies towards a degree; 2) teachers, religious and lay, who need credit for the issuance or renewal of teaching certificates; 3) transient students from other institutions, who with permission of their own college Dean find it convenient to take certain courses at the Spring Hill summer session; 4) transfer students and beginning freshmen.

The date of registration and the limits of the various holiday periods are clearly stated in this catalog, and will be strictly adhered to. Prompt and regular attendance at class meetings is required and the co-operation of parents and guardians in this important matter is earnestly requested.

Leave of absence from the college during the semester at any time other than at regular holidays will not be granted except for most urgent reasons at the written request of parent or guardian.

For grave reasons presented beforehand, the Dean may authorize absence from class meetings. An unauthorized absence will be penalized unless the student can establish that it was necessary and could not have been foreseen. Failure in prompt attendance is regarded as a partial absence, or total absence if in excess of ten minutes. Two partial absences will be equivalent to one absence. Absence whether authorized or not does not excuse the student from missed assignments, test, or laboratory work. These must be made up at the convenience of the instructor and are subject to special fees (see FEES AND EXPENSES). The full penalty for unauthorized absence in any course is enforced withdrawal from that course, and accordingly no credit will be given for the course. In special cases the delinquent may be reinstated by the Committee on Appeals upon written petition of the student. An absence in any first class immediately following holiday periods will be dealt with most severely.

ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

Amount of Work

The unit for computing the amount of a student's work is the semester hour, which is defined as approximately one hour of class lecture, recitation or demonstration per week for a semester. Two hours of preparation by the student for each class hour is presumed. Laboratory periods are double. In general, one semester hour represents for the average student ordinarily about three hours of actual work each week throughout one semester, divided appropriately between lecture or laboratory periods and out-of-class preparation. A normal student load is about seventeen semester hours per week and every boarding student will be required to register for and maintain a minimum of twelve hours in any semester; to receive financial assistance under Public Law 550, veterans must schedule a minimum of fourteen hours. Unusual programs need special approval of the Dean for completion of registration.

The maximum load for a student in the evening division is twelve hours credit per semester. It is possible for a student to satisfy the requirement for the bachelor's degree in approximately five and one-half years; this time can be shortened considerably by attendance at summer sessions.

Without special approval of the Dean the student's load during a summer session may not exceed six hours.

Examinations and Grades

Final examinations are held in all courses at the end of each semester; student grades in various courses are determined by these examinations together with all intra-semester recitations, quizzes and tests. Missed examinations, with or without justifying excuse, must be taken eventually.

The following system of grading is used. Each semester hour of credit is valued as follows:

- A excellent, with 4 quality points per hour of credit.
- B good, with 3 quality points per hour of credit.
- C satisfactory, with 2 quality points per hour of credit.
- D deficient, but passed with 1 quality point per hour of credit.
- E not passed, but entitled to re-examination for passing grade.
- EI incomplete, a temporary grade.
- F unacceptable, without right to re-examination.
- WP withdrawn passing.
- WF withdrawn failing.
- W withdrawn: registration cancelled.

The student should note that the grade D, although passing, indicates unsatisfactory work.

The grade E is given for deficiency in examination and is removable by supplementary examination, subject to fee payable in advance, to be administered on dates set by the Dean; by failing to register for these supplementary examinations upon official publication of schedule by the Dean's office the student waives his right to re-examination. Successful completion of supplementary examination entitles the student to a grade of D only. The grade EI is given for deficiency due to failure to complete assigned work and this may be removed by making up the required work within the time limit set by the Dean. This ordinarily entails a fine of two dollars and where laboratory work is required, the additional fees for make-up laboratory periods.

Reports

At least four times a year, i.e., in November, February, April and June detailed reports of scholarship are issued from the Dean's office.

Quality of Work

In order that a student maintain the required academic standing and continue in course, he must meet the following minimum standards: at the end of the first semester of Freshman year, he must have a quality quotient of 1.5; second semester, 1.6; first semester of Sophomore year, 1.7; second semester, 1.8; first semester of Junior year, 1.9; at the end of each subsequent semester, 2.0. The quality quotient is obtained by dividing the number of credit hours attempted into the number of quality points earned. For example, a student who has attempted 90 credit hours and earned 180 quality points would have a 2.0 quality quotient.

Students failing to meet the quality requirements specified above will be placed on probation for one semester. Low grades and neglect of work within the semester will also render the student liable to probation; failure to improve will entail reduction of schedule and withdrawal from active participation in extracurricular activities.

If the student is unable to raise his quality of work to the required minimum after one semester on probation he will be subject to suspension from the college. Only rarely and for very grave reasons will the probation of a student be extended beyond one semester. Students on scholastic probation may be excluded from participation in extracurricular activities and will be permitted to enroll for courses only as individually selected by the Dean.

Student Rank

A student is ranked as a SOPHOMORE who is in good standing academically and has at least thirty credit hours; as a JUNIOR, who has completed the prescribed lower division work in a field of concentration and has been received into a program of concentration; as a SENIOR, who has been recommended by his department chairman as a candidate for graduation.

Graduation Requirements

Spring Hill College grants the degrees B.A., B.S., and B.S.C. The College will not, however, confer any of these degrees upon a student who has already obtained a bachelor's degree either from Spring Hill College or any other accredited College.

The conditions to be satisfied in order that baccalaureate degree be earned may be classified under the following headings.

1. Course Requirement

The general curricula to be followed for the various degrees are published elsewhere in this BULLETIN. Certain variations may be permitted with the approval of the Dean, but in no instance can these involve a reduction of requirements in the basic courses of English, History, Mathematics, Modern Language, Philosophy, Religion or Science as set down in the various curricula.

2. Quantitative Requirement

In order to qualify for a baccalaureate degree the student must present a program of studies consisting of not less than 132 semester hours of work. This program of studies should conform to the published curricula appropriate to the degree he seeks in accordance with the provisions of the preceding section.

3. Qualitative Requirement

A candidate for a degree must obtain not only the number of credits required, but his work must reach a certain standard of excellence. In addition to the 132 hours credit necessary for graduation, each student must have an average grade of C or better. No student will be advanced to candidacy for any collegiate degree nor will his application for a degree be approved unless he is in academic good standing. Courses in which a student is given a grade lower than C may be repeated and the student's permanent record will include grades of both attempts. For purposes of computing quality quotient the average of the two grades is used.

4. Language Requirement

Where modern language is part of the curriculum, the degree requirement is successful passing of a reading test to be administered after completion of the intermediate course or its equivalent. Furthermore, a test in proficiency in English is given to all Freshmen after they have completed the course in English composition; successful completion of this test by the beginning of the semester in which the student plans to graduate is a prerequisite to graduation for all candidates.

5. Concentration Requirement

Toward the end of his sophomore year each student is to petition acceptance into the department of his major concentration. This petition, however, is to be made only after consultation with the academic advisor. Students may be admitted to any program of concentration that they desire, provided they have completed with a C grade or better all the prerequisites to their chosen field of concentration.

There must be completed a major sequence in some subject (or at the discretion of the department concerned and with the approval of the Dean, in some closely related group of subjects) and a minor sequence in another subject. The uniform requirement for a major sequence in any department is a program of eighteen hours of upper division courses; for a minor sequence, a program of twelve hours of upper division courses. A major may be changed only by the consent of the Dean and the heads of the departments concerned, and such changes will be permitted only upon the distinct understanding that all the courses prescribed in the major finally chosen shall be completed before graduation.

6. Comprehensive Examination

At the end of his senior year the candidate for a degree must pass a comprehensive examination on the various courses offered as a major. Candidates for honors at graduation (see below) must also present an acceptable thesis for the approval of the Dean.

7. Residence Requirement

The senior year (or 24 of the last 30 semester hours of work), together with fifty per cent of the course work required in each area of the field of concentration, must be made at Spring Hill College.

8. Application For Degree

All applicants for a degree must file their applications and present their credits and the evidence of having met all requirements listed above on or before the first of March preceding commencement.

Students taking any of the last six hours at another institution must complete this work before they may file their application for a degree. The degree will be granted at the next commencement exercises after the session in which the final work was completed.

9. Graduation Fee

A graduation fee of fifteen dollars is payable in advance and settlement of all indebtedness to the College must be made.

10. Graduation Honors

The honors at graduation to be inscribed on the diplomas, read at commencement and published in the lists of graduates on the basis of quality points in their ratio to the total number of credit hours carried and are awarded according to the following scale: summa cum laude for a quality quotient of 3.9; magna cum laude for a quality quotient of 3.7; cum laude for a quality quotient of 3.5.

Transfer students with a quality quotient of 3.5 or better for work done elsewhere are eligible for graduation with honors provided they establish a minimum of 66 semester hours credit at Spring Hill College and maintain at least the 3.5 quotient required.

Withdrawal from College

Students who for any reason withdraw from college during the semester must give previous notice to the Registrar. Failure to do this within reasonable time will incur forfeiture of right to an honorable dismissal.

Transcript of Record

Students wishing transcript of records in order to transfer from this college to another, or for any other purpose, should make early and seasonable application for same. No statements will be made out during the busy periods of examinations and registrations. The first transcript of record is furnished free. For each additional copy there is a charge of one dollar.

Prizes and Trophies

To encourage the students of Spring Hill College in the development of initiative, self-reliance and leadership in various phases of college life the following prizes and trophies are awarded in recognition of outstanding achievement. In most instances the awards are made annually.

This medal was awarded to John Pierce, 1954; Emile Carrierre, 1955.

This medal was awarded to John A. Courtney, 1954; Mary Elizabeth Jongbloed, 1955.

THE O'CALLAGHAN MEDAL, donated by Rev. J. McDermott, in memory of Rev. C. T. O'Callaghan, D.D., for the best paper in Latin.

This medal was not awarded.

THE MASTIN MEDAL, founded by the former physician of the college, Dr. William Mastin, is awarded for the best paper in General Chemistry.

This medal was awarded to Jack Manley, 1954; Clayton Mosley, 1955.

THE STEWART MEDAL is donated annually by Dr. Dudley M. Stewart, B.S., 1923, for the best paper in Biology.

This medal was awarded to Raymond I. Smith, 1954; Eric R. Anders, 1955.

THE HOUSSIERE MEDAL, founded by Charles, Ernest and Jules Houssiere for excellence in mathematics.

This medal was not awarded in 1954; Francine Horne, 1955.

THE FAULK MEDAL, donated by Ward C. Faulk for the highest honors of the Bachelor of Science in Commerce degree.

This medal was awarded to Iola Shreve Hazel, 1954; Mary Josephine Klein, 1955.

THE LANGE MEDAL, founded by Mrs. Louise A. Lange of New Orleans, is awarded for excellence in Accounting.

This medal was awarded to William F. Egan, 1954; Leon Dixon, 1955.

THE ALLEN MEDAL, founded by the Most Reverend Edward P. Allen, former Bishop of Mobile, is awarded for the vote of the students to one excelling in deportment.

This medal was awarded to James F. Donovan, 1954; John A. Pierce, 1955.

THE TOOLLEN MEDAL, founded by the Most Reverend Thomas J. Toolen, D.D., Archbishop-Bishop of Mobile-Birmingham, to be awarded to the graduate with the highest scholastic average for his four years of work.

This medal was awarded to Robert E. Woods, 1954; Charles E. McKinnon, 1955.

THE MATT RICE SERVICE CUP, founded by the Omicron Sigma Fraternity in memory of Matthew P. Rice, A.B., 1919, a founder of the fraternity, is awarded annually to the student, who during the year has rendered the greatest service to the college.

This cup was awarded to Richard D. Cimino, 1954; Frank Henry Flautt, 1955.

THE FRESHMAN CUP, founded in 1938 at the silver jubilee reunion of the class of 1913 by the following members of the class: Father John J. Druhan, S.J., President of the College; Dr. William Barker, Lee A. Plauche, Frank Prohaska, and William B. Slattery, is awarded annually to the Freshman showing greatest promise of future leadership.

This cup was awarded to Patrick F. Harte, 1954; Elizabeth A. Williams, 1955.

PRIZE OF $25 SECURITY BOND donated by Mobile Academy of Science to outstanding Science Student at Spring Hill College.

This bond was awarded to James Milton Knight, 1954; Clayton Moseley, Jr., 1955.

THE ECONOMICS MEDAL is donated annually by Mrs. Ellen M. Betty for the best paper in Economics.

This medal was not awarded in 1954; David O. Strickland, 1955.

THE DISTINGUISHED STUDENT IN ACCOUNTING AWARD of the Alabama Society of Certified Public Accountants.

This award was presented to Gayford L. Hinton, Jr., 1954; James D. Moody, III, 1955.

THE ALUMNI SUMMER RESEARCH SCHOLARSHIP IN BIOLOGY, founded by the Biology alumni in 1948.

This award was presented to Patrick H. Buckley, Jr., 1954; Elbert H. Mudge, 1955.

THE MARTHA D. MARSHALL CHEMISTRY AWARD is donated annually by Dr. H. L. J. Marshall for the best paper presented before the Chapter of Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society.

This award was not made in 1954; Virginia James, 1955.

A CITATION WITH A GOLD KEY AND CHAIN, sponsored by the National Defense Transportation Association, for outstanding performance of duty as a Senior ROTC student.

This citation was awarded to Cadet Lt. Col. Robert J. MacDonald, 1954; Cadet Captain Dennis O. Butterfield, 1955.

A CITATION for outstanding performance of duty as a Junior ROTC student.

This citation was awarded to Cadet Sergeant John H. Pierce, 1954; Cadet Sergeant First Class Oliver J. LaTour, Jr., 1955.

STUDENT WELFARE

Religious Life of Student

The College is a Catholic institution intended primarily for Catholic students, but it does not exclude those of other religious beliefs who may wish to take advantage of its system of education. As a rule about 25 per cent of the whole student body, and about 5 per cent of the boarding students are non-Catholic. Special courses in religion are provided for non-Catholics to replace the required courses in Catholic religion. They are permitted and encouraged to attend their own religious obligations on Sunday. By exception they are expected and required to assist as a part of the student body at the collegiate chapel services listed in the annual College Calendar.

The Catholic students are given every opportunity to learn their religion in theory and in practice. A graded course in Religion is offered, running through four years, and all Catholics are obliged to register for these courses. Credits are given for the courses and required for graduation.

Week-day Mass is required of all Catholic boarding students. Frequent, even daily, Communion is encouraged and quite generally practiced. Special devotions are practiced towards the Sacred Heart on the first Friday of the month, and towards the Blessed Virgin Mary during the months of October and May. A wonderful occasion of grace for many is the annual three-day Retreat given in the first semester and obligatory on all Catholic students, boarders and day scholars alike. The day scholars will be charged a nominal fee for board and lodging during the three days of the exercises.

One of the Fathers on the faculty is appointed as counsellor or advisor of the students. His principal duty is to direct the spiritual activities of the college and the various religious societies and sodalities in regard to which he exercises much the same supervision as the Dean of Students exercises in his department.

Veterans' Education

The College is approved for the education of veterans under Public Laws 346, 16 and 550, covering veterans of World War II and the Korean War. Accordingly it is the policy of the school to afford these men every opportunity for study compatible with their educational background and the scope of the institution.

Credit will be given for courses and training completed in military service. In this matter the college will be guided by the American Council of Education in its publication entitled, Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services, and the opinion of the Committee on Admissions and Degrees.

Student Activities

As college education is accomplished not only during the hours of class but also in no small degree during the students' interchange of ideas at other periods, the College heartily encourages all student organizations which help to develop in the student initiative, self-reliance and leadership in organized religious and social movements, qualities which are expected of college men generally.

Student Council

This is the co-ordinating group for all the campus organizations. Representation on the council is enjoyed by all the recognized clubs. The President of the Council is elected by the student body and represents them in all petitions to the faculty.

Religious Organizations

Sodality

The Sodality began its work at Spring Hill in 1847 and has never ceased to represent the loyalty of the students to the Mother of God. Regular meetings are held, and various works of zeal and charity are undertaken under the sponsorship of this organization.

Apostleship of Prayer and League of the Sacred Heart

This organization fosters among Spring Hill students the ideal of reparation and devotion to the Sacred Heart.

St. John Berchmans Sanctuary Society

The Sanctuary Society is an association of those Catholic men students who serve at the altar during the various liturgical functions.

Academic Societies

Alpha Sigma Nu

This is the Jesuit Honor Fraternity open to those holding highest academic rank in the Senior class.

Alpha Psi Omega

The College chapter of the national honorary dramatic fraternity, Eta Epsilon Cast, was established in 1938. It aims to promote interest in college dramatics and to provide a wide fellowship for those interested in college productions. Membership is open to qualified Yenni players actively engaged in dramatics.

Beta Beta Beta

This national fraternity in biology has a very active chapter at Spring Hill. Meetings are held twice a month, with guest speakers a frequent attraction. The Mendelian is published by the group.

Chemical Society

This organization, a chapter of Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society, whose membership is restricted to chemistry majors, engages in such activities as are calculated to foster a professional attitude toward and pride in chemistry.

International Relations Club

The Carnegie Endowment for International Peace approved in 1940 the opening of this campus club at Spring Hill. The purpose of its monthly meetings is to enlighten student opinion on world affairs. A special library is maintained.

Philomelic Academy

This organization is devoted to the study and appreciation of classical as well as modern music masters.

Pi Kappa Delta

The College chapter of the national honorary forensic fraternity was installed in 1947 to promote the interests of intercollegiate oratory, debate and public speaking. The membership is recruited by nomination from the Portier Debating Academy.

Portier Debating Academy

The purpose of this organization, named for the founder of the College, is to foster forensics. From its ranks the intercollegiate debating teams is usually chosen. The Academy sponsors the annual Azalea Debate Tournament, which draws competing intercollegiate teams from any parts of the nation.

Yenni Dramatic Society

This society, an offshoot of the Portier in 1935, aims to develop a practical interest in the drama. It promotes this interest by encouraging playwriting, acting, directing and stage designing in all phases of dramatic art.

Phi Tau

Founded at Spring Hill in 1954, this is an organization for students of medical technology. Meetings are held every other week, at which talks from laboratory personnel are heard.

College Publications

The Springhillian

As a bi-weekly college publication, it aims at developing school spirit and serving as a close bond among the students and between students and faculty. It strives to mold student opinion and to guide student action through its editorial columns and its presentation of the news. It encourages student activity by supporting campus activities.

The Motley

The MOTLEY is the literary publication of Spring Hill College. It appears seasonally and circulates not only among the students and faculty on the campus but has a large subscription list among the alumni and is exchanged for similar publications of many other colleges over the country. In the MOTLEY are found original short stories, essays, articles on a variety of subjects, dramas, book reviews, and editorials.

The Torch

The College yearbook, first printed in 1924, is edited and published by an undergraduate staff and by means of popular subscription. THE TORCH is a pictorial chronicle of campus activities photographed by staff artists and candid camera fans, which will serve in after years as a fond memory of college life.

The Mendelian

One of the oldest college publications in point of service, THE MENDELIAN, was founded in 1923 by its present Moderator, Fr. Patrick H. Yancey, S. J. It is published by the local chapter of Tri Beta in the interests of biological research.

The Alumnus Newsletter

In existence since the centennial year (1930) THE ALUMNUS NEWSLETTER, is published monthly and edited by the Executive Alumni Secretary. Its purpose is to knit the alumni together and to serve as a nexus between them and Spring Hill College.

Music Organizations

Band

The Band, under the direction of Mr. Claus E. Sadlier, Jr., provides military music for marching exercises of the ROTC, for public parades, athletic events, students' activities, and for commencement exercises. It provides the student an excellent chance to advance in the knowledge of his instrument and to acquire professional musicianship.

Orchestra

Smaller in size than the Band, the Orchestra performs for many indoor student activities. It provides the musical setting for musical comedies and plays, for concerts, dances, and parties. The Orchestra is a popular organization and has been well received.

Glee Club

The Glee Club offers the student a chance to develop his talent by means of choral singing. The Glee Club sings at various entertainments and its members take part in musical comedies and in radio broadcasts.

The Choir

In the Students' Chapel the singing for a number of ceremonies is provided by the students' choir. Members are trained in the ideals of liturgical music. A magnificent new organ accompanies the singing. All Catholic vocalists are eligible for membership.

ROTC

Spring Hill College offers Army Reserve Officers training in general military science. The unit is directed by a military staff under the command of a Lieutenant Colonel, assisted by two commissioned officers and four non-commissioned officers.

Social Clubs

State Clubs

These clubs were organized to acquaint students from the same locality with one another and in this way to foster union of spirit which will, now and later, promote the Spring Hill spirit of loyalty and service among themselves and the alumni.

The State Clubs now functioning at the College are the Chicago Club, founded in 1938; the New York Club, begun in 1941; the Latin American Club, formed in 1947; the Louisiana Club, organized in 1949; the Florida Club, organized in 1950; and the Dallas Club, started in 1955. Other State Clubs are encouraged to organize by petitioning the right from the Student Council.

Social Fraternities

There are three social fraternities at Spring Hill: Omicron Sigma, the Alpha Lambda Chapter of Phi Kappa (National Fraternity for Catholic college students), and Phi Omega. Omicron Sigma, founded in 1915, is the oldest. It gives the Matt Rice Service cup annually to the student who renders the greatest service to the College.

Alumni Association

The Alumni Association, founded more than a century ago, was reorganized in 1914. It maintains a full time office on the Campus and publishes THE ALUMNUS NEWSLETTER monthly. Local alumni clubs, the most flourishing of them in Chicago, Mobile and New Orleans, have been given added impetus since the war. The purpose of the Association is to preserve friendly relations among the alumni, to foster the Spring Hill tradition, and to advance the influence and the interests of the College.

Veterans Association

The Veterans Association of Spring Hill College, reorganized in 1953, promotes a spirit of cooperation, good will and mutual helpfulness between its members and the College; operates in the interest of the veterans; and serves as a liaison between the Veterans Administration and the individual local members.

Chi Rho

A service and social organization for women students at Spring Hill College. Its membership includes all full time women students. Moreover, it is the representative group of the women students, acting as a liaison between them and the administration of the college. It sponsors, among many other activities, the annual Angel Dance.

Athletic Activities

In the intercollegiate athletic competition, Spring Hill is a member of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association and the NCAA, and its athletic teams engage those of other colleges in basketball, baseball, tennis and golf.

Intramural sports play an adequate part in the extracurricular life of the student body at Spring Hill. Facilities for various seasonal intramural sports are available on the campus. With participation optional, teams are formed under the guidance of the intramural director for competition in touch-football, basketball and softball. Off-campus intramural athletics include, among others, a bowling league. Trophies are provided for the winners in the various intramural sports.

Tennis courts, an eighteen-hole golf course and a large spring-fed lake are other facilities offered for student participation in athletic activity.

PROGRAMS OF CURRICULA

Foreword

Although the majority of students enter college without having decided with any degree of certainty the career that they intend to follow, this does not mean that their program of studies cannot be constructive. In any instance the directing principle of a well-planned program of studies should not be chiefly vocational. A student who intends to study medicine will naturally see that he includes all those subjects which the medical schools require for admission, but in addition he should not forget that a good doctor must also be a good human being and that he needs besides his specialized medical knowledge a wide range of interests and cultivated tastes. The best medical schools prefer candidates who have not had a narrowly specialized training in college. Similarly, a student who is planning to go into law or engineering should not try to limit himself in college to subjects which appear to be immediately contributory to legal or engineering studies. A student, when making his choice of program, must realize that presumably he has before himself a lifetime of necessary specialization, but only three or four years of freedom in which to study the interrelation of ideas and knowledge, to broaden his intellectual interest and human sympathies, to fit himself to take his part as an intelligent man in the social, economic, political and religious order that lies ahead of him.

The ideal college education should prepare a man to live—physically, mentally and spiritually—up to his fullest capacity, to cooperate with and understand other men while still preserving the integrity of his own individual character, to establish for himself the standards of thinking and conduct which shall give direction to all his activities, to see new possibilities in existing conditions of life and to adapt himself to other conditions in which he may find himself in the future. An education so conceived is what is called a LIBERAL education as opposed to an education restricted to vocational training. In a liberal education mathematics and the sciences, literature and the other arts, history, philosophy and religion are studied as means to liberalizing the human spirit, to freeing a man from the narrowing restrictions of a single environment and the single age in which he lives. An adequate knowledge of the past is our only means of acquiring the necessary experience with which to meet the future. Such an education as is described here can prepare a man adequately for the privileges and the responsibilities of citizenship in the world of today.

The various programs of curricula, which are given on the subsequent pages, have been designed by the faculty to assist the student in the task of attaining the goals of a liberal education, as such an education is understood at Spring Hill College. For convenience of reference these programs of curricula are presented in some detail.

PRE-LEGAL CURRICULUM

The usual curriculum is that giving a major in Political Science or Sociology. Students desiring a more specially designed program should consult the Dean.

FEES, EXPENSES, AND STUDENT AID

Treasurer's Regulations

Activities Fees includes use of the library, entertainments and lectures provided by the College authorities, student publications, athletic contests, both intercollegiate and intra-mural and courses in physical education.

Students who register for one or two courses only and who do not plan to present the credits earned for credit toward a degree either at Spring Hill or elsewhere are not subject to payment of the activity fee. A transcript of record of credits earned under these conditions will not be issued to any other school or agency, except upon payment of the fees that are remitted.

Rooms are shared by two occupants. The college provides the necessary heavy furnishings. Students supply their own bed-linen, blankets and towels, and whatever else they may deem appropriate.

Medical Fee takes care of medical attention by the Staff Physician and ordinary nursing in the College Infirmary not in excess of ten days.

Room Deposit, which must accompany each application for entrance is not applied to room rent but is retained to cover any damage beyond reasonable wear which may be done to the room or its furnishings while occupied by the students. The balance is returned to the parents when the student withdraws from the College. In case a student fails to occupy a room after reservation, the deposit will not be returned, unless notice of withdrawal is received one month before scheduled occupancy of room.

All checks should be made payable to SPRING HILL COLLEGE and addressed directly to the Treasurer's Office. Those desiring to send Postal Money Orders should have them drawn on the Mobile Post Office. Payments made from countries outside continental United States should be made payable in New York or New Orleans exchange.

All minor expenses, for books, stationery, etc., are on a strictly cash basis. Money for the personal accounts should be sent directly to the student, who alone will be responsible to the parents or guardians for an itemized statement of expenditures. This money may be deposited for safe keeping with the Treasurer but in this case parents must state in writing a definite amount for weekly withdrawals by the student. No advance of money will ever be made at any time for any purpose whatsoever. In case of emergency, students should have money wired to them.

Should a student leave before the end of the semester, a deduction for board and room rental will be made for the remainder of the semester, beginning with the first of the following month. The date on which notice is received by the Treasurer from the Registrar's Office is considered the date of withdrawal. Proration of charges made for tuition and other fees, excluding board and room fees, will be made according to the following schedule:

PERIOD OF ACTUAL ATTENDANCE	PRORATION OF CHARGES
	SUMMER SESSION 6-9 Weeks	REGULAR SEMESTER 16-19 Weeks
One week or less	40%	20%
Between one and two weeks	80%	20%
Between two and three weeks	100%	40%
Between three and four weeks	100%	60%
Between four and five weeks	100%	80%
Over five weeks	100%	100%

No student may have an honorable dismissal nor will be given credit for his studies or be admitted to the examination in January or May until all indebtedness to the College has been settled.

Plan of Payments

The general regulation calls for the payment of all charges for tuition, fees, room and board at the beginning of each semester, preferably at the time of registration.

Any other arrangement, which guarantees that the charge for tuition, fees, room and board will be paid in full prior to the final examination at the end of each semester, must be made in advance with the Treasurer; details of such arrangements may be secured from the Treasurer's Office. Any deferred payment arrangement will include an additional fee of $5.00.

A student may not register for a new term if he owes anything on the account of a previous term.

Scholarships

Realizing the importance of financial aid in the encouragement of deserving students, far-seeing friends of the College have from time to time set aside funds for the establishment of scholarships. A perpetual scholarship is established by the gift of funds whose interest will yield a sum sufficient to pay the annual tuition of at least one student. To cover the entire yearly cost of tuition an endowment of $10,000 is required. An annual scholarship is provided by the yearly donation of $400. In addition to the founded scholarships listed below, a varying number of SPRING HILL COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIPS will be granted by the college annually from general scholarship funds.

Founded Scholarships

THE CHARLES P. MILLER GOLD STAR SCHOLARSHIP, founded by his mother in memory of this member of the class of 1938, who gave his life for his country in World War II.

THE DIETZ SCHOLARSHIP, based on the income from a trust fund set up by the will of Fr. George Dietz of South Carolina.

THE PROHASKA MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP, founded by a bequest under the will of Frank Prohaska, of the class of 1913, for the establishment of scholarships for the benefit of students needing financial assistance.

THE BISHOP TOOLLEN SCHOLARSHIP, donated by the Most Reverend T. J. Toolen, D.D., Archbishop-Bishop of Mobile-Birmingham, carries remittance of tuition fees.

THE MAHER BROTHERS SCHOLARSHIP, donated by Louis J. Maher and Thomas H. Maher of Dallas, covers the yearly tuition for a graduate of a Dallas high school who needs financial assistance.

THE MCGILL SCHOLARSHIP, awarded annually to the graduate of McGill Institute, Mobile, who wins the highest honors of his class. It carries remittance of tuition fees for the student's course.

THE JESUIT HIGH SCHOOL SCHOLARSHIPS, granted to the honor graduate of each of the high schools of the New Orleans Province of the Society of Jesus, namely, Jesuit High School of New Orleans, Jesuit High School of Tampa, Jesuit High School of Dallas, St. John's High School of Shreveport. These scholarships carry remittance of tuition fees for the students' course.

FACULTY SCHOLARSHIPS, carry remittance of tuition fees for the children of faculty members as long as the parent is a member of the teaching staff. This applies to tuition only, and all other fees will be charged at the regular rate. The same privilege with the same limitations is extended mutatis mutandis to wives or husbands of faculty members, as well as to faculty members themselves.

THE ALUMNI SCHOLARSHIP is sponsored each year by the Mobile Alumni Club which grants one tuition scholarship (value $400) to a high school graduate approved by the Dean on recommendation of its Alumni committee, preference being shown to children of Spring Hill alumni.

ANNIVERSARY SCHOLARSHIPS, established by the College on the occasion of its 125 anniversary to provide half tuition scholarships to Mobile County high school graduates on the basis of a competitive examination. Seven scholarships were awarded in 1955 and up to 10 will be given yearly according to the quality of the applicants.

THE AMERICAN LEGION-VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS MEMORIAL SCHOLARSHIP is awarded by the Robert L. Bullard Post No. 49 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Lamar Y. McLeod Post No. 3 of the American Legion to a graduate of the schools of Mobile County; this scholarship is a memorial to those Americans who made the supreme sacrifice in the defense of their country.

Campus Employment

A certain number of student assistantships and clerical positions are open annually to deserving students. These provide employment at modest part-time wages to approximately fifty students annually for work as laboratory assistants, clerks and typists, in the Library, Book Store, Administrative offices, and manual labor in the Dining Rooms, grounds and buildings.

Conditions of Tenure for Student Aid

1. All scholarships and student jobs must be applied for in writing, and applications must be made by forms provided for the purpose and addressed to the Committee on Student Aid no later each year than July 1st.

2. A student receiving assistance through scholarship or college employment is expected to maintain a scholastic standing which in the judgment of the college authorities gives evidence that he is making the most of his abilities and opportunities. A mediocre, though passing, record in any semester raises for consideration the question of continuance of financial assistance. It is clear that the student receiving aid must be regular in attendance at his college exercises and also must maintain a record of good conduct.

3. No single individual may be the beneficiary of more than one scholarship during the same year. In case he should win two he must relinquish one. A beneficiary of the Korean Law 550 or the G.I. Bill of Rights cannot at the same time hold a scholarship.

4. All scholarships are restricted to the regular day school, Fall and Spring terms only. Hence there are no scholarships to the Evening Division or the Summer school.

5. Every scholarship and grant-in-aid must be reviewed for renewal at the end of each school year. Hence, holders who wish to have their scholarships or grants renewed must apply for this in writing, by May 15th. Renewal is dependent upon the attainment of at least a "C" average in academic subjects and satisfactory campus conduct.

6. Scholarships are cancelled when the student withdraws from school and are not renewable upon his return without special application.

7. All scholarships are held with the approval of the President.

8. A list of student jobs as filled by the Committee on Student Aid should be published in the Fall. Vacancies may then be noted and applied for.

9. No student may hold more than one campus job for which he receives pay.

10. All student jobs are held subject to satisfactory performance, as attested by the one immediately in charge of the work concerned; e.g., the Librarian for Library assistantships, the Dietician for dining room jobs, etc.

11. Unsatisfactory performance of a campus job which results in discharge will render the student ineligible for any other campus jobs during his stay at the College.

GIFTS AND BEQUESTS

As a private institution of higher learning, SPRING HILL COLLEGE must look to its friends and benefactors and to all whose bounty is on occasion devoted to the cause of education for the generous contributions which will enable the College to carry on its work of education, to provide an increase in the aid to deserving students, and to extend its contribution to the spread of knowledge and truth. Gifts to the College may take the form of funds for the establishment of scholarships or professorships, of additions to the material equipment of library collections, of contributions to the general endowment fund, or may be undesignated. Those desiring to make a bequest to SPRING HILL in their wills may be helped by the following suggested form:

LEGAL FORM FOR BEQUEST

I give (devise) and bequeath to Spring Hill College, an institution incorporated under the laws of the State of Alabama, and located at Spring Hill, Mobile County, Alabama, its successors forever, the sum of _____ Dollars (or otherwise describe the gift) for its general corporate purpose (or name a particular corporate purpose).

Departments of Instruction

Introductory Notes

The courses of instruction listed below are numbered according to a unified plan. Lower division courses (usually taken by freshmen and sophomores) are numbered 1 to 99. Within the lower division numbers, the numbers 30 to 99 frequently indicate that the course is reserved for sophomores. Upper division courses (usually taken by juniors and seniors and supposing previous preparation) are numbered from 100 to 199. Courses given in the first semester are usually designated by an odd number and those given in the second semester by an even number. Double numbers (e.g. 141-142) frequently indicate that the first semester course is prerequisite for the second semester course and that both must be satisfactorily completed to obtain credit for either course.

Of the courses listed below under the various department headings as many as may seem necessary will be given each term; the College, however, reserves the right to make such changes or variations as circumstances require, including restriction of the number of students to be admitted to any course.

Administrative Division

That they may function more efficiently under present circumstances the various departments of instruction have been combined into the following administrative departments. Unless otherwise indicated the area of administration is what is evidently implied by its name.

BIOLOGY: P. H. YANCEY, S.J., PH.D., Chairman.

COMMERCE: F. H. SWEET, M.S., Chairman; embracing courses in accounting, business administration and economics.

CHEMISTRY: J. V. DEIGNAN, S.J., PH.D., Chairman.

EDUCATION: J. C. MULHERN, S.J., M.A., Chairman; embracing courses in education and physical education.

ENGLISH AND FINE ARTS: J. F. MURRAY, S.J., A.M., Chairman; embracing courses in art, English, expression and music.

LANGUAGES: F. L. JANSSEN, S.J., A.M., Chairman; embracing courses in classical and modern foreign languages.

MATHEMATICS: E. H. LARGUIER, S.J., PH.D., Chairman; embracing courses in engineering and mathematics.

MILITARY SCIENCE AND TACTICS: FRANKLIN PATTERSON, LT. COL., U.S.A., Chairman.

PHILOSOPHY: A. J. BENEDETTO, S.J., PH.D., Chairman.

PHYSICS: W. J. RHEIN, S.J., PH.D., Chairman.

RELIGION: C. C. GOETZ, S.J., S.T.L., Chairman.

SOCIAL SCIENCE: R. W. VOLLENWEIDER, S.J., A.M., Chairman; embracing courses in history, political science and sociology.

Key Symbol

Following the title of each of the departments of instruction is a key symbol (e.g. Ac after accounting), which is used for convenience of reference in this bulletin and in other official records.

This course includes the study of the work of the credit manager in the various types of marketing agencies, and credit from the mercantile credit manager's viewpoint.

148. Retail store management (3)

A course including the intensive study of retail store management and operations. Buying operations, stock control and merchandise planning are also included. Open to merchandising seniors, others with permission of the instructor.

151. Marketing research (3)

A general study of scientific research methods applied to the field of marketing. Includes: methods of gathering and interpreting data, presentation of results, analyses, forecasting, surveys.

161. Transportation (3)

A study of the economics of transportation and the problems of operation, management and regulation of all important transport agencies.

171. Introduction to industrial management (3)

A survey course in management principles and methods; the student is given a comprehensive view of modern practices of planning, organizing, and controlling various functional activities in business.

172. Labor problems (3)

An introduction to the field of industrial relations and the study of basic labor problems growing out of modern economics arrangements.

175. Methods and measurement (3)

The economic uses of motion and time study, process and operation analysis, micromotion study, use of the blig, principles of motion economy, standardization, relation to wage incentives, determination of rating factors, time standards from elemental time data and formulas. Prerequisite: Ba 171.

176. Production control (3)

Production forecasting, control through production budget, material specifications, routing of operations and processes, plant layouts, plant safety, dispatching, quality and inventory control, departmental relationships, etc. Prerequisite: Ba 171.

179. Manufacturing processes (3)

A survey of the processing of industrial metals, chemical processes, fabrication and assembly processes.

180. Factory planning and layout (3)

A survey course in the principles of factory design and layout, including a study of factory services. Prerequisite: Ba 171.

183. Industrial quality control (3)

A study of quality control techniques; extensive study of statistical control of quality. Prerequisites: Ba 171, Ec 62 (or their equivalents).

184. Job evaluation and wage policies (3)

Methods of evaluation and a consideration of the work and objectives of personnel procedure; wage and salary administration techniques; study of the preparation and use of factory and office job descriptions. Prerequisite: Ba 171.

195. Personnel management (3)

An analysis of the principles of selection, training, care, and administration of personnel, considered in the light of current attempts to solve employer-employee differences. Prerequisite: Ba 172.

186. Industrial relations (3)

Exploration of the dynamic nature of human beings and the dignity of the worker; attention is given to those factors external to the organization which influence its relations with the workers; federal, state and local legislation; unions; the techniques of collective bargaining; contracts. Prerequisite: Ba 172.

192. Business problems (3)

This course is designed to train the student to solve varied business problems by drawing on his survey courses and research in the business library and current periodicals. Required of all business administration majors. Prerequisite: Senior standing.

CHEMISTRY (Ch)

Majors in chemistry will be sure to include in their program Ch 51, 131-132, 141-142, 143-144, 154, and an additional six hours of upper division electives in chemistry.

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

1. Survey of general chemistry (4)

A general introduction to the fundamental laws and theories of chemical science. Laboratory by demonstration only.

2. Philosophical problems in chemistry (3)

Presentation of problems in chemistry which have philosophical significance. First semester.

3. Hospital chemistry (3)

An introductory survey for nurses, including principles of general chemistry, and the elements of organic and physiological chemistry.

11-12. General chemistry I-II (6)

A course in the fundamental laws and theories, together with a systematic study of the elements; the laws of chemical equilibria and the common metallic and acid-forming elements. Three lectures weekly.

13. General chemistry laboratory (1)

The laboratory course for Ch 11 which must be taken simultaneously with it. Four hours laboratory and demonstration weekly.

14. Elementary qualitative analysis (1)

A laboratory course giving the principles and practices involved in the isolation and identification of the common metallic and acid-forming elements; the course must be taken simultaneously with Ch 12. Offered in spring semesters and summer sessions. Four hours of laboratory weekly.

31. Qualitative analysis (2)

A thorough study of the principles and practices employed in isolating and identifying the metallic and acid-forming elements. Offered on demand. Two lectures weekly.

33. Qualitative analysis laboratory (2)

Laboratory to accompany Ch 31; four hours per week.

51. Elementary quantitative analysis (2)

A course intended to familiarize the students with the techniques and physical measurements characteristic of quantitative analysis; in this course emphasis is placed on volumetric and colorimetric methods of analysis. Obligatory for pre-medical and pre-dental students and chemistry majors. Two hours lecture.

53. Elementary quantitative analysis laboratory (2)

Laboratory to accompany Ch 51; six hours per week.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

131-132. Organic chemistry I-II (6)

In this course a selected body of factual material is presented and the underlying principles of organic reactions are given in terms of electronic theory. Obligatory for chemistry and biology majors. Lecture three hours per week.

133-134. Organic laboratory I-II (2)

Laboratory to accompany Ch 131-132; four hours per week.

135. Elementary physical chemistry (3)

This course is designed for biology and pre-medical majors, and does not require calculus.

136. Elementary physical chemistry laboratory (1)

Experiments selected for the requirements of biology and pre-medical majors. Prerequisites: Ch 51, 53, 131-134. Ch 135 may be taken concurrently.

141-142. Physical chemistry I-II (4)

This course is intended to acquaint the student with the fundamentals of chemical theory, the states and properties of matter thermodynamics, thermochemistry, solutions, equilibrium conductance, electromotive force, phase equilibria, surface chemistry, kinetics and photo chemistry. Obligatory for chemistry majors. Prerequisites: Mt 51-52, Ph 101-102; quantitative analysis, and organic chemistry.

143-144. Physical chemistry laboratory (4)

This course is designed to teach exact measurements on chemical substances and processes, a determination of sources and magnitude of error; also give familiarity with the classical and current literature of the field. Obligatory for all chemistry majors. One hour lecture; one period of three hours laboratory.

154. Quantitative analysis (2)

A course in gravimetric analysis; includes also electro-deposition methods and many determinations involving physico-chemical methods. Obligatory for chemistry majors. Two hours lecture per week.

156. Quantitative analysis laboratory (2)

A laboratory course to accompany Ch 154; six hours per week.

161-162. Physiological chemistry (4)

An elementary course dealing with the chemistry of the carbohydrates, fats and proteins; the chemical basis underlying the phenomena of metabolism, enzymes, absorption and digestion are discussed. Lectures two hours per week.

163-164. Physiological chemistry laboratory (4)

A laboratory course to accompany Ch 161-162. Four hours per week.

171. Qualitative organic analysis (3)

Purification and identification of organic compounds; special emphasis is placed upon the practical analysis of compounds of organic origin. Lecture one hour per week; laboratory six hours.

172. Organic preparations (3)

A one-semester course for seniors majoring in chemistry. Lecture one hour, laboratory six hours.

181-182. Advanced inorganic chemistry (6)

A course for seniors majoring in chemistry. Prerequisite: Ch 141-142. Three periods of lecture per week.

183-184. Inorganic preparations (4)

A course for seniors majoring in chemistry. Two periods of laboratory per week.

199. Advanced seminar.

For seniors majoring in chemistry. Credits to be arranged.

ECONOMICS (Ec)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11-12. Social orientations I-II (6)

Identical with So 11-12. Successful completion of the first part is a prerequisite for admission to the second part; and credit for the course is granted only upon satisfactory completion of both parts of the course.

21. Introduction to economics (3)

A brief analysis of economic principles designed for non-economic majors.

51-52. Principles of economics I-II (6)

This course is intended to give a thorough explanation of the laws and principles underlying the economic system; it embraces a detailed analysis of production, distribution, exchange and consumption. A prerequisite for all upper division courses in economics. Successful completion of the first part is a prerequisite for admission to the second part; and credit for the course is granted only upon satisfactory completion of both parts of the course.

61. Money and banking (3)

Designed to give the students a firm grasp of the economic principles and theories underlying money, and the functions and operation of investment, commercial, and central banking.

62. Statistics (3)

An introductory consideration of statistical theory; collection, presentation, analysis and interpretation of data; frequency distribution; time; measures of central tendency and dispersion; index numbers, correlation; forecasting.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

107. Monetary theory (2)

An elementary investigation of the leading contributions of classical and contemporary monetary theories.

110. Economics of public finance (3)

This course is directed to a practical knowledge of the principles and methods of governmental fiscal operations and policies.

126. Economic history of the United States (3)

The economy of colonial America; commerce, agriculture and finance after 1789; the industrial revolution; the westward movement; development of banking, transportation and labor; rise of the corporation; growth of foreign trade; the United States as a world economic power.

127. Economic history of Europe to 1914 (3)

The development of economic institutions during the Middle Ages; the Guild System; the Age of Mercantilism; Economic Revolution; the development of modern commerce; the growth of financial institutions.

134. International economics (3)

This is designed to give the student a foundation in the theories and operations of international commercial policy and practice, foreign investment and foreign exchange.

135. The practice of foreign trade (3)

A study of contracts, overseas shipments, customs procedures, marine insurance, import and export financing, foreign exchange.

137-138. Economic analysis I-II (6)

A two-semester course in intermediate economics embracing studies in demand and supply, marginal analysis.

145. Business cycles (3)

Economic organization in its relation to the business fluctuations; indexes of business conditions, timing, duration and amplitudes of cycles; international aspects; the problems of forecasting and control.

153. History of economic thought (2)

An historical analysis of the development of economic theory; a study of the chief contributions of the Physiocrats, Adam Smith, Malthus, Ricardo, Say, Mill, Cairnes, Carey, Bastiat, Marx, Bohm Bawerk, J. B. Clark, Marshall, and Veblen.

155. Contemporary economic problems (2)

The economic principles involved in the existing maladjustments will be considered in the light of current attempts to secure a solution.

156. Contemporary economic thought (2)

A survey of contemporary economic literature considering present school of economic thought, their points of difference and theoretical tendencies.

161. Comparative economic systems (3)

A critical analysis of the theoretical and practical aspects of Capitalism, Socialism, and Fascism.

190. Welfare economics (2)

The criteria of economic welfare; models of efficiency; introduction to econometrics as a method of analysis. Prerequisite: Senior standing.

199. Seminar (1)

For seniors majoring in economics.

EDUCATION (Ed)

The Teacher Training program is administered by the Department of Education. Its purpose is to provide for the education and training of teachers for the elementary and secondary levels of both public and private schools in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Alabama State Department of Education.*

Specifically, the program includes 1) subjects in the field of general education required for a Bachelor's degree, 2) subjects comprising the major and minor teaching fields for secondary school teachers, and certain subjects essential in the preparation of elementary school teachers, and 3) subjects in professional psychology and education.

The Teacher Training program makes it possible for future teachers to fulfill the requirements for certification and for a Bachelor's degree during their regular college course.

Furthermore, teachers already in service are provided with opportunities to do additional undergraduate work at Spring Hill College, either for their own improvement or for the improvement or continuation of temporary certificates. Courses for this purpose are always offered during the Summer sessions, and, if need warrants it, in evening classes and on Saturday mornings during the school year.

CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

Successful completion of the following will meet certification requirements of the Alabama State Department of Education.

Class B Elementary Professional Certificate

Education—30 semester hours including:		Others (in semester hours):
Psychology	6	School music	4
Principles and Philosophy	6	School art	4
Methods and materials	4	Health and physical education	4
Practice teaching	4	English	14
Electives in Education	10	Social studies	18
		Science	12

*The approved curricula meet certification requirements in Alabama. Advisers will assist students who wish to arrange programs meeting variant requirements of other states.

Class B Secondary Professional Certificate

Education—24 semester hours including:		Others (in semester hours):
Psychology	6	English	12
Principles and Philosophy	6	Social studies	12
Methods and materials	4	Science	12
Practice teaching	4	Major teaching field	24
Electives in Education	4	Minor teaching field	18

NATIONAL TEACHER EXAMINATION

Students enrolled in the Department of Education must take the National Teacher Examination sometime during their course, and make the results of these examinations a part of their permanent record. The National Teacher Examinations are administered annually at Spring Hill College. The special student rate given by the National Office will be charged to the student. This rate for the Common and Optional Examinations is $4.50.

OBSERVATION AND PRACTICE TEACHING

In order to supplement its instruction in educational principles, aims, methods, curricula and procedure, and to cultivate professional skill in teaching, Spring Hill College has secured the cooperation of the Mobile County Public Schools and of the McGill Institute and the Mercy Academy of Mobile. Through the courtesy of their administration and teachers, these schools thus become the proving ground for the professional students of the Department of Education, who have free access to their classrooms for observation of the methods practiced therein and for supervised practice teaching. Cooperating with the State Department of Education, Spring Hill College requires that its candidates for degree with a major in education present a minimum of 4 semester hours in observation and practice teaching extending over 90 clock hours, of which at least 60 hours must be actual teaching.

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11. History of education (3)

A survey of educational theories, institutions and practices during ancient and modern times with special emphasis on those that influenced recent movements in Europe and America.

12. Principles of education (3)

The aims, organization and practices current in schools today. This course which lays a foundation for an understanding of the more specialized training that follows is required for all prospective teachers.

51-52. Educational psychology I-II (6)

A study of human personality and the facts, principles and techniques which the teacher requires for the specific tasks of guiding and directing the educative process.

53. Adolescent psychology (3)

A factual and interpretative study of adolescent conduct and personality which will help the teacher to apply the laws of learning to all activities connected with the mental and moral development of the growing child.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101. Philosophy of education (3)

A comparative study of past and present-day philosophies of education and their effects on teaching practices.

112. Principles of high school teaching (3)

A comprehensive study of classroom techniques covering the aims and methods of instruction, the presentation of subject matter, stimulation of pupil activity and evaluation of the results in terms of pupil ability and outcomes desired.

121. Statistical methods in education (3)

The purpose of the course is to acquaint teachers and prospective teachers with those statistical techniques which are most important from the viewpoint of education.

122. Tests and measurements (3)

This course aims at developing the ability to construct classroom tests correctly, and to select and evaluate standardized tests of all kinds properly.

123. School-community relationships (3)

The place of the school in regard to other units of society which constitute its environment.

136. Co-operative study of secondary schools (3)

A course designed to acquaint the student with the work accomplished by the Committee set up for the Co-operative Study of Secondary School Standards in order to establish the ground work for an appreciation and critical evaluation of the standards that should govern secondary schools.

151. Teaching elementary school arithmetic (2)

A survey of effective means of helping children to develop number concepts and skills in arithmetical functions.

152-3. Elementary school art I-II (4)

A study of the principles and techniques of teaching art skills in the elementary school.

154. Teaching elementary school English (4)

The materials and methods best suited for developing skills in reading and the related language arts.

155-156. Elementary school music I-II (4)

A study of the music curriculum, activities and materials for the elementary school. This course is designed to develop the general music sensitivity of the prospective teacher. (No previous skill in music is required.)

157. Teaching the social studies (2)

A survey of materials and methods in this field with emphasis on the development of units of study suitable for presentation in the various grades of the elementary school.

158. Improvement of reading (2)

An advanced course in the teaching of reading, methods and materials useful in adapting instruction to varying degrees of reading ability.

159. Diagnostic and remedial reading (2)

A course of the diagnosis of reading difficulties and the means of remedying disabilities.

160. High school teaching methods (2)

A general methods course usually taken as an introduction to one or more of the special methods courses listed below.

161. Materials and methods of teaching English (2)

The organization of a balanced curriculum in English. Integration of High School English with college requirements.

166. Materials and methods of teaching the social studies (2)

The object of this course is to give the student an intimate knowledge of the aims, methods, and contents of the social studies in high school.

171. Materials and methods of teaching science (2)

The course purports to evaluate the place of the natural sciences in the high school curriculum and study in survey the material that makes up the science courses along with the methods best suited to achieve the aims of the science courses.

176. Materials and methods of teaching language (2)

A study of the contents and modern methods of presentation of the various modern languages as well as the classical languages. Special emphasis is laid on the more recent methods of teaching Spanish and French.

181. Materials and methods of teaching mathematics (2)

Current trends and problems in the teaching of mathematics in secondary schools, methods of selecting and organizing teacher materials, effective teaching procedures, diagnostic and remedial techniques.

183. Materials and methods of teaching commercial subjects (2)

A study and evaluation of the contents of various commercial courses as found in different school systems; a survey of the more advanced methods in the presentation of commercial subjects; the place of the commercial subjects in the modern high school.

195-196. Observation and practice teaching I-II

Candidates for degrees in the field of education must present a minimum of 4 hours in observation and practice teaching, with a minimum of 60 full periods of supervised teaching and 30 hours of observation. Credit to be arranged.

197. Seminar on secondary school problems.

Work and credit to be assigned.

199. Seminar on elementary school problems

Credit to be assigned.

ENGINEERING (Eg)

The basic engineering program at Spring Hill College is built on the theory that a significant part of the education of an engineer is an appreciation of the importance of human relationships in society and a development of those human and social qualities which must accompany technical competence, if the prospective engineer is to take his proper place as a member of society in the world of today. The two-year basic engineering program at Spring Hill (see program for Physical Sciences under Programs of Curricula) does not propose to compete with or substitute for the first two years of training in a technical institute or engineering college. However, organized within the framework of a liberal arts college this curriculum provides basic training in science and mathematics, so essential to the modern engineer, and offers in addition an opportunity for the prospective engineer to broaden his intellectual interests and sympathies and to provide a haven for the excessive, though perhaps necessary, specialization in technical subjects that will come later in his training. Moreover a sufficient number of students start their college career with an engineering objective, only to find that their real talent and interests lead to a career as a research scientist or mathematician. The change-over in program is more readily effected by the student who has followed a program of studies such as is offered at Spring Hill College.

11. Engineering drawing (3)

Lettering, geometrical constructions, orthographic projection, dimensions.

12. Descriptive geometry (3)

Location of points, lines and planes; single-curved surfaces; surfaces of revolution; tangent lines and planes; intersection of surfaces; shades and shadows; perspective.

13. The slide rule (0)

A short term course on the theory and operation of the slide rule for the beginning student.

51-52. Advanced engineering drawing (4)

Sections and conventions; dimensioning; working drawings; graphical representation.

ENGLISH (En)

Majors in English must include in their program of studies (1) En 105; (2) En 115 or 168; (3) En 123; (4) En 181, as approved by the department chairman. No registration for upper division courses is permitted until En 51 and En 52 are completed.

LOWER DIVISION COURSES11. English composition I (3)

Placement tests given at the beginning of the Freshman year will determine the level of study of composition. Students who score low will be placed in sections concentrating on grammar and remedial exercises. Average students will be placed in sections concentrating on correct usage and the technique of composition. In remedial and average sections grade and credit for this course is lost by failure to pass the English proficiency test which is given shortly before the end of the course. Superior students will be placed in a special section of the course and will concentrate on the principals of style and analysis of models.

12. English composition II (3)

A continuation of En 11 with emphasis on the forms of discourse, the research paper and comprehensive reading. Prerequisite En 11.

14. An approach to poetry (3)

This course offers an opportunity for intensive study of a limited number of texts considered not in their historical perspective but as illustrative of the art and experience of poetry. Admission by selection; prerequisite: En 11.

21-22. Journalism I-II (2)

A course in journalistic writing with emphasis on methods of news reporting, effective writing, copy reading, editing, and allied problems; reporting on complex news stories; feature and editorial writing; newspaper design and layout.

51-52. Survey of English literature I-II (6)

A study of the masterpieces and authors of English Literature in their cultural and historical setting from Beowulf through the Pre-Romantics; from the Romantics to the present; some modern American authors included.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES105. Aesthetics and literary criticism (3)

The philosophical basis of aesthetics; the elements of taste; a survey of the theories and schools of criticism and the works of the chief literary critics. Registration in this course is restricted to students majoring in English.

108. Advanced creative writing (3)

Creative writing techniques for students who have writing as a major interest; includes practice in characterization, description, and the longer narrative forms; group discussion and individual conference. Limited enrollment.

115. Chaucer (3)

A study of the Chaucerian writings with emphasis on their backgrounds, art and language; concentration on the Canterbury Tales.

121. The English renaissance (3)

History and backgrounds of the renaissance; More and the humanists; the sonnetting movement; Spenser, Marlowe, and contemporaries.

123. Shakespeare (3)

The Elizabethan theatre; reading, analysis, and close study of Shakespeare's most representative plays.

131. The seventeenth century (3)

A study of late Renaissance prose and poetry with emphasis on Jonson and the Cavalier poets, Donne and the Metaphysicals, and the baroque prose writers.

135. Milton (3)

A critical analysis of Paradise Lost and of the other important English poems; Milton's thought and art.

141. The neo-classical period (3)

Literature from the Restoration to the decline of neo-classicism with emphasis on Dryden, Pope, Swift, and Johnson.

151. Romantic poets (3)

The philosophy of Romanticism: primitivism, sentimentalism, gothicism; analysis of the leading works of Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley, Keats.

161. The Victorian age (3)

The most important movements and figures of the Victorian period; the Victorian compromise; concentration on Carlyle, Ruskin, Arnold, Tennyson, Browning.

168. Newman and the Catholic literary revival (3)

The Oxford Movement; Newman's thought and prose style. Hopkins' poetry; Thompson, Chesterton, and Belloc.

171. Modern literature (6)

A careful examination of the best writers in England and America who have risen to prominence since World War I.

181. American literature (3)

A survey of the most important authors and trends in American literature, especially during the nineteenth century.

181. Literature of the South (3)

A critical study of the leading Southern authors from Jefferson to Faulkner; Southern folklore as an aid to understanding the racial and cultural heritage of American life.

191. History of the drama (3)

The theory of the drama illustrated through historical examples, chiefly from English playwrights; outstanding examples of each school thoroughly analyzed.

195. The novel (3)

The technique of the novel and the various schools of fiction; careful reading of selected novels with special attention to literary and ethical criticism.

EXPRESSION (Ex)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES1-2-3-4. Play production I-II-III-IV (4)

Participation in the preparation of plays for production. Required for concentration in dramatic art. Not offered for elective credit.

5-6-7-8. Argumentation and debate I-II-III-IV (4)

Participation in debating. Provides direction and expression in platform practice, forms of argument, analysis of evidence and speech organization for intercollegiate debating.

11-12. Principles of business speech I-II (4)

Practice and study in group discussion and business conference; the short business report; parliamentary procedure. Successful completion of the first part is a prerequisite for admission to the second part; and credit for the course is granted only upon satisfactory completion of both parts of the course.

13-14. Principles of public speaking I-II (4)

Studies the basic principles of speech; platform manner; voice control; organization of the speech; delivery; etc. Successful completion of the first part is a prerequisite for admission to the second part; and credit for the course is granted only upon satisfactory completion of both parts of the course.

15-16. Introduction to the theatre I-II (4)

History of the theatre; types of drama; elements of the play; elements of production; introduction to acting techniques; theatre terminology; discussion and explanation of areas of study in theatre.

21-22. Intermediate public speaking I-II (2)

A critical study of speech structure, style and delivery in formal platform address; extemporaneous speaking.

31-32. Types of speech communication I-II (2)

The principles and methods of discussion with application through panel and forum; preparation for debating; parliamentary procedure; the formal platform address; after-dinner speaking.

11-51. Dramatic Interpretation I-II (4)

A study of the principles underlying intellectual, imaginative, and emotional responsiveness to dramatic literature; vocal techniques; oral reading; tone quality; melody, timing and emphasis; detailed analysis and application of the various theories of acting.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

522. Contemporary theatre (3)

Study and analysis of the plays of the outstanding modern playwrights from Ibsen to the present.

123. Shakespearian theatre (3)

Same as En 123.

124. Elizabethan drama (3)

Studies the chief Elizabethan dramatists other than Shakespeare.

131. Advanced acting (3)

Development of characterization through study of a wide variety of roles; development of reaction, timing and ensemble playing through practice in varied scenes.

132. Advanced play direction and production (3)

Organization for production; promotion procedure; design and construction of sets; function of the director; studies in composition.

151. Greek tragedy (3)

Studies the plays of Aeschylus, Sophocles and Euripides.

176. Oral interpretation of literature (3)

Studies the techniques of oral presentation of prose, poetry, drama; gives practice in the delivery of selected types and exercise for the development of tone, melody, timing and emphasis.

191. History of drama (3)

Same as En 191.

FRENCH (Fr)

Students who qualify by testing may be admitted to courses above the elementary level at the discretion of the department chairman.

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11-12. Elementary French I-II (6)

A course for beginners; an intensive training in French grammar, suitable reading exercises and elementary composition.

51-52. Intermediate French I-II (6)

Review of French grammar, reading of prose of moderate difficulty, written and oral composition. Prerequisite: Fr 11-12 or qualification by examination.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101-102. Conversational French I-II (6)

Practice in both oral and written French, in order to enable the student to acquire ease and fluency in the expression of idiomatic French. Prerequisites: Fr 11-12; 51-52.

103. Scientific French (3)

A course designed for science students, to acquaint them with French scientific terminology and to enable them to read French scientific works. Prerequisites: Fr 11-12; 51-52.

111-112. History of French literature I-II (6)

A general survey of French literature from the 10th century up to and including the rise of contemporary literature. Prerequisites: Fr 11-12; 51-52.

121-122. French literature of the seventeenth century I-II (6)

The origins and foundations of French Classicism; its philosophical and artistic implications; its main representatives: Descartes, Pascal, Boussuet, Corneille, Racine, Moliere, La Fontaine, and the minor classicists. Analysis of texts and literary theories. Prerequisites: Fr 11-12; 51-52; 111-112.

131-132. French literature of the eighteenth century I-II (6)

The attitude of inquiry, reasoning and discovery and its effects upon literature, its main representatives: Montesquieu, Voltaire, Buffon, Rousseau, Diderot, Chenier, and minor figures. Analysis of texts and literary theories. Prerequisites: Fr 11-12; 51-52; 111-112.

141-142. French literature of the nineteenth century I-II (6)

The Romantic movement and its origins; its effect upon literature; its main representatives: Lamartine, Hugo, deVigny, De Musset, Michelet, Sainte-Beuve, Balzac, and minor figures. Realism, Naturalism, Parnasse and Symbolism; its main representatives: Flaubert, Zola, Gautier, Baudelaire, Verlaine, Mallarme, and minor figures. Analysis of texts and literary theories. Prerequisites: Fr 11-12; 51-52; 111-112.

GERMAN (Gr)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11-12. Elementary German I-II (6)

A course for beginners; an intensive training in grammar, suitable reading exercises and elementary composition.

51-52. Intermediate German I-II (6)

Review of grammar and syntax; practical exercises in written composition; extensive reading in moderately difficult selections. Prerequisites: Gr 11-12 or qualification by examination.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101. Scientific German (3)

A course designed for science students, to acquaint them with German scientific terminology and to enable them to read German scientific works. Prerequisites: Gr 11-12; 51-52.

111-112. History of German literature I-II (6)

121-122. Goethe I-II (6)

A detailed study of Goethe's tragedy Faust. Prerequisites: Gr 11-12; 51-52; 111-112.

131-132. Schiller I-II (6)

A detailed study of Schiller's Wilhelm Tell. Prerequisites: Gr 11-12; 51-52; 111-112.

GREEK (Gk)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11-12. Elementary Greek I-II (6)

This course for Freshmen beginning the study of Greek in college introduces them to Attic Greek; it stresses grammar and vocabulary drill, and includes suitable reading exercises and simple prose composition.

51-52. Intermediate Greek I-II (6)

This course offers a rapid review of the Greek etymology and an intensive study of Greek syntax as well as a study of Xenophon's Anabasis and St. John Chrysostom's speech for Eutropius. Prerequisite Gk 11-12 or qualification by examination.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101-102. Attic orators I-II (6)

This course is devoted to the detailed study of the Olynthiacs and Philippics of Demosthenes with attention to grammar and literary analysis as well as the study of the Crown Oration of Demosthenes; rhetorical analysis. Prerequisite: Gk 11-12 and Gk 51-52.

131-132. Greek drama -III (6)

This is a course in the rapid reading and analysis of several Greek plays such as: Euripides' Alcestis, Hecuba or Medea; Aeschylus' Agamemnon or Prometheus Bound; Sophocles' Oedipus Tyrannus or Philoctetes. Prerequisites: Gk 11-12; 51-52; 101-102.

141-142. Homer I-II (6)

This course introduces the student of the Homeric dialect through the study of Homer's Iliad, stressing the literary qualities of this Epic poem. Prerequisite Gk 11-12; 51-52; 101-102.

181-182. Greek Fathers I-II (6)

HISTORY (Hs)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11-12. Western civilization I-II (6)

A brief survey of the development of European civilization.

51-52. American history I-II (6)

A survey of United States history from colonial times to the present.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

100. Methodology and geopolitics (2)

A study of the meaning of history and historical method; an introduction to the general principles of geopolitics and a study of the relation of geography to history; this course is required of all history majors.

101-102. Ancient history I-II (4)

A study of the political, economic, social, and cultural history of the ancient Near East, Greece, and Rome.

111-112. Medieval history I-II (4)

A study of medieval civilization from the decline of the Roman Empire to the Renaissance.

113. Renaissance and reformation (3)

A study of the intellectual and religious developments of the fourteenth and fifteenth centuries as a prelude to the study of modern history.

121-122. Absolutism and the Revolutionary era I-II (6)

A study of the rise of absolute monarchy of the eighteenth century and of the French and Liberal Revolutions.

123. The nineteenth century (3)

A study of the century of capitalism, liberalism, nationalism, and secularism growing out of the Napoleonic Era.

124. The twentieth century (3)

A study of the two world wars and contemporary European history.

131-132. English history I-II (6)

A survey of English history from pre-historic times to the present.

141. American colonial history (3)

A study of the foundation of the English colonies in America and the development of the same through the American Revolution.

142. The United States from 1789-1850 (3)

A study of Federalism and Nationalism in the first half of the nineteenth century.

143. The United States from 1850-1900 (3)

A study of secession, reconstruction, and industrialism.

144. The United States since 1900 (3)

A study of the rise of the United States to the position of world power in the twentieth century with emphasis on international rather than on domestic problems.

161-162. Latin American history I-II (6)

A survey of Latin-American history from colonial times to the present.

171. Russia (3)

A study of Russian civilization and its relationship with Western Europe and the rest of the world.

172. The Far East (3)

A study of civilization in the Far East especially in Japan and China with emphasis on present day problems arising from contact of the Far East with the West.

LATIN (Lt)

Students who qualify by testing may be admitted to courses above the elementary level at the discretion of the department chairman.

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

This course for freshmen beginning the study of Latin in college treats of the basic elements of Latin grammar with a view to early reading of connected prose.

11-12. Elementary Latin I-II (6)

This course offers a rapid review of the Latin etymology and in intensive study of the Caesar's Gallic war. Prerequisite: Lt 11-12 or qualification by examination.

51-52. Intermediate Latin I-II (6)

This course offers a rapid review of the Latin etymology and an intensive study of the Latin syntax; it introduces the student to the writings of Caesar through a study of Caesar's Gallic war. Prerequisite: Lt 11-12 or qualification by examination.

53-54. Cicero I-II (6)

This course is devoted to the study of several of Cicero's speeches such as the Catilinarian Orations, Pro Archia, Pro Marcello with special attention to his style. Prerequisites: Lt 11-12; 51-52 or qualification by examination.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101-102. Roman historians I-II (6)

This course devoted to the study of carefully graded selections from such authors as Sallust, Tacitus, and Livy, with attention to grammar and literary analysis. Prerequisites: Lt 11-12; 51-52 or 53-54.

103-104. Cicero I-II (6)

This course covers a thorough rhetorical analysis of two of the great speeches of Cicero: Pro Lege Manili and Pro Milone; the arguments offered in these speeches by Cicero will be examined critically. Prerequisites: Lt 11-12; 51-52 or 53-54.

105-106. Roman epic I-II (6)

This course will be a study of Virgil's Aeneid with special stress on the peculiarities of his syntax and a study of his figures of speech; the student will also be introduced in this course to a study of Latin prosody. Prerequisites: Lt 11-12; 51-52 or 53-54.

111-112. Lyric poetry I-II (6)

This course will be devoted to a study of Horace's Odes, Epodes and Carmen Saeculare; Horace's lyric meter will be studied and the student will be introduced to the study of Roman mythology. Prerequisites: Lt 11-12; 51-52 or 53-54; 101-102.

121-122. Horace satires and epistles I-II (6)

This course will be devoted to a study of selected satires and epistles of Horace as well as the study of his Ars Poetica; to this will be added a study of Roman customs. Prerequisite: Lt 111-112.

131-132. Roman philosophy I-II (6)

In this course Roman philosophic thought will be studied and analyzed through the study of some of the philosophical works of Cicero such as his De Senectute and De Amicitia.

141-142. Patristic Latin I-II (6)

In this course numerous selections from the writings of the Latin Fathers of the early Christian ages will be read. Prerequisites: Lt 11-12; 51-52 or 53-54; 101-102.

MATHEMATICS (Mt)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

2. Philosophical problems in mathematics (2)

Presentation of mathematical problems which have philosophical significance.

11. Fundamental algebra (3)

This course is remedial and to be elected by students with deficient training in algebra.

12. Trigonometry (3)

Elements of plane trigonometry with emphasis on analytic aspects.

13. College algebra (3)

A course in algebra which presumes reasonable competence in mathematics. Admission is open only to qualified students.

51. Analytic geometry (3)

A study of the usual topics of plane analytic geometry.

52. Elements of calculus (3)

An introduction to the computational aspects of calculus; includes differentiation and integration of elementary functions and related problems of maxima and minima, areas, use of tables of integration.

61-62. Fundamental concepts in mathematics I-II (4)

An introduction to the structure of mathematics through a study of the fundamental concepts of number systems and their relation to geometry. Successful completion of the first part is a prerequisite for admission to the second part; and credit for the course is granted only upon satisfactory completion of both parts of the course.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101-102. Intermediate calculus I-II (6)

A somewhat more rigorous course in the topics of calculus which includes applications to solid geometry, partial differentiation, multiple integration, and series.

111. Differential equations (6)

An elementary treatment of ordinary differential equations; linear differential equations; simultaneous systems; applications.

121 122. Linear algebra and matrices I-II (6)

An introduction to vector spaces, matrices and linear algebra.

131. Solid analytic geometry (3)

An exposition of the basic topics of solid analytic geometry coordinated with the theory of vectors and matrices.

141. Vector analysis (3)

An introduction to the algebra and calculus of vectors with some applications.

161-162. Advanced calculus I-II (6)

The emphasis in this course is on sound understanding of concepts and on the basic principles of analysis; together with the theoretical development is given an ample exposition of methods and techniques needed by students of advanced applied mathematics.

191-192. Mathematics seminar (2)

MEDICAL TECHNOLOGY

In order to meet the increasing need for well trained laboratory personnel, Spring Hill College is offering, under the supervision of the Biology Department, a medical technology program leading to a degree of Bachelor of Science with Biology as a major. Courses in this program are described under the heading of Biology earlier in this Bulletin.

After completing three years of pre-clinical training on the campus (at the end of the Junior year), the student is cleared with the Registry of Medical Technology at Munice, Indiana, and begins a twelve-month internship at an approved school. These schools must be approved by the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and the American Medical Association, and affiliated for the purpose with Spring Hill College. At the end of this period, the candidate receives the degree of Bachelor of Science and is qualified for examination and certification by the Registry of Medical Technologists of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists.

MILITARY SCIENCE AND TACTICS (Ms)

Spring Hill College has a General Military Unit of the U. S. Army Reserve Officers Training Corps to provide instruction in Military Science and Tactics. The general object of the ROTC is to qualify students for positions of leadership in time of national emergency.

The immediate objective of the four year course of instruction in military science and tactics is to produce junior officers with required qualities of leadership. Upon successful completion of this course and having also fulfilled requirements for an academic degree the student is commissioned a Second Lieutenant, Officers Reserve Corps, United States Army. All regularly enrolled undergraduate students, who are physically qualified and citizens of the United States between the ages of 14 and 23 are eligible for enrollment. The course is optional and is divided into a two-year basic course and a two-year advanced course. Further details of the program will be furnished upon inquiry.

Beginning with the fall semester 1956 the change-over from Transportation (ROTC branch heretofore at Spring Hill) to General Military will be introduced and finally completed with the beginning of the fall semester 1957.

1-2. Basic course I (2)

Fundamentals of military discipline, drill and exercise of command; organization of the Army and ROTC; individual weapons and marksmanship; American military history. Two class periods and one drill period per week for two semesters.

3-4. Basic course II (2)

School of the soldier and exercise of command; map and aerial photograph reading; crew served weapons and gunnery; American military history. Two class periods and one drill period per week.

5-6. Advanced course I (6)

Leadership, drill and exercise of command; military teaching methods; Army organization; small unit tactics and communications. Four class periods and one drill period per week during two semesters and attendance at summer camp for six weeks following Junior Year.

7-8. Advanced course II (6)

Leadership, drill and exercise of command; military administration; military law; operations; logistics; service orientation; and 29 hours of Transportation Corps branch subjects. Four class periods and one drill period per week for two semesters.

MUSIC (Mu)

Music is administered by the Department of English and Fine Arts. The objectives of the music program are 1) to provide instruction necessary for understanding and appreciating music as a fine art and an important part of liberal culture; 2) to offer opportunities for study of voice, piano, organ, and wind instruments for academic credit in courses leading to a minor; 3) to encourage participation in music organizations on the campus, in the Mobile Opera Guild, and in the Mobile Symphony.

For a minor twelve hours of courses numbered over 100 are required. Six hours of theory are prerequisite to any course numbered over 100. Students who minor in music with concentration in piano or voice are to take piano or vocal repertoire simultaneously with their private lessons. A maximum of four hours will be accepted for credit in any one ensemble.

Students beginning the study of voice or of any instrument may not register for credit until in the opinion of the instructor sufficient progress has been made to merit academic credit.

THEORY

11-12. History of music I-II (4)

A general appreciative survey of the development of western music from its historical beginnings to the Baroque period, through the development of Italian opera to the present.

13. Appreciation of music (3)

A general course to acquaint students with masterpieces of musical literature; analysis and demonstration; outside reading, listening, and written criticisms required. Offered only in summer session.

15. Elements of theory (2)

Notation, scales, meter, rhythm, intervals, triads, elements of form.

16. Elementary harmony (2)

Inversion of triads; harmonization of melodies with triads and dominant sevenths.

51-52. Basic musicianship I-II (4)

Progressive rhythmic and melodic dictation and ear training; sight singing and dictation of three and four part melodies.

101. Harmony (2)

Seventh and ninth chords, chromatic chords, figurations, modulations.

102. Musical form (2)

The study and analysis of representative compositions in the principal musical forms.

121. Gregorian chant (2)

122. Sacred music (2)

Traditions and ideals of sacred music as presented in the Motu Proprio of St. Pius X; evaluation of Gregorian, polyphonic, and modern music by recordings.

APPLIED MUSIC

All who study voice or an instrument have a one hour private lesson a week. Students minoring in music are required to practice the material assigned at least nine hours a week and to take part in recitals.

Piano

Students accepted for credit in piano must be able to play major and minor scales at moderate tempo, one solo of moderate difficulty from memory, and read reasonably well.

31-32. Piano I-II (4)

Exercises and compositions according to needs of individual students.

131-132. Advanced piano I-II (4)

Concentrated study of more difficult compositions at discretion of instructor.

131-134. Piano repertoire I-II (4)

Compositions played in class by students and instructor; suggestions concerning the best interpretation of the work and the mastering of difficulties.

Voice

Elementary knowledge of principles of vocalization is required. Students must be able to read music.

41-42. Voice I-II (2)

Exercises and compositions according to needs of individual student; scales, breathing, diction, resonance; bel canto method.

141-142. Advanced voice I-II (4)

Songs in English, Italian, German, and French; advanced technique.

147-148. Voice repertoire I-II (4)

Masterpieces of song studied in class with special attention to standard interpretations.

Organ

Organ students should have a good start on the piano and be able to read treble and bass clefs.

35-36. Organ I-II (4)

Pedal technique; mechanics of the instrument; Douglas studies; the easier Bach compositions.

135-136. Advanced organ I-II (4)

Pedal technique; registration; trio studies; choral prelude and advanced Bach compositions.

Wind Instrument

43-44. Wind Instrument I-II (4)

Exercises and compositions according to needs of individual student.

143-144. Advanced wind instrument I-II (4)

Advanced technique; solo works, classic and modern.

Ensemble

All students taking applied music are required to join an ensemble group, For piano students repertoire class may take the place of ensemble. Meetings twice a week. Total ensemble credit limited to six hours, and a maximum of four hours accepted in any one ensemble.

37-38. Choir I-II (2)

Sacred vocal music for use in chapel. Open only to male students.

137-138. Choir I-II (2)

Continuation of Mu 37-38. Chants and High Masses.

45-46. Band I-II (2)

Instruction in band music with practice in the College Band. Primarily for R.O.T.C. members, but open to all qualified students.

145-146. Band I-II (2)

Continuation of Mu 45-46. Qualified members may play in brass choir and dance orchestra.

53-54. Glee club I-II (2)

Instruction in choral music with a view to public performance.

153-154. Glee club I-II (2)

A continuation of Mu 53-54. Second year training.

PHILOSOPHY (Ph)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11. Introduction to philosophy (1)

The nature of philosophy and its relationship with other fields; motives for studying philosophy; suggestions on how to study philosophy.

12. Dialectics (2)

The nature and aim of logic; idea and term; judgment and proposition; a detailed study of reasoning and the syllogism, with exercises both in criticising and in constructing the various types; fallacies; methodology.

51. Logic and critics (3)

A rapid survey of dialectics with, however, a detailed study of reasoning, and exercises both in criticising and constructing the various types; truth and certitude; the sources of cognition; Integral Realism vs. Relativism, Idealism, etc.

52. General metaphysics (3)

A study of the most general aspects of reality; in particular, the study of being as such and of the causes and principal categories of beings.

53. Epistemology (4)

A specialized study of truth and certitude; Scepticism, Idealism, Relativism; the problem of universals; induction and first principles; deduction and the syllogism; basic scientific procedure; the criterion of truth; error.

54. Ontology (4)

A more detailed study of the matter described above under General Metaphysics. Diverging opinions on the various questions are considered to the extent possible.

55-56. Cosmology I-II (6)

A study of the nature of mobile being; including a discussion of quantity, place and space; qualitative change; motion and time; and the essential constitution of natural bodies.

61. Psychology (3)

A study of the ultimate nature of living things; vegetative life, sensation, intellectual knowledge; the sense and intellectual appetites; freewill; the unity of man; origin and immortality of the human soul.

62. Theodicy (3)

Proofs for the existence of God; the validity of our knowledge about the divine nature; God's negative and positive attributes; creation; providence and the problem of evil.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES101. Sense psychology (3)

A specialized study of sense preception, imagination, memory; the senuous appetite, movement, and feeling.

102. Rational psychology (3)

A specialized study of phenomena of rational life, intellectual concepts, rational appetency, freewill and determination; origin, nature and destiny of the human soul.

103-104. Experimental psychology I-II (6)

The methods and typical results of the experimental psychology of sensation, perception, emotion, memory, imagination, habit, thought, volition, the relation of consciousness to its object.

105. Psychology for nurses (3)

A course designed especially for the nursing students of the local hospitals.

151-152. Natural theology I-II (6)

A specialized study of the proofs for God's essence and attributes.

161. History of ancient philosophy (3)

A rapid survey of ancient philosophy from Thales to Plotinus, with a more detailed study of the two leading figures of ancient philosophy, namely, Plato and Aristotle.

162. History of medieval philosophy (3)

A survey of medieval philosophy from St. Augustin to the Renaissance, with particular emphasis on the synthesis effected by the great Scholastic philosophers, and notably by St. Thomas Aquinas, consideration being given to the influence especially of the philosophy of Aristotle and the neo-Platonists, as well as that of Arabic and Judaic philosophers.

163. History of modern philosophy (3)

A critical study of the leading philosophers and main currents of Western philosophy from Descartes to contemporary thinkers.

180. Ethics for nurses (3)

General principles of ethics; duties to self and to fellow man; family obligations; professional obligations; obligations to civil authority; religion and morality.

181. General ethics (3)

The ultimate end of man; the existence of objective morality; constituents of the moral order; eternal and natural law; nature of obligation.

182. Special ethics (3)

Particular rights and duties; duty of natural religion, of self-preservation, of veracity; the right of self-defense; of property; the social relations of man; conjugal society; civil society; state and education; international law.

191. Philosophy of the non-living world (3)

A course in the problems of cosmology; the nature of quantity, space, qualitative change, motion, time; the hylomorphic constitution of corporeal substance.

192. Kant's critical philosophy (3)

An analysis of the philosophical doctrine of Immanuel Kant, particularly of his Critique of Pure Reason, its origin, its influence, its errors.

193. Philosophy of beauty (3)

This course aims to give the student basic norms for judging the beautiful in art and nature; special attention is paid to the philosophical foundation of literary criticism.

194. Philosophy and life (3)

An integration course designed to round off the student's work in philosophy; particular care is taken to show the repercussions of theory on action.

195. Philosophy of science (3)

This course gives a critical treatment of the origin, structure and function of the judgments and propositions that are the basis of the various branches of science.

197. Texts of St. Thomas (2)

A course in the background and interpretation of selected texts of St. Thomas Aquinas.

198. Texts of Aristotle (2)

A course in the background and interpretation of selected texts of Aristotle.

199. Seminar for advanced students

PHYSICAL EDUCATION (Pe)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

1-2. Physical activities I-II (0)

Freshmen (non-veterans) must participate in organized gymnasium activities; competition on varsity level will suffice.

51-52. Anatomy and physiology I-II (4)

An intensive demonstration lecture course designed to give the student of Physical Education practical knowledge of these sciences.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

103. Introduction to physical education (3)

Brief discussion of proper programs for high schools, and of the administration of inter-scholastic and intramural athletics and a physical education program.

105. Principles, organization and administration of secondary school physical education program (3)

A discussion of proper programs for high schools, and of the administration of inter-scholastic and intramural athletics and a physical education program.

106. Principles and practice of coaching (3)

Instruction in coaching of football, basketball and baseball with practical experience in coaching grammar school teams.

107-108. Theory and practice of physical education I-II (6)

This course includes the theory and practice of basketball and baseball.

111-112. Health and safety education I-II (4)

Individual health and safety; fundamental techniques.

PHYSICS (Ph)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

1. Introductory physics (3)

Survey of the field of physics including class demonstrations to give the student a general background in this science. Offered in summer sessions only.

2. Philosophical problems in physics (2)

Presentation of physical problems that have philosophical significance. Offered annually.

11-12. General physics I-II (6)

First semester, survey of mechanics and heat. Second semester, survey of optics, electricity and sound.

13-14. Physical measurements I-II (2)

Introductory laboratory course to accompany Ph 11-12.

51-52. Mechanics I-II (4)

Introduction to analytical mechanics for students of science and engineering. Prerequisite: Ph 11.

53. Electronics (3)

Theory and application of electronic tubes and semi-conducting devices. Prerequisite: Ph 12. Must be followed by Ph 54.

54. Laboratory in electronics (1)

To follow Ph 53. Three clock hours per week.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES111-112. Electricity and magnetism I-II (6)

First semester, theory of direct and alternating currents and their associated circuits. Second semester, theory of electric and magnetic fields. Maxwell's equations. Prerequisites: Ph 12, Mt 52.

113-114. Electrical measurements I-II (2)

Measurement of currents, electromotive forces and impedance elements in both direct and alternating current circuits. Accompanies Ph 111-112. Three clock hours per week.

121. Optics (3)

Topics in geometrical and physical optics on the intermediate level. Prerequisites: Ph 12, Mt 52.

123. Heat and thermodynamics (3)

Intermediate study of heat quantities, with special emphasis on classical thermodynamics. Prerequisites: Ph 12, six hours of calculus.

124. Sound (3)

Intermediate study of wave motion and sound. Prerequisite: Ph 12, registration in Mt 101.

125. Atomic physics (3)

Kinetic theory of gases, properties of electrons, atomic structure and spectra, elements of quantum mechanics. Prerequisites: Ph 12, six hours of calculus.

126. Nuclear physics (3)

X-rays, radioactivity, neutron physics, nuclear reactions, cosmic rays. Prerequisite: Ph 125.

127. Laboratory in atomic physics (1)

To accompany or follow Ph 125. Three clock hours per week.

131-132. Laboratory physics I-II

Supervised laboratory work on the intermediate level. Credit to be arranged.

142. Analytical mechanics (3)

Statics, kinematics and dynamics aimed at giving the student an intuitive feeling for precise mathematical formulation of physical problems and for physical interpretation of mathematical solutions. Prerequisites: Ph 11, Mt 102.

191-192. Physics seminar

For students who wish to graduate with honors in physics. One meeting per week to discuss special topics which are not covered in the regular courses. Credit to be arranged.

POLITICAL SCIENCE (Po)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

11-12. Social orientations I-II (6)

An introduction to the social sciences, including a broad survey of the main fields and methods of anthropology, sociology, political science, and economics; the main problems explored in each of these fields; the current state of scientific knowledge ascertained by social science research; future prospects and applications of social science. Identical with So 11-12. Successful completion of the first part is a prerequisite for admission to the second part; and credit for the course is granted only upon satisfactory completion of both parts of the course.

51-52. United States government I-II (6)

A study of the various branches of the national government and of state and municipal governments. Successful completion of the first part is a prerequisite for admission to the second part; and credit for the course is granted only upon satisfactory completion of both parts of the course.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES

101. Principles of government (3)

A study of the Christian principles of government.

102. Modern foreign government (3)

A comparative analysis of present day foreign governments.

121. Political parties and pressure groups (3)

A study of the origin, organization, and influence of political parties in the United States and of the influence of public opinion on legislation.

122. Public administration (3)

A study of administrative organization and service.

133-134. English constitutional history I-II (6)

The Anglo-Saxon constitution, feudalism, Magna Carta, Common Law, parliamentary and cabinet systems, the rise of democracy, and English political theorists.

143-144. American constitutional history I-II (6)

The origin, content, and development of the United States Constitution and the major constitutional problems.

145. American diplomatic history (3)

A survey of United States foreign policy since 1778.

146. American foreign policy (3)

A study of fundamental principles and contemporary problems of American foreign policy.

161-162. International relations I-II (6)

A study of international law and organizations and of the international politics of modern governments.

163-164. Basic intelligence methodology and International communication I-II (6)

The use of intelligence methods in the organization of the study of international relations and domestic political affairs; the anatomy of international communication, its impact on foreign and domestic policy; aids and obstacles to free exchange of information; the relation of communication to intelligence.

181-182. History of political thought I-II (6)

A development of the world's foremost political philosophers from Plato to the present.

RELIGION (RI)

LOWER DIVISION COURSES

1-10. Theology for the laity I-X (0)

A series of one semester courses covering the field of Catholic theology, church history, liturgy and Sacred Scripture. Usually not offered for credit.

11-12. Christian apologetics I-II (4)

Revelation and the Church of Christ; the study of Christianity as a revealed religion; Divine institution of the Church; marks of the Church; its end and constitution. Required of all Catholic Freshmen.

13-14. Comparative religion I-II (4)

Definition and division of religions; a general history of the world's great religions with stress on the common factors and characteristic differences. Given odd years. Required of non-Catholic Freshmen and Sophomores.

17. Non-Christian religions (3)

A comparative study. Required of non-Catholics in evening division.

18. Judaism and Christianity (3)

The cult of the one true God. Required of non-Catholics in evening division.

21. Revelation (3)

The notion of revelation; primitive, patriarchal, Christian; Jesus Christ as divine legate. Required of Catholics in evening division.

22. The true Church (3)

Divine institution; marks of the Church. Required of Catholics in evening division.

51-52. Moral guidance I-II (4)

The Catholic theory of morality; detailed study of the ten commandments of God, and the precepts of the Church. Required of all Catholic sophomores.

53-54. Biblical criticism I-II (4)

Canon of the Bible, inspiration, versions; survey of the Old and New Testament books. Given even years. Required of non-Catholic Freshmen and Sophomores.

UPPER DIVISION COURSES101. The Old Testament (3)

Inspiration and interpretation; canon; historical, didactic and prophetic books. Required of non-Catholics in evening division.

102. The New Testament (3)

Canon; synoptic problem; gospel harmony; Paul's journeys. Required of non-Catholics in the evening division.

111. Christian doctrine I (3)

God, one and three; creation and elevation; original sin; Incarnation; Redemption; Mariology. Required of Catholics in the evening division.

112. Christian doctrine II (3)

Grace, the sacramental system; the four last things. Required of Catholics in the evening division.

131-132. Catholic dogma I-II (4)
